The arbitrators found that pltf. had good cause of action in respect of the matters charged in five of the counts, & awarded £5 damages, & directed that no further proceedings should be had in the cause, but made no specific award as to the three remaining counts:—Held: the award was not final, there being no determination as to the three last-mentioned counts, & consequently, no legal event as to them to authorise the taxation of costs thereon.—*NORRIS v. 1482. Finding sufficient to entitle plaintiff to hold costs on all issues.]—Pltf. declared upon a special contract made by S., as agent for deft., for the sale of a large quantity of sleepers, assigning for breaches, (1) certain sleepers were delivered to & received by deft., but not paid for; (2) a certain other quantity was shipped & conveyed to London for deft., but he refused acceptance; (3) deft. declined to accept the residue. There was also a count for goods sold & delivered. Deft. pleaded, (1) as to all but £39 7s. 11d. in the last count, non assumpsit, paying that sum into ct., which pltf. accepted in satisfaction of his demand upon that count; (2) to the special count, that S. was not his agent; (3) to the same count, that pltf. did not deliver, nor did he accept, the sleepers that were the subject of the first breach; (4) that pltf. did not offer to deliver the residue. The cause was referred, the costs to abide the event of the award. The arbitrator found (1) at the time of the commencement of the action, deft. was liable to pay pltf. £75, which sum he directed him to pay, minus the sum paid into ct.; (2) the sleepers shipped were the property of pltf. & at his disposal:—Held: this was a sufficient finding upon both counts to entitle pltf. to the costs of all the issues.—*RENNIE v. 1483. Plaintiff had good cause of action—All pleas if true complete answer to count.]—To one count in a declaration there were five pleas, each of which, if true, was a complete answer to the count, & the cause was referred to arbn., the costs of the action & of the award to abide the event of the award. The arbitrator having found that pltf. had a good cause of action on that count:—Qu.: whether such a finding did not, in fact, amount to a distinct finding upon each of the issues.—*WILLIAMSON v. 1484. Plea of non assumpsit on each of several counts.]—To a declaration consisting of three indebitatus counts, there were pleas of non assumpsit, tender, set-off & payment, upon which issues were joined. The cause having been referred at Nisi Prius, the costs of the cause to abide the event of the award, the arbitrator found on the first, third, & last issues for pltf., & on the second issue for deft.:—Held: this was a sufficient finding, & it was not necessary that there should be distinct findings on the issues raised by the plea of non assumpsit upon each separate count of the declaration.—*ADAM v. 1485. Action referred before plea.]—A. commenced a special action on the case against B., & delivered his declaration, which consisted of two counts. Before plea pleaded all matters in difference between the parties to the cause were referred, by a judge's order, to the award of an arbitrator, the costs of the cause to abide the event of the award, & the costs of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. The award, which did not purport to have been made "of & concerning the premises," merely directed that B. should pay to A. the sum of £167 6s. 2d., without saying upon what account:—Held: the award was bad, for uncertainty, as it did not show in respect of what matters in difference the money was to be paid, & did not contain any finding upon which the master could tax the costs.—CROSBIE (CROSBY) v. HOLMES (1846), 3 Dow. & L. 566; 1 Saund. & C. 20; 15 L. J. Q. B. 125; 6 L. T. O. S. 352; 16 Jur. 139.

1486. "That final judgment be signed for defendants in this cause"—Uncertain that issues had been joined.]—A judge's order, made by consent of the parties, in a cause in which it was not clear that issues had been joined, authorised "final judgment, or judgment as in case of nonsuit, to be signed by pltf. or defts. as the case may be, or in such manner, upon such terms, as may be decided by the award or certificate of the arbitrator." The ct. refused to set aside a certificate of the arbitrator "that final judgment should be signed for defts. in this cause," as being uncertain & not specifically disposing of the issues.—Re SMITH & REECE. Re REECE & SMITH (1849), 6 Dow. & L. 520; 14 Jur. 483.

1487. Plaintiff had good cause of action as stated in declaration.]—An action of assumpsit was referred, the costs to abide the event of the award. The declaration contained two counts. There were several pleas to the first count, one of which set up that a new agreement was substituted for the agreement in the declaration. There were also pleas to the second count. The award was that "ptf. had a good cause of action against deft., as stated in the declaration," & then assessed damages to ptf.:—Held: the award sufficiently decided all the issues in favour of ptf.—PHILLIPS v. HIGGINS (1851), 2 L. M. & P. 355; 20 L. J. Q. B. 357.

Annotation:—Apld. Humphreys v. Pearce (1852), 7 Exch. 696.

1488. One award for two actions referred.]—An action brought by A. against B., & a cross-action by B. against A., were referred by separate orders of reference, under C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3. The action by B. against A. contained counts for not using a farm in a tenant-like manner, & for goods sold; & deft. pleaded, to the first count, a denial of the tenancy upon the terms alleged & performance of the agreement, & to the last count, never indebted, payment & set-off. The arbitrator made his award on one piece of paper, awarding for ptf. in the first action, & that, in the second action, there was nothing due or payable from deft. to ptf.; & he ordered that the costs of the award should be paid by B. The ct. remitted the award to the arbitrator, that he might make two awards & find the issues specifically.—HELLABY v. BROWN, 1489. Defendant not indebted to plaintiff—General verdict for defendant—Directions as to costs of reference.]—A cause in which deft. had pleaded never indebted, Stat. Limitations, payment, set-off & accord & satisfaction, was referred to a county ct. judge, under C. L. P. Act, 1854, the costs of the cause to abide the event of the cause, & the costs of the reference to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. The county ct. judge having certified "that deft. was not at the time of the commencement of the action indebted to ptf.," & having found a general verdict for deft., & directed that ptf. should pay the costs of the reference, the ct. sent the certificate back to be amended by stating the manner in which the several issues were found.—HOLLAND v. JUDD (1858), 3 C. B. N. S. 826; 30 L. T. O. S. 275; 6 W. R. 248; 140 E. R. 968.

1490. General rule.]—Where, in an agreement to refer an action & all matters in difference, the parties agreed to abide by the award "of & concerning the action, & of & concerning the other matters in difference," the costs of the action to abide the event:—Held: the arbitrator ought to have made an award concerning the action & the other matters separately, & the award having been made generally, the ct. would refuse to enforce it by attachment.—RULE v. BRYDE (1847), 1 Exch. 151; 16 L. J. Ex. 256; 9 L. T. O. S. 249; 154 E. R. 63.

1491. Distinguished from case where matters in difference in cause are referred.]—Semble: the principle that, where matters in difference in a cause involving several issues are referred to arbn., the costs of the cause to abide the event, the award is good, notwithstanding there is no specific finding on each issue, if it appear by necessary intendment that the arbitrator has disposed of all the issues, does not apply where the reference is of the cause & also of matters in difference.—*HUMPHREYS (HUMPHREY) v. 1492. Award failing to show who ought to pay costs.]—A replevin suit, & all matters in difference touching the distress, were referred to arbn., the costs of the suit to abide the event. The arbitrator awarded that the rent was £14, & that £6 were due for the rent at the time of the distress, that ptf. in replevin should pay deft. £6, & that the action should be no further prosecuted. It did not appear for what rent deft. had avowed:—Held: the award did not show who ought to pay the costs, which were to abide the event of the suit, & it was not final.—Re LEEMING & FEARNLEY (1833), 5 B. & Ad. 403; 2 Nev. & M. #### PART IV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 9.—B.

1492 i. Award failing to show who ought to pay costs.]—A reference was not only of a cause, but of all matters in difference between the parties, costs of the cause to abide the event. The award was in the following terms: "After a careful investigation of the particulars relating to the above case I find to be justly due to ptf. the sum of £28 18s. 6d., which is accordingly directed to be paid":—Held: a bad award, on the ground that, assuming it decided all matters referred, the sum found due might not be due in the cause, & consequently the question of costs was left undecided.—MATTHEWS v. M'PHEE (1845), Res. & Eq. Jud. 21.—AUS.

1493. Award of balance—& that action should cease.]—The submission was of a cause & all matters in difference between the parties, the costs of the action, of the reference & award, to abide the event. The arbitrators awarded that the action should cease & be no further prosecuted, & that, on the balance of accounts, a sum of money was due from pltf. to deft., which the former was directed to pay:—Held: the award was sufficiently final.—EARDLEY v. STEER (1835), 2 Cr. M. & R. 327; 4 Dowl. 423; 5 Tyr. 1071; 4 L. J. Ex. 293; 150 E. R. 141.

The arbitrator awarded: "I do award that pltf. is entitled to judgment on the whole declaration in the cause, & that judgment be entered up accordingly for him; & I do award that deft. shall pay to pltf., etc., the sum of £5 2s. 6d., which I find to be due & owing to pltf. on the balance of all accounts & transactions between them":—Held: the award was bad, for uncertainty, for not awarding to what amount pltf. was entitled to recover in respect of the action, so that it might be ascertained whether the costs should be taxed on the higher or lower scale.—LUND v. HUDSON (1843), 1 Dow. & L. 236; 7 Jur. 992.

The award was that pltf. should pay to deft. "the sum of £16 10s. 2d., being the balance which I find to be due from pltf. to deft.," & that each party should pay his own costs of the reference, & a moiety of the costs of the award:—Held: the award was bad, on the ground of uncertainty as to the finding of the issues, & there being no adjudication at all upon the cause.—PEARSON v. ARCHIBOLD (1843), 11 M. & W. 477; 2 Dowl. N. S. 1018; 12 L. J. Ex. 308; 1 L. T. O. S. 148; 7 Jur. 447; 152 E. R. 893.

Deft., in an action for non-performance of the award, pleaded (inter alia) that the award was not final:—Held: the award sufficiently disposed of the issues in the cause.—ARMITAGE v. COATES (1849), 4 Exch. 641; 19 L. J. Ex. 95; 14 L. T. O. S. 256; 154 E. R. 1371.

1497. Award of gross sum.]—In assumpsit, the declaration contained counts for goods sold, money paid, had & received, & on an account stated, to which deft. pleaded non assumpsit, payment & a set-off. After issue joined, the cause & all matters in difference between the parties were referred to arbitrators, the costs of the action to abide the event of their award. The arbitrators awarded that deft. was indebted to pltf. in the sum of £68 11s. 5d., & that final judgment should be entered for pltf. for that sum, besides his costs of suit, to be taxed by the master, & that the sum of £68 11s. 5d., with such costs as aforesaid, should be paid by deft. to pltf.:—Held: the award was bad, as it did not necessarily determine the issues raised on each of the counts in the declaration by the plea of non assumpsit, but only that deft. was liable on some one or more counts, not on all.—KILBURN v. KILBURN (1845), 13 M. & W. 671; 2 Dow. & L. 633; 1 New Pract. Cas. 226; 14 L. J. Ex. 160; 4 L. T. O. S. 375; 153 E. R. 281.

award. Before the arbitrator, the case was opened separately & proved separately in respect of the claim under each contract. Pltfs. made further claims for damage done to an engine by defts., & for their not delivering certain waggons. The arbitrator awarded that pltfs. had good cause of action, & that, in respect of such cause of action & the other matters in difference, defts. should pay to pltfs. a specified sum. It was objected that the award was bad & uncertain, as it did not find separately in respect of the claims under the separate contracts, the costs as to each contract being, as was contended, to abide the event of the award on each:—Held: the award was sufficient, & it was not necessary for the arbitrator to award specifically as to each contract.—*CRAWSHAW v. The award directed that all further proceedings in the cause should cease, that deft. should pay to pltfs. £190 in satisfaction & discharge of all claims & demands in the cause & matters in difference, & then disposed of the costs of the reference & award:—Held: the award was sufficiently final & certain, for it was to be inferred that something was due to pltfs. in the cause, & the amount was immaterial, as the rule as to costs upon the lower scale did not apply to awards.—NICHOLSON v. SYKES (1854), 9 Exch. 357; 23 L. J. Ex. 193; 2 C. L. R. 992; 156 E. R. 152.

PART IV. SECT. 8, SUB-SECT. 9.—C.

1503 i. General rule.]—Upon a general reference to arbitrators of all matters in dispute between two parties:—Held: not necessary that the award should distinguish between the matters in dispute in the cause, upon which the reference was made, & general matters between the parties referring.—LUND v. SMITH (1861), 10 C. P. 443.—CAN.

1503 ii. —.—The ct. set aside an award where the arbitrators found a bulk sum instead of finding on the particular counts.—BYRNE v. BYRNE (1873), 7 L. L. T. Jo. 568.—IR.

1503 iii. —.—“All matters in difference in the suit, including all dealings & transactions between the parties,” having been referred to arbn., the arbitrators should ascertain upon what points the parties are at issue, & upon each of these points come to a finding.—LUCHMEER NARAIN v. PYLE (1870), 2 N. W. 150.—IND.

a. Award putting end to action.]—Where the reference was of all matters in difference & actions between the parties, costs of the reference & award & of the actions to be in the discretion of the arbitrators, & power was given to the arbitrators to order & determine what they should think fit to be done by either of the parties respecting the matters referred, & the referees ordered, among other things, that a certain sum should be paid & accepted “in full satisfaction & discharge of all the actions & matters in difference,” also directing that no further proceedings should be taken in the suits:—Held: good, for it put an end to the actions, so that it was unnecessary to award upon the several issues, or find specifically upon the subject of costs.—Re BROWN & OVERHOLT (1855), 2 P. R. 9.—CAN.

b. — Arbitrators having power to assess costs.]—A. brought an action against B. for damages. The suit & all

1504. Clause agreeing to dispense with specific findings valid.]—Where a cause in which several issues are joined is referred, a clause may be introduced into the order that it shall be sufficient for the arbitrator to award in favour of pltf. or deft. generally, unless either party request him to find some particular issue.—MORGAN v. THOMAS (1845), 9 Jur. 92.

1506. Necessity for demanding specific findings.]—A cause was referred to arbn. by agreement, & the costs of the reference were to abide the event of the award, but there was no provision as to the costs of the action. There were issues in the cause upon pleas of the general issue & set-off. The arbitrator found that pltf. was “not entitled to recover, & that he had not any cause of action”:—Held: (1) the agreement of reference meant that the costs of the reference should abide the general event of the award, & not the event as to the particular issues, & if either party required a distinct finding upon those issues, it should have been so stated to the arbitrator; (2) the award was final.—DUCKWORTH v. HARRISON (1838), 4 M. & W. 432; 7 Dowl. 71; 1 Horn & H. 349; 8 L. J. Ex. 41; 2 Jur. 1090; 150 E. R. 1498; subsequent proceedings (1839), 5 M. & W. 427.

1507. — “Damages on all the issues.”]—An arbitrator, to whom a cause had been referred, found all the issues, one of which was an issue on a set-off, in favour of pltf., & assessed “damages on all the issues”:—Held: no ground for setting aside the award.—HOBDELL v. MILLER (1840), 6 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 Scott, N. R. 163; 133 E. R. 115.

1508. — Several demands included in one issue.] A declaration in assumpsit contained a count in matters in difference were referred, the costs of the action & of arbn. to be assessed & allowed by the arbitrators for the party in whose favour they should award. The arbitrators directed that A. should pay B. a certain sum as costs of the action & of the arbn., which, when paid, should be a final end of all matters in difference:—Held: the arbitrators having power to assess the costs, it was not necessary for them to award specifically upon the several issues raised by the pleas.—Re OULTON & ALLEN (1885), 25 N. B. R. 19.—CAN.

c. Separate awards should be made.]—Arbitrators should give separate awards in a case referred to them by the judge, & on other matters referred to them by the parties, instead of mixing them all up & giving a general award.—*ROGHOO NUNDUN LALL SAHOO v. the sum of £200 for horse keep, & work & labour, & another count in the like sum upon an account stated. Deft. pleaded as to all except £150 non assumpsit, & as to that sum payment. The cause was referred to arbn., & the arbitrator awarded, as to the first issue, that the verdict should be entered for pltf., & as to the second issue, so far as it related to £150, he directed a verdict to be entered for deft., & as to the residue of that issue, for pltf., & he assessed the damages at £14 4s. 9d., that being the balance which he adjudged to be due to pltf.:—Held: the arbitrator was not bound to find the first issue distributively, so as to find for pltf. as far as related to £14 4s. 9d., & for deft. as to the residue.—BIRD v. PENRICE (1840), 6 M. & W. 754; 8 Dowl. 775; 9 L. J. Ex. 257; 4 Jur. 970; 151 E. R. 617.

1509. Several issues.]—In an action of debt containing several common counts deft. pleaded the general issue & several special pleas. An arbitrator, to whom the cause was referred, awarded that there was justly due & owing to pltf. from deft. the sum of £60 9s. 7d.:—Held: the award was bad, for not disposing of the issues.—MORGAN v. THORN (THOMAS) (1845), 1 New Pract. Cas. 134; 4 L. T. O. S. 339; 9 Jur. 92.

1510. Cause referred before plea.]—Where a declaration contains several counts, & the cause is referred before plea, the arbitrator is not bound to find upon each count.—BEARUP v. PEACOCK (1845), 14 M. & W. 149; 2 Dow. & L. 850; 14 L. J. Ex. 232; 153 E. R. 427.

1511. All matters substantially disposed of.]—Where an arbitrator, to whom all matters in difference in a cause are referred, professes by his award to deal with the whole of the matters, it is no objection that he omits specifically to dispose of one of the matters in difference, if it necessarily appears from the whole of the award that that matter was substantially disposed of.—BIGGS v. HANSELL (1855), 16 C. B. 562; 25 L. T. O. S. 130; 139 E. R. 879.

Annotation:—Distd. Wakefield v. Llanelly Ry. & Dock Co. (1865), 3 De G. J. & Sm. 11, L.JJ.

1512. No request for specific findings.]—In an order of reference power was given to the arbitrator to find generally, or to find specific issues in favour of either party if required. Deft. succeeded in disproving pltf.'s right to recover in respect of one of the matters in difference, but the arbitrator was not asked, either expressly or impliedly, to find the specific issues. He found generally for pltf., thus fixing deft. with the whole of the costs, including his own costs of disproving one issue, & the costs incurred by pltf. in unsuccessfully endeavouring to establish it:—Held: (1) this was no ground for sending back the award; (2) the arbitrator might properly be asked by the ct. whether he was or was not required to find specifically, & being asked, might, but was not compelled to, answer.—WILSON v. HINCKLEY (1868), 18 L. T. 695.

1513. Reference of cause & all matters in difference—Award of single sum.]—When a cause, & all matters in difference between the parties, are referred to arbn., it is not necessary in the award to specify what part of the sum awarded is given for the differences, independent of the cause of action.—WATERS v. PEDLEY (1824), 2 L. J. O. S. K. B. 152.

1514. Compensation claim—Single sum awarded to two claimants.]—Where a submission required the arbitrator to award compensation to two claimants separately, but the arbitrator awarded only one sum to them, the ct. set aside the award.—Re MIDLAND RY. CO. & HEMMING (1848), 11 L. T. O. S. 152.

1515. Award of single sum to same party in different capacities.]—A submission referred all matters in difference between pltf. & deft., either in deft.'s own right, or as administrator of H., & the arbitrator awarded one entire sum as due to deft. in his own right, & as administrator of H., without specifying how much was due to him in his own right, & how much in his representative capacity. The ct. refused to set aside the award, as the parties had consented to the award being made in that form, & it was natural that one lump sum should be awarded.—DUNNETT v. HOWARD (1853), 20 L. T. O. S. 238.

1516. Award of balance—Agreement as to costs of reference.]—The ct. refused to set aside an award, on the ground that the arbitrator had awarded a balance due to one party instead of awarding specifically upon the counterclaims on

BROWNE* (1859), 9 I. C. L. R. 199.—IR.

1515 i. Award of single sum payable by person in different capacities.]—Pltf. & deft. agreed to refer all matters touching all claims of pltf. against the estate of the late T. P. as exor. of T. P., & otherwise, to pltf.:—Held: no objection to the award, that it did not find separately the amount awarded against deft. as exor., & in his own right.—PERRIN v. PERRIN (1872), 32 U. C. R. 606.—CAN.

f. Award of lump sum.]—Where there was an agreement to submit to arbn. all controversies between the parties, & the submission provided that (inter alia) a number of specific claims were to be dealt with, & also all things connected with the matter:—Held: a general award of a sum due, accompanied by an affidavit that all the claims had been inquired into, was sufficient.—*MCGREEVY v. 1517. Reference of two separate matters — No express provision for specific adjudication.]—A submission to arbn., after reciting that disputes had existed between W. & H., & that it had been agreed that W. should purchase H.'s shares in an incorporated co., & that an arbitrator should determine what sum W. should pay to H. upon the balance of accounts between them for the transfer of the shares, & should decide & determine all matters in difference between them, submitted to the arbitrator "the claims of H. against W. in respect of the differences & matters aforesaid, & all other matters in dispute between them, & the amount to be paid for the shares." The arbitrator in his award directed that a lump sum should be paid by W. to H. in respect of all the matters in difference, including the amount to be paid for the purchase of the shares:—Held: the arbitrator was not bound to find the sum to be paid in respect of the shares separately from that to be paid in respect of other matters in difference.—*WHITWORTH v. Owing to delay in completion W. claimed £549 under the penalties clause. The architect having given a final certificate that nothing was due to P., but that there was a sum due from P. to W., all matters in dispute were referred to an arbitrator, who made an award, after reciting (inter alia) that disputes had arisen touching the construction of the contract & the rights, duties, & liabilities of the parties to it after the conclusion of the works, that W. should pay to P. the sum of £596 12s. 7d. 1540. —.—.]—In former days it was considered that an award void in part was void in toto. That doctrine has been modified, & the modern rule is that an award although void as to part may be good as to the remainder, provided the part which is bad can be separated with reasonable clearness from the part which is good. If, however, the void part is inextricably connected with the other part, then the award will be void in toto; & it is not seldom a matter of difficulty to sever the good from the bad. The ct. should approach an award with a desire to support rather than to destroy it (McCARDIE, J.).—SELBY v. WHITBREAD & Co., [1917] 1 K. B. 736; 86 L. J. K. B. 974; 116 L. T. 690; 81 J. 1544. Cannot set aside verdict when amount only referred.—An action on covenants in a lease (which had many years to run) was brought by the landlord against the tenant for non-repair, & for waste by alteration of the premises. There was also a count in trover. Many issues were raised. At the trial an order of reference was made, which directed "that the jury do find a verdict for pltf. for the claim in the declaration, subject to a reference to a valuer, who is to decide whether there is any damage to pltf. by reason of the premises not being in a sufficient state of repair under the terms of the lease, in which case the valuer is to award the amount of damage to the reversion. It is also ordered that the valuer is to say what compensation (if any) pltf. is entitled to in consequence of the alterations which have taken place in the premises, & that the valuer should be attended by two witnesses only on each side, to explain the past & present state of the premises." The appointed valuer found as follows: "I hereby certify that beyond the sum of £17 paid into ct., there is no damage to pltf. by reason of the premises not being in a sufficient state of repair under the terms of the lease, nor is pltf. entitled to any compensation in consequence of the alterations which have taken place in the premises":—Held: the arbitrator had no power over the verdict, but his duty was limited to deciding on the two specified matters of damage, viz., by reason of non-repair, & by reason of the alterations.—SOWDON (SOUDON) v. MILLS (1861), 30 L. J. Q. B. 175; 3 L. T. 754.

the sum due, & reject that portion of it directing the mode of payment.—DALTON v. MCNIDER (1856), 5 Gr. 501.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 1.

r. Submission of "all matters in the cause."—When a verdict was taken subject to an award, & a rule of reference was subsequently drawn up which directed that the award should be entered on the postea as a verdict of the jury:—Held: as the submission was "all matters in the cause," the arbitrators could not give deft. credit for an item which could not come under the head of payment or set-off in the cause.—CAMPBELL v. WILSON (1836), Ber. 104.—CAN.

s. Award directing bond of indemnity.—A verdict was taken subject to a reference of the cause & all matters in difference. The arbitrators made an award reducing the verdict, & directing pltf. on request to execute a bond conditioned to indemnify deft. against two specified suits:—Held: the award of indemnity was authorised.—ANDERSON v. COTTON (1856), 2 P. R. 109.—CAN.

t. Power to enter verdict for defendant.—A verdict was taken for pltf. subject to be reduced, increased, or set aside, & a verdict or nonsuit to be entered for deft. under C. L. P. Act. The award directed that pltf.'s verdict should be set aside & a verdict entered for deft. & further awarded money on a set-off:—Held: the award did not in terms direct a verdict for deft. for any money, & even if it did, such award would be proper under the reference.—MARTYN v. DICKSON (1866), 2 C. L. J. O. S. 209.—CAN.

v. —.—.]—A verdict was taken subject to be increased, reduced, or a verdict entered for deft., by the award of an arbitrator, who directed a verdict in deft.'s favour for $750, under a plea of set-off:—Held: he had power to do so.—JOHNSTON v. ANGLIN (1869), 29 U. C. R. 372.—CAN.

w. Interest not allowable.—When a verdict is given subject to an award, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 42 (O.), s. 2, does not authorise the charging of interest on the sum awarded from the time of taking the verdict.—HOPE v. BEATTY (1876), 7 P. R. 39.—CAN.

1546. Amendment of judgment as to excess.]—Upon a reference at Nisi Prius, an arbitrator cannot award a greater sum than that for which the verdict is taken. But if he awards a greater sum than the amount of the verdict, & judgment is entered for the whole, & it appears that a part of the sum is covered by a countervailing demand which never was a subject of dispute, so that only a balance, less than the amount of the verdict, is ultimately to be paid over, the ct. will reduce the judgment to the amount of the verdict & grant execution for the sum really due.—PRENTICE v. 1549. — What amounts to waiver.]—A declaration in covenant upon an indenture alleged one breach by non-payment of rent & three by not repairing, etc. Pleas, that the indenture was obtained by fraud, & performance as to the several breaches. Pltf. traversed the fraud & joined issue on the pleas of performance, except that there was an omission to perfect the issue on the fourth plea. By order of Nisi Prius it was directed that the jury should give a verdict for pltf. on the first issue & damages assessed on the first breach at £10 & costs 40s., subject to the award of an arbitrator, to whom the cause & all matters in difference were referred, to order & determine what he should think fit to be done by the parties, respecting the matters in dispute, with liberty for him to amend the record, & to direct what should be done between the parties, the costs of the cause to abide the event of the award, & the costs of the reference & award to be in the arbitrator's discretion. The award recited that the only matter in difference, besides the cause, was a claim of £20 rent; & the arbitrator awarded that the verdict on the first issue & the assessment of £10 on the first breach should stand, & found for pltf. on the three other issues, & assessed damages upon each, directing the verdict to be entered for the aggregate of the damages on the four breaches; he also directed that deft. should pay £20 for rent & that pltf. should expend £193 6s. in repairs, for which purpose he should have power to enter on the premises, & that deft. should pay the costs of the reference & award :—Held : (1) the award was entirely bad, the arbitrator having no power to increase the verdict; (2) deft. did not waive the objection to the award by permitting pltf. to enter & perform the repairs, nor by attending the taxation of costs in Hilary vacation, nor by applying to pltf. in Hilary vacation for delay of execution, which application was acceded to by pltf. on terms which deft. did not accept.—HAYWARD v. No power to direct proof on bankrupt estate.]—An arbitrator awarded that the verdict in an action in debt by the assignees of a bkpt. should stand for pltf. on all the issues, with damages; he also found that bkpt. was indebted to deft. in £100, & directed proof of that amount on bkpt.'s estate :—Held : the award was not final, because it directed a proof on bkpt.'s estate, which the arbitrator had no power to compel.—PERCH v. HOPKINS (1843), 1 L. T. O. S. 145

1552. The arbitrator directed a verdict to be entered for pltf. Deft. pleaded (1) not guilty, (2) justification. The arbitrator awarded “that, as deft. had not proved his plea, the verdict for pltf. ought to stand,” & then stated a number of reasons for his opinion which could not be considered as satisfactory:—Held: the adjudication was sufficient, & the ct. would not consider the sufficiency of the reasons assigned by the arbitrator.—ARCHER v. OWEN (1841), 9 Dowl. 341.

1558. — Award substantially disposing of all matters.]—At the trial of an action a verdict was taken for pltf. by consent, subject to the award of a barrister, who was by the order of Nisi Prius empowered to direct that a nonsuit should be entered, or that a verdict should be entered for pltf. or defts., as he should think proper, & who was, at the request of either party, to state any point of law upon the face of his award for the opinion of the ct.:—Held: it was not incumbent on the arbitrator to decide finally as to the amount of damages to be recovered & to direct how the judgment should be entered up, but having by his award disposed of all the issues joined on the record, & assessed damages separately in respect of each subject-matter of complaint stated in the declaration, & having referred to the ct., at the request of defts., the question as to the right of pltf. to recover damages in respect of some of the grievances stated in the declaration, & at the request of pltf., as to the validity of a custom set out, & also as to pltf.'s right to judgment non obstante veredicto on a plea should the issue thereon be found for defts., he had properly discharged his duty, & he was not bound definitively to determine as to the validity or invalidity of the custom.—BRADBEE v. CHRIST'S HOSPITAL GOVERNORS (1842), 4 Man. & G. 714; 2 Dowl. N. S. 164; 134 E. R. 294; sub nom. BRADBEE v. LONDON CORPN., 5 Scott, N. R. 79; 11 L. J. C. P. 209.

1559. — Verdict for plaintiff on all issues—Amount not stated.]—An arbitrator awarded (inter alia) that the verdict in an action in debt by the assignees of a bkpt. should stand for pltf. on all the issues, with damages £4 10s. 4½d.; he also found that bkpt. was indebted to deft. in £100, & directed proof of that amount on bkpt.'s estate:—Held: the award was uncertain, because it did not find the amount of debt for which the verdict was to stand.—PERCH v. HOPKINS (1843), 1 L. T. O. S. 145.

1560. — Award of discontinuance.]—C., who held a power of attorney authorising him to sue in the names of W. & M., brought two actions of debt against R., one in his own name, the other in the names of W. & M., to recover the balance due for covering wires with gutta percha. Deft. pleaded in each action the general issue, payment, & set-off. Issue was not joined in the second action. On the trial of the first action, an order of reference, by consent of C. & R., was made in the cause C. v. R., & professed to refer “this cause, & all matters in difference in this cause, & in the cause of W. & M. v. R., & all matters in difference between the parties, & all matters in difference in the cause of W. & M. v. R. between those parties.” After the reference, a rule for a discontinuance having been obtained in the action of W. & M. v. R., the order of reference was amended by consent, & it was ordered “that the rule for a discontinuance should be suspended, & left to the decision of the arbitrator.” The award (inter alia) awarded a discontinuance in the action of W. & M. v. R.:—Held: the award of a discontinuance was a sufficient decision of the action.—HANCOCK v. REID (REIDE) (1851), 2 L. M. & P. 584; 21 L. J. Q. B. 78; 15 Jur. 1036.

1561. — Award not disposing of all issues raised—Ordering verdict for nominal damages.]—At the trial of an action on covenants in a lease (which had many years to run) for non-repair, & for waste by alteration of the premises, raising many issues, an order of reference was made, which directed “that the jury do find a verdict for pltf. for the claim in the declaration, subject to a reference to a valuer, who is to decide whether there is any damage to pltf. by reason of the premises not being in a sufficient state of repair under the terms of the lease, in which case the valuer is to award the amount of damage to the reversion. It is also ordered that the valuer is to say what compensation (if any) pltf. is entitled to in consequence of the alterations which have taken place in the premises, & that the valuer shall be attended by two witnesses only on each side, to explain the past & present state of the premises.” The appointed valuer found as follows: “I hereby certify that beyond the sum of £17 paid into ct., there is no damage to pltf. by reason of the premises not being in a sufficient state of repair under the terms of the lease, nor is pltf. entitled to any compensation in consequence of the alterations which have taken place in the premises”:—Held: the certificate was good & valid though it did not dispose of the issues raised, & it authorised an entry of a verdict for pltf., with nominal damages.—SOWDON (SOUDON) v. MILLS (1861), 30 L. J. Q. B. 175; 3 L. T. 754.

1562. Must settle all matters—Award not “of & concerning.”—Upon the trial of an action of tort a verdict was found for pltf., subject to a reference of all matters in difference. Deft. claimed before the arbitrator a sum of money due to him upon the balance of an account, which was admitted by pltf. to be due. The award, without stating that it was made of & concerning the premises, directed a verdict to be entered for pltf., with damages:—Held: the award was sufficient.—GRAY v. GWEN-NAP (1817), 1 B. & Ald. 106; 106 E. R. 40.

1563. — Verdict to stand for reduced amount—No award as to other matters.—An action for trespass for taking goods was referred, principally with the view of determining the right of property in the goods, defts. contending that pltf. had no property in them, but that they belonged to a third person. Another complaint in the declaration was that defts. had committed an assault upon pltf.'s wife, per quod consortium amisit, & all other matters in difference were also referred. No evidence was given before the arbitrator to prove the per quod, but there was only one assault proved to have been committed on the wife, & pltf. abandoned his claim to part of the goods. The arbitrator made his award, merely ordering the verdict which had been entered for pltf. to stand & the damages to be reduced to £35, but made no award respecting the right of property in the goods:—Held: the award was sufficiently final.—BIRD v. COOPER (1835), 4 Dowl. 148.

1564. — — ——In an action of trover, to which deft. pleaded, except as to a certain sum, not guilty & not possessed, & as to that sum payment thereof into ct., a verdict was taken for pltf. for the amount of damages claimed, subject to an arbn., & the arbitrator found generally that the verdict for pltf. was to stand, & that the damages were to be reduced to a certain sum:—Held: the award was good, as the arbitrator had sufficiently disposed of all the issues.—WILCOX v. WILCOX (1849), 4 Exch. 500; 19 L. J. Ex. 27; 14 L. T. O. S. 134; 154 E. R. 1311.

1565. — Award not ordering verdict—But settling cause.—By an order of Nisi Prius at the trial of a cause a verdict was entered for pltf., with the consent of the parties, damages £10,000, costs 40s., subject to the award of an arbitrator, who was to settle the cause & all matters in difference between the parties:—Held: although the arbitrator in his award had not ordered a verdict to be entered & had found no damages, yet he had settled the cause by the terms of his award, & there was nothing to prevent taxation of the costs.—TAYLER v. MARLING (1840), 2 Man. & G.

1562 i. Must settle all matters—Award confined to matters in suit.—Pltf. sued for specific injuries, & a verdict was taken, subject to an award. By the reference, the arbitrators had power to settle & dispose of all matters in difference, awarding, if they should think fit, payment of an entire sum in full satisfaction of all past & future demands. The arbitrators increased the verdict & concluded: “The sums so to be paid as aforesaid we do award, etc.” Defts. moved to set aside the award, objecting that the arbitrators did not make their award of all matters in difference, but confined it to the subject-matter issuing out of the cause:—Held: award good under the submission.—WATSON v. TORONTO GAS LIGHT & WATER CO. (1849), 5 U. C. R. 523.—CAN.

1568 i. Must settle each claim specifically—General verdict.—A verdict was taken for pltf., subject to a reference; & the arbitrators awarded, “that at the time of the commencement of the action, or at any time afterwards, pltf. had not any cause of action whatever against deft.,” & directed a verdict for deft. for 55; 2 Scott, N. R. 374; Drinkwater, 121; 10 L. J. C. P. 26; 133 E. R. 661.

Award of verdict without damages.—Debt, in £200, for work & labour, for goods sold, & on an account stated. Pleas: (1) except as to £35, parcel, never indebted; (2) except as to the £35, parcel, payment before action brought; (3) as to the £35, payment into ct. of £37, in satisfaction of the sum of £35, & all damages for the detention thereof; (4) a set-off to the whole declaration. The cause & all matters in difference between the parties were referred, by order of Nisi Prius, to an arbitrator, who, by his award, directed a verdict for pltf. on the first issue, without damages, & for deft. on the other issues:—Held: the award was good, as the arbitrator was right in not awarding any damages on the first issue, & the finding as to the several issues was not repugnant.—WARWICK v. COX (1844), 12 M. & W. 774; 1 Dow. & L. 987; 13 L. J. Ex. 314; 3 L. T. O. S. 78; 8 Jur. 713; 152 E. R. 1411.

1567. — So far as brought before arbitrator.—An action of trespass brought in the Ct. of Exch. by pltf. against three defts., & all matters in difference between the parties, were referred by order of Nisi Prius to an arbitrator, a verdict having been taken for pltf., & by another order, made at the same time, an action of replevin brought in the Ct. of Queen's Bench by same pltf. against one only of defts. was also referred to the same arbitrator. The main question was whether or not pltf. had, in 1842, become tenant to that party who was deft. in both actions. No other tenancy was ever set up, or brought into question before the arbitrator. The reference of the replevin suit was the first proceeded in & the evidence taken in it was, by consent, read over as evidence in the action of trespass. The arbitrator awarded in the action of replevin that pltf. had good cause of action against deft., & was entitled to a verdict. In the action of trespass he awarded nothing as to the costs of the action of replevin, or whether, at the date of the order of reference of either action, a tenancy of pltf. to the party who was deft. in both actions existed:—Held: the award was good, these matters, if in difference, not having been brought before the arbitrator at the hearings.—REES v. WATERS (1847), 16 M. & W. 263; 4 Dow. & L. 567; 153 E. R. 1187.

—Generally.—See Nos. 1407—1466, ante.

1568. Must settle each claim specifically—Failure to state in regard to what matters plaintiff successful.—A declaration in ejectment contained three demises. At the trial of the action a general verdict was taken, subject to a reference of the cause, & all matters in difference, the costs of the cause to abide the event. The arbitrator having directed the general verdict to stand:—Held: the award was bad, for he was bound to state on which of the demises pltf. was entitled to succeed.—DOE d. STARLING v. HILLEN (1843), 2 Dowl. N. S. 694; 12 L. J. Q. B. 166; 7 Jur. 375.

£20:—Held: both the issues were sufficiently disposed of.—TOWNSEND v. MORTON (1845), 2 U. C. R. 100.—CAN.

1568 ii. — Award of lump sum—Several issues.—Where in trespass, several pleas being pleaded, a verdict was taken, subject to a reference, & the award determined the cause in favour of pltf., & reduced the verdict to £7 10s., the ct. refused to set aside the award, on the ground that it did not dispose of the issues.—WOOD v. MOODIE (1846), 3 U. C. R. 79.—CAN.

1569. — Award generally for plaintiff.]—Pltf. & deft. were both dyers & bleachers, having their works at the same stream, & the question was as to pltf.'s right to the stream unpolluted by deft.'s works, deft. having put lime into the stream, which obstructed its course & polluted its purity. Deft. had pleaded not guilty, & a denial of pltf.'s right. The jury found for pltf., damages £2,000, subject to be reduced. The terms of the reference were that the arbitrator should determine the right, & should regulate the proper mode of enjoying the stream. The arbitrator awarded generally for pltf., damages £40, that pltf. had a right to the stream, subject to deft.'s right of first using it for his dyeing business; he then went on to say that deft. should use all reasonable means of purifying the water, & that it should be passed, after it had been used by deft. for his dyeing processes, through filtering lodges according to the most approved method, so that it might be always used by pltf. in his business as bleacher without injury thereto. It was sought to set the award aside, because there was no distinct finding on the issues severally:—Held: the award was uncertain & not final.—MUIR v. PARROTT (1845), 4 L. T. O. S. 290.

1570. — Direction that verdict stand & damages be reduced.]—By an order of reference at Nisi Prius a general verdict was found for pltf. in a cause in which there were several issues, subject to the award or certificate of an arbitrator, "the costs of the cause to abide the event," & the arbitrator, by his certificate, directed that the verdict found should stand, & the damages be reduced to a certain sum:—Held: a specific finding on each issue was not necessary.—Re SMITH & REECE, Re REECE & SMITH (1849), 6 Dow. & L. 520; 14 Jur. 483.

1571. — Award that defendant pay named sum & costs—Clause exempting arbitrator from finding specifically.]—On the trial of a cause containing counts in trespass & in case, on which several issues were raised, a verdict was taken for pltf., subject to a reference, with power to the arbitrator to order for whom the verdict should be entered, & the order contained a clause exempting the arbitrator from finding specific issues, unless required to do so. The arbitrator having simply ordered deft. to pay to pltf. £50 & all costs of the action, which, by the order, were to abide the event, & of the view & award, which were left in his discretion:—Seem: the award was good, as disposing of the action, even without calling in aid the exemption clause, which clearly sustained it.—KENDAL v. SYMONDS (1855), 3 C. L. R. 323.

1572. — Other matters referred as well as action.]—Deft. having agreed to buy of pltf. certain property for which he was to pay an annuity & a large sum by instalments, a verdict for £10,000 was taken in an action for default of payment, subject to a reference of the cause & all matters in difference, £3,500 to be paid by deft. to the arbitrator, to be by him paid to pltf. if found due in the action,

1572 i. — Other matters referred as well as action.]—A verdict was taken for pltf., subject to an award "upon all matters in difference between them, as well in this suit as all other matters up to the commencement of this suit," costs to abide the event. The arbitrator awarded that pltf. had good cause of action against deft. in the cause, & on the matter so submitted, & was entitled to a verdict therein, & assessed the damages to be paid by deft. to pltf. in the cause at £43 8s.:—Held: the award was good, as it disposed by necessary inference of all the issues in the cause, & was not uncertain.—CHARLES v. CARROLL (1852), 9 U. C. R. 357.—CAN.

1572 ii. — Power to award entire sum.]—A verdict was taken subject to an award. The arbitrators had power to dispose of all the matters in difference, awarding if they should think fit an entire sum in full satisfaction of all past & future demands. The arbitrators ordered the verdict to be increased with costs, such amount to be in full satisfaction of all past & future demands of pltf.:—Held: the award could not be impeached, because it did not distinguish the sum allowed in the cause from the sum allowed for the other matters in difference.—WATSON v. TORONTO GAS CO. (1849), 5 U. C. R. 523.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 3.

a. When clause against filing bill in equity.]—A verdict was taken subject to a reference, & the rule of reference contained the usual clause against filing any bill in equity; deft., against whom the

& the arbitrator to order what should be done by the parties. The arbitrator directed that deft. should pay, in addition to the £3,500, a gross sum, including the value of the annuity, without distinguishing how much was in respect of the matters in difference & how much in respect of the cause, but ordered a verdict on all the issues to be entered for pltf.:—Held: a valid award as against deft.—TAYLOR (TAYLER) v. SHUTTLEWORTH (1840), 6 Bing. N. C. 277; 8 Dowl. 281; 8 Scott, 565; 9 L. J. C. P. 138; 133 E. R. 109.

1573. — Debt for goods sold, etc. Pleas, never indebted, payment, & set-off. The cause & all matters in difference having been referred by order of Nisi Prius, the order directed that, if the arbitrator should find that pltf. were not entitled to recover, the verdict taken was to be void & a verdict entered for deft. It was further agreed by the parties that, if the arbitrator should think that certain iron machinery supplied to deft. ought not to be charged for by pltf., deft. having alleged it to be defective, pltf. were to be allowed the value of it at the market price of pig iron. The arbitrator awarded that pltf. were not entitled to recover, & that deft. should pay pltf. for the machinery:—Held: under the order of reference the arbitrator was not bound to award on each issue.—WADDLE (WADDELL) v. DOWNMAN (1844), 12 M. & W. 562; 1 Dow. & L. 560; 13 L. J. Ex. 115; 2 L. T. O. S. 350; 8 Jur. 933; 152 E. R. 1322.

award was made, did not make any motion in proper time, but filed his bill in equity, for which the ct. granted attachments against him & his solr., upon which writs of habeas corpus were subsequently issued. After the award, which was in favour of pltf., & before judgment, deft. committed an act of bkpcy., of which notice was given to pltf. in the action, but judgment was nevertheless entered up upon the award. 1579. Where no damages awarded—Nominal damages.—A dispute arose between pltf. & defts. as to whether a certain carriage archway had been constructed in conformity with an agreement entered into between them. An action having been brought, by an order of Nisi Prius the cause was referred to an arbitrator, who was empowered to direct, if he found for pltf., what should be done to make the carriage archway in conformity with the agreement. The arbitrator found for pltf., without awarding any damages, & directed certain alterations to be made in the archway. Pltf. signed judgment for the amount of the damages claimed in the declaration:—Held: pltf. was entitled only to nominal damages.—BROWN (BROWNE) v. SOMERSET & DORSET RY. CO. (1865), 34 L. J. A rule having been obtained for deft. to show cause why the postea should not be delivered to pltf. to take out execution for the money awarded, deft. objected that no affidavit was produced of the due execution of the award, or of a demand of the money:—Held: that was as necessary as if the motion had been for an attachment for non-payment of money, & the rule must be discharged.—READ v. Now the former is civil, the latter criminal process (ROOKE, J.).

1582. —.]—If a verdict for pltf. be taken at Nisi Prius, subject to the award of an arbitrator, & the rule of reference be made a rule of ct., the verdict may be entered according to the award of the arbitrator, without any application to the ct. for that purpose. 1585. Effect of death.—In a replevin suit a verdict was taken for deft., & in an action of assumpsit a verdict for pltf., in £300, subject to a reference, with power to the arbitrator to direct whether the verdict should be entered for pltf. or deft. After the evidence was partly heard, but before it was ended, or award made, deft. died. The arbitrator afterwards made his award, directing £62 16s. rent to be paid by pltf. to deft., beyond pltf.'s demand in assumpsit, & a verdict for deft. in the replevin suit. Pltf. having entered up judgment in the actions as of Hilary term, with a suggestion of deft.'s death, the ct. refused to set aside the award, as the fact of pltf.'s right to take out execution without a previous application to the ct. showed the ct. The expression by the arbitrator of his opinion upon the law of the case, before he makes his award, is insufficient cause for setting aside the award; but if the reasons are delivered by the arbitrator contemporaneously with the award, the ct. will be able to perceive the exact grounds upon which he proceeded.—PRICE v. JONES (1828), 2 Y. & J. 114; 148 E. R. 855.

1603. — But not forming part of award.]—An arbitrator made his award, & at the same time drew up a statement of his reasons, which he forwarded, on the day of publication, to one party, & ten days later to the other party. He wrote also to the former that he was dissatisfied with his award, & that a case ought at once to be laid before the ct. He stated on oath that the statement of grounds was given for the purposes of the special case to be stated, & not as a part of the award he had made:—Held: the statement of grounds could not be looked to as a ground for impeaching the award, the whole circumstances bearing out the arbitrator's explanation that they were not intended to be part of the award.—SOUTH EASTERN RY. CO. v. ABINGER OVERSEERS (1852), 16 J. P. 774.

1604. Error in fact—Apparent on face of award.]—An arbitrator, to whom an action for a fraudulent representation of the circumstances of A. was referred, found that deft., knowing the object of plffs.' inquiries, had omitted to state the material facts of the existence of debts due by A. to him, & of his holding A.'s warrant of attorney, & that he did not give a fair representation of what he knew concerning A.'s credit, & that deft., although he did not mean to hold out any inducement to plffs. to trust A., thereby misled plffs. & created in them a false confidence in the circumstances of A. The arbitrator acquitted deft. of all collusion with A., & of all fraud at the time of making the representation, but feeling himself compelled by adjudged cases, which he mentioned, to decide that the knowledge of the falsehood of the thing asserted was in itself fraud & deceit, he awarded in favour of plffs. The ct. set aside the award, on the ground that the arbitrator had, on the face of it, acquitted deft. of fraud & deceit.—AMES v. MILWARD (1818), 2 Moore, C. P. 713; 8 Taunt. 637; 129 E. R. 532.

A. Admitted Mistakes.

1610. Where no affidavit by arbitrators — Misunderstanding about costs.—Motion to set aside an award, made by three arbitrators, whereby £50 was only awarded for damages & costs, upon an affidavit that two of the arbitrators declared, since the making the award, that they understood that the attorneys of both sides were each of them to

1606 iii. ——When an arbitrator makes a mistake in the heading of an award in the Christian name of one of the parties, the award will be referred back to him for amendment.—ANNIS v. COOK (1866), 2 Old. 163.—CAN.

1606 iv. — Mistake in arbitrator's names.—A variance in the names of arbitrators:—Held: no ground of nonsuit.—BENTLEY v. WEST (1847), 4 U. C. R. 98.—CAN.

1606 v. — Cause wrongly described.—An award will not be set aside because the cause in which it is intitled is not set out correctly, provided it can be sufficiently identified by reference to the body of the award as being in the cause referred.—CREIGHTON v. BROWN (1854), 1 P. R. 331.—CAN.

1606 vi. — In giving effect to arbitrator's intention.—An award was varied where a mistake had been made by the umpire in the expression of his intention, such mistake being regarded as

d. — Dominion Railway Act.—Motion for an order referring back to the arbitrators, to enable them to correct a clerical error, an award made under Dominion Railway Act:—Held: except under power conferred by stat., or by the parties, the cts. would not correct errors in awards, either directly or through the arbitrators, & the above Act did not authorise the reopening of a reference.—Re McALPINE & LAKE ERIE & DETROIT RIVER RY. CO. (1902), 22 C. L. T. 98; 3 O. L. R. 230; 1 O. W. R. 100, 484.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 13, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

1610 i. Where no affidavit by arbitrators — What must be shown.—To set aside an award on the ground of mistake on the part of an arbitrator, the mistake must be admitted by the arbitrator; & it must also be shown that the judgment of agree about the costs attending the suit, & that they only meant such costs as the party was at otherwise:—Held: it would be a matter of dangerous consequence if an award were overturned for something which part of the arbitrators had declared about it, but if all the arbitrators came before the ct. & declared their meaning was mistaken in the drawing up the award, that might be some reason for the ct.'s interposing.—HARDING v. PITCROFT (1730), 1 Barn. K. B. 364; 94 E. R. 245.

1611. — Necessity for distinct evidence.—A declaration of one of the arbitrators that, had he seen a letter of which, being mislaid at the time, the contents were proved, he would have acted otherwise:—Held: not sufficient against an award on the ground of mistake admitted by the arbitrators, of which there ought to be clear, distinct evidence, & an affidavit by the arbitrators, to induce a ct. of equity to set aside the award or a ct. of law to refuse to make it a rule of ct.—ANDERSON v. DARCY (1812), 18 Ves. 447; 34 E. R. 386.

1612. — Mistake as to effect of former reference.—An award made by a barrister cannot be questioned on the ground of any statement not appearing on the face of the award, or annexed to it, & a letter written by him to one of the parties to the effect that he felt himself bound to make an award in favour of the other party, on the ground that the measure in dispute had arisen before a former reference, & that, although he thought the first arbitrator mistaken, he considered himself concluded by the award, is no ground for setting aside the award made by the latter, unless it appear on the face of the award, or of some paper annexed, that the arbitrator wished to raise such question.—WILLIAMS v. JONES (1829), 5 Man. & Ry. K. B. 3.

1613. Misconstruction of rule of reference.—An arbitrator, with a view of enabling one of the parties litigant to make an application to the ct. after the publication of his award, stated matters which showed he had put a mistaken construction on the rule of reference, & had misdecided accordingly; the ct. received affidavits of these facts, & set aside the award, notwithstanding on the face of it there was no objection.—JONES v. CORRY (1839), 5 Bing. N. C. 187; 7 Dowl. 299; 1 Arn. 459; 7 Scott, 106; 8 L. J. C. P. 80; 3 Jur. 149; 132 E. R. 1076.

the arbitrator was influenced by it, & that if it had not happened he would have made a different award.—LYONS v. DONOVAN (1866), 2 Old. 180.—CAN.

1610 ii. — Mistake of clerk.—An arbitrator intended to award that the costs of the reference & award, as well as of the cause, should be paid by deft., but by the mistake of a clerk the costs of the reference & award were omitted. The award was remitted back for correction.—STEWART v. BEATTIE (1876), 37 U. C. R. 538.—CAN.

1610 iii. — Desire to alter erroneous judgment.—The ct. cannot set aside an award, valid on its face, on the ground of erroneous judgment on a matter within his jurisdiction, even where the arbitrator having discovered the error desires to rectify the award; but on the ground of mistake properly so called, or inadvertence, the ct. will remit the award.—PROUDFOOT v. TURNBULL (1882), 1 N. Z. L. R. 247.—N.Z.

1613 i. — Misconstruction of order of reference.—The fact that one of the arbitrators states that he put a mistaken construction on the order of reference is not a ground for setting aside an award good on its face.—CONNOLLY v. C. (1846), 10 L. Eq. R. 104.—IR.

Sect. 13.—Mistakes in & amendment of award:
Sub-sect. 2, A.]

1614. — Omission of admitted claim.]—An action for goods sold, etc., to which deft. pleaded a set-off, having been referred to arbn., deft. admitted that pltf. had a claim against him for £119 7s. 4d., the produce of pltf.'s goods sold by him under a distress for rent, & that the further sum of £82 3s. 8d. was due for goods sold, which sums together exceeded the entire set-off claimed by deft. The arbitrator, omitting by mistake the sum of £119 7s. 4d. admitted to be due to pltf., awarded that deft.'s set-off amounted to £100 0s. 6d. & thereby exceeded pltf.'s damages, which he assessed at £94 13s. 4d. It appeared on affidavit that, on the error being pointed out to him, he admitted it & requested deft. to allow him to reconsider his award upon the evidence before him, which the latter refused. The error did not appear upon the face of the award, nor did the arbitrator make any affidavit. The ct., in the above circumstances, refused to set aside the award, adhering to the general rule that the mistake of an arbitrator was no rule for setting aside an award.—PHILLIPS (PHILLIP) v. 1615. — Failure to calculate exactly amount of set-off.]—Declaration for money payable for board & lodging, & upon several other claims. Pleas to the whole action, (1) never indebted, (2) set-off for use & occupation & other alleged debts. Issues on the pleas. The cause being referred, with power to the ct. to remit it to the arbitrator in case of the award being objected to, the arbitrator directed a verdict for pltf. on the first issue & for deft. on the second. Dft. applied to the arbitrator to know how much he had allowed pltf. to deduct from the rent in arrear; the arbitrator, in answer, stated that he had made only a rough estimate, finding that the rent in arrear far exceeded the board & lodging, which, he said, was the only claim which pltf. had made out. On taxation the master allowed all pltf.'s costs incurred in support of any part of his claim as costs of the first issue. The ct., on motion by deft., referred the case back to the arbitrator in order that he might, if he thought fit, find separately as to the different items contained in the declaration.—GORE v. 1617. Wrongful deduction of expenses.]—An arbitrator, to whom a question of the legality of a distress was submitted, made his award in favour of appct., but deducted the expenses of the distress, which he decided was illegal, from the sum awarded. Appct.'s attorney subsequently saw him & told him he ought not to have made that deduction, & he said he had done so by a mistake from inadvertence. Upon an application to set aside the award or refer it back, on the ground of mistake, the former branch of the rule was refused.—Re SHAW & PITT (1856), 4 W. R. 616.

If a mistake has been made in the award, not apparent on the face of it, & such mistake is admitted in an affidavit by the arbitrators, such an admission is sufficient to authorise the ct. to set aside the award under the former practice, or to refer it back under the Act. So also, if the arbi-representative character, the ct., on affidavits of the arbitrators that the money was intended for pltf. in his own right, set the award aside on account of the mistake.—DENNISON v. SANDFORD (1833), 30 S. 379.—CAN.

Necessity for affidavit.]—The general rule that the ct. has power to send back an award to an arbitrator for reconsideration only in case of fraud or corruption, & where an error appears necessarily on the face of the award, is subject to the further exception upheld in Flynn v. Robertson (No. 1625, post), viz., where there is a mistake admitted by the parties & by the arbitrator himself. It is not, however, enough to bring a case within this last exception that the arbitrator should have admitted the grounds of his decision & that those grounds should be manifestly erroneous. It is only where the arbitrator himself comes to crave the assistance of the ct. to enable him to rectify his own mistake that the ct. has power to send back the award to him for that purpose.—*DINN v. j. — After award given.]—An action was referred by a compulsory reference. k. — Arbitrators misled by marks on goods.]—The goodwill of a business was sold, together with the stock-in-trade, to be taken at cost price. In pursuance of the contract, the prices were fixed by three arbitrators, who made their award. Some months afterwards, an application was made to refer back the award, upon the affidavit of two of the arbitrators that they had been misled by certain cipher marks on some of the stock. The ct. made absolute a rule to refer back the award.—Re ARMSTRONG & CULLEY (1878), 4 V. L. R. 178.—AUS.

When they discovered that costs followed the event, they concurred in an affidavit to the effect that they would have awarded pltf. a less sum, if they had thought the whole costs would fall upon deft.:—Held: the mistake of the arbitrators was no ground for sending back the award, & a rule for setting it aside should be discharged.—*ALLEN v. Defts. applied to refer back the award on an affidavit by the arbitrator that it did not carry out his instructions or effect his intentions, that when he signed it he thought the effect of defts. retaining the goods would be to give them the costs of their counter-claim, & that he wished the award referred back to him:—Held: no grounds were disclosed for disturbing the award.—*GREENWOOD & CO. v. Upon an affidavit by the arbitrator that the reason why he had made no award as to costs was that he had been under the misapprehension that the arbn. was subject to the provisions of Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (c. 18), under which costs followed the event, & that if he had known that he had power to award costs he would have awarded them to claimants:—Held: as the mistake made by the arbitrator was merely one of omission, & he did not seek in any way to impeach the award that he had made, the matter ought to be remitted to him for his reconsideration.—*Re BAXTERS & MIDLAND RY. 1625. Statement by arbitrator to court—Mistake admitted by both parties.]—An action & all matters in difference having been referred to the master, he made, by mistake, an award in favour of deft. The mistake arose from his omitting to take account of an advance by pltf. to deft., which had been duly proved before him, but which, at the time of making the award, he overlooked. 1635. Mistake in interpretation of terms of submission.]—It is a general rule that, wherever a matter in dispute has once been submitted to arbn. & decided, the decision is conclusive.

By order at Nisi Prius, by consent of parties, it was referred to arbitrators whether pltf. was entitled to recover from deft. the sum of £246 3s., & whether, against such sum, deft. was entitled to set off the sum of £246 3s. for a bale of silk, & the arbitrators found the affirmative of the first & the negative of the second proposition, following the words of the submission. In an action upon the award deft. was not allowed to set off a smaller sum, as the price due to him for the bale of silk, & pltf. obtained a verdict for the whole sum awarded. On an application to set aside that verdict, on the ground that the arbitrators felt themselves bound, by the terms of the submission, to confine their attention to the particular sum mentioned in it, without taking into their consideration whether the smaller sum was due, it appearing also upon the affidavits to have been possible that the arbitrators might have decided the matter upon a question of credit, in which case the question, as regarded both the larger & smaller sum, would be the same, the ct. refused to interfere.—JOHNSON v. DURANT (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 925; 1 L. J. K. B. 47; 109 E. R. 1386.

1645. Award of damages in excess of what plaintiff entitled to.]—The decision of an arbitrator, whether a lawyer or a layman, is binding on the parties both in matters of law & in matters of fact, unless there has been fraud or corruption on his part, or there be some mistake of law apparent on the face of the award, or of some paper accompanying & forming part of the award.

A verdict was taken for pltf., subject to the award of an arbitrator, as to the amount of damages, & his award included an amount of damages which (it was assumed) pltf. was not legally entitled to in the action :—Held : (1) the ct. would not interfere; (2) it was not a case for remitting the matter back to the arbitrator for reconsideration by virtue of C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 8, that clause being intended only to apply to cases where before the Act such a course might have been adopted under the provision in the submission or order of reference usually known as "Mr. Richards' clause."—*HODGKINSON v. 1646. Award on point of law beyond powers of lay arbitrators.]—The ct. will not interfere with the decision of lay arbitrators on a point of law, dependent upon a question of fact, when such fact has been left for their determination.

On a motion to make a submission a rule of ct. & to set aside an award, it was contended that the arbitrators had decided a point of law beyond the powers of lay arbitrators. It appeared they had treated as an equitable assignment an assignment which had never been communicated to the assignee:—Held: by the terms of the submission the arbitrators had power to find as a fact what was due, & had jurisdiction to determine whether the sums alleged to have been guaranteed should be paid or not.—Re SIMPSON & HORNSBY (1868), 17 L. .]—An action against an attorney for negligently preparing a conveyance of land to pltf. was referred to an arbitrator with all matters in difference. Pltf.'s case on the reference was that many words in the deed were written on erasures, which were not noticed in the attestation, that the deed was in other respects incorrect & improperly prepared, & that, by reason thereof, pltf. was prevented from mtgng. The arbitrator ordered a verdict to be entered for deft., & awarded that it was proved before him that the erasures in the conveyance mentioned in the pleadings were made before the deed was executed. On motion to set aside the award, on the ground that the facts therein stated did not warrant a finding for deft.:—Held: the above statement of fact by the arbitrator did not show that his decision proceeded on that fact, & no ground appeared for reviewing his award.—*LANCASTER v. 1654. Gross mistake.]—Gross negligence & even a blunder on the part of the arbitrator is not sufficient to justify a jury in treating the award as void.

1661. Disallowance of two minor items of claim.]—An award will not be set aside, nor even sent back to the arbitrator, for an alleged mistake, not manifest nor apparent on the face of it, nor admitted by any affidavit or statement of the arbitrator.

In cross-actions arising out of a sale of the goodwill of a public-house by L. to S., in the first action L. sued S. on a promissory note for £100, the balance of the purchase-money, & also to recover £38 for stock taken, & £14 for money lent. S., deft. in that action, pleaded fraud to the count on the note & never indebted to the residue. The action by S. against L. was for fraud in the sale. Both actions were referred to arbn., & the arbitrator found for S. on the note, on the ground that there had been fraud in the contract of sale, & on which £450 had been paid, leaving £100, the balance for which the note had been given. The two smaller items of L.'s claim were admitted. The arbitrator found in L.'s action that there was no cause of action against S. & directed the verdict to be entered for S. On an application to remit the award back to the arbitrator, on the ground that he had made a mistake in disallowing the two minor items of pltf.'s claim for the stock sold & the money lent, which it was contended were quite separate & distinct from the main cause of action, found to be tainted with fraud:—Held: there was no ground for supposing there had been a mistake, & the application must be refused.—*LOCKWOOD v. The arbiters awarded a sum which they reached on the principle of giving the amount which an outgoing tenant would have had to expend in putting the subjects into tenantable condition & repair. In an action of reduction at the instance of the tenant:—Held: (1) the question referred to arbn. was the amount of defender's obligation qua landlord, & not the amount for which an outgoing tenant would have been liable; (2) the arbiters not having determined the question submitted to them, their award fell to be reduced.—DAVIDSON v. LOGAN, [1908] S. C. 350.—SCOT.

The proper course in such a case is to obtain an order to refer the award back to the arbitrator.

An arbitrator made his award on Nov. 12. His attention having been called by pltf.'s solr. to an accidental omission in it, he signed a fresh award on Dec. 2, which was sent by pltf.'s solr. to deft., with a letter of explanation. Deft. took no notice of it till June 10, when pltf. sought to enforce the award, & he then objected to its validity:—Held: deft. was entitled to treat the second award as a nullity, & his delay did not amount to acquiescence in its validity.—MORDUE v. PALMER (1870), 6 Ch. App. 22; 40 L. J. Ch. 8; 23 L. T. 752; 35 J. P. 196; 19 W. R. 86, L.JJ.

1667 iii. ——An award was signed by all the arbitrators. Thereafter one wished to have his name struck off, & this was allowed to be done & the award was destroyed:—Held: on executing this award the arbitrators became functi officio, & an award made subsequently was void.—KELLY v. MACDONALD (1877), 2 P. E. I. 173.—CAN.

1667 iv. ——An arbitrator having gone into the matter submitted to him made out a statement, & some time afterwards made out a second statement, showing a different amount to be due:—Held: a valid award for the first amount, & the arbitrator was functus officio, & the second award was a nullity.—SNETSINGER v. PETERSON (1894), 1 Cout. Dig. 146, 147.—CAN.

1667 v. — New arbitrators.]—Where new arbitrators, without petition on the part of the proprietor, revise the award as to a property, their decision will be set aside, & the former award restored.—COURNOYER v. RICHELIEU (1915), 21 R. de J. 212.—CAN.

1667 vi. — Unless where first award not intended to be final.]—In an action to set aside it was argued that the arbitrator made two awards & that he became functus officio on publishing the first, thus rendering the second award void:—Held: the so-called first award, though beginning "I adjudge & award," was not in fact intended to be an award, but simply a direction made, at the parties' suggestion, to clear the ground for the arbn. proper, it did not purport to dispose of anything on which the arbn. could bear.—Re GRAVES & TENTLER (1911), 19 W. After it is ready to be delivered the arbitrators are functi officio.—SANDFORD v. SANDFORD (1857), 2 Thom. 266.—CAN.

1665 iv. — After award made.]—An arbitrator is functus officio as soon as he has made an award.—BENNETTO v. WINNIPEG (1908), 18 Man. L. R. 100.—CAN.

1665 v. — After award made & published.]—Arbitrators having once made & published their award cannot subsequently alter it.—HAYDON v. DUNN (1854), James, 256.—CAN.

1665 vi. — Even though award bad.]—Arbitrators made an award which failed to comply with one of the material terms of the submission:—Held: when the award was signed the authority of the arbitrators ceased, & it was not within their power to re-open it.—HALL v. QUEEN INSURANCE CO. (1906), 39 N. S. L. R. 295.—CAN.

1665 vii. — Unless award reduced.]—Held: an arbiter, who issued a decree-arbitral which had been reduced, was not functus officio or disqualified from again taking up the reference.—MILLER & SON v. OLIVER & BOYD (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 390.—SCOT.

1671. Court cannot alter—To make terms agree with submission.]—The ct. cannot interfere to alter the terms of an award in order to make them consist with the submission, even where the submission to arbn. gives minute directions for the course to be pursued by the arbitrator.—HALL v. ALDERSON (1825), 2 Bing. 476; 130 E. R. 390.

1672. — To make award agree with arbitrator's intention—Affidavits of intention inadmissible.]—Actions, one of trespass, the other of ejectment, were referred to an arbitrator. In the ejectment action he ordered a general verdict to be entered for the lessor of pltf. & delivered, together with his award, a paper, stating the reasons for the conclusion in his award, which manifested an intention at variance with the award. The ct. refused to amend the award by the paper for the purpose of entitling deft. to costs.—DOE d. OXENDEN v. CROPPER (1839), 10 Ad. & El. 197; 2 Per. & Dav. 490; 8 L. J. Q. 1687. ——— Reasonably & favourably.]—An application to set aside an award, on the ground that the arbitrator had awarded in the present tense, & must, therefore, have included matters arising subsequent to the date of submission, & that he had used the general words "claims & demands," not confining them to pecuniary claims, which were alone referred, was refused, as the award must be reasonably understood as applying only to the matters referred to the arbitrator.—Re KENWORTHY & ROBERTS (1856), 28 L. T. O. S. 65.

1688. ——— Liberal & favourably.]—Awards are now considered with greater latitude & less strictness than they were formerly; & it is right that they should be liberally construed, because they are made by judges of the parties' own choosing. Indeed, they must have these two properties, to be certain & final, but the certainty may be judged of according to a common intent, & consistent with fair & probable presumption. I declare against critical niceties in scanning awards (LORD MANSFIELD, C.J.).

Awards ought to be construed liberally & favourably (DENNISON, J.).—HAWKINS v. COLCLOUGH (1757), 1 Burr. 274; 2 Keny. 553; 97 E. R. 311.

1721. Reference of accounts to arbitrator instead of master.]—Accounts were referred to the master, but afterwards an order of reference was made to arbitrators to take an account of all dealings & transactions in like manner, as if same were referred to the master, & that the parties should be concluded & bound by the award, & should observe it, & further directions were reserved:—Held: such reference was not in nature of a reference to the master, & the parties were bound by a general award of a balance due without particulars stated, the decision being final because upon matter of fact, & no corruption or misconduct imputed.—DICK v. MILLIGAN (1792), 4 Bro. C. C. 117; 2 Ves. 23; 29 E. R. 808; subsequent proceedings (1794), 4 Bro. C. C. 536.

1722. — Reference to master.]—Where a party consents to a judge's order for a reference to the master, & undertakes to pay the sum found due, he cannot afterwards dispute the amount for which the master has given his allocatur.—WATKINS v. MAHON (1836), 1 M. & W. 722; 5 Dowl. 178; 2 Gale, 129; Tyr. & Gr. 1023; 5 L. J. Ex. 247; 150 E. R. 624.

As to what Matters.

1723. Matters within submission—Damages.]—Covenantor & covenantee submitted the amount dealt with in the award was raised Held: such question was res between the parties.—WAZEER MAHTON v. CHUNI SINGH (1881), 1 L. R. 7 Calc. 727; 9 C. L. R. 377.—IND.

1723 vi. —.]—An action was brought on a fire policy. After action the insurance co., under one of the conditions of the policy, demanded an arbn., as to the value of the premises destroyed, the result of which was an award finding the value to have been $2,500, & the loss payable to pltf. $1,700. The jury estimated his loss at $3,500:—Held: pltf. was entitled to judgment for the amount of the award, the value of the building being one of the matters in difference between the parties covered by the submission, & the award being, therefore, conclusive.—SMITH v. CITY OF LONDON INSURANCE CO. (1886), 14 A. R. 328; 11 O. R. 38.—CAN.

1723 vii. —.]—Where, after a fire, the parties agree to an appraisalment of the loss, the award is final & conclusive as to extent of the loss sustained by the insured.—HERON v. HARTFORD INSURANCE CO. (1888), 4 M. L. R. 1888.—CAN.

1723 ix. — Right of way.]—Where the lands of a joint Hindu family were partitioned according to an award, in a subsequent suit:—Held: the ct. could not go behind the award & allow one member of the family to claim a right of way through lands allotted by the award to another.—GOPAL CHUNDER ROY v. BROJENDRO COOMAR ROY, 5 C. L. R. 338.—IND.

certain sum was found due, & praying that accounts might be taken on foot of the award, the cognusor cannot by his answer impeach the award, & raise questions which had been discussed before & decided by the arbitrators.—HILL v. BAIL (1828), 2 Bll. (N. S.) 1.—IR.

1723 ii. —.]—A landlord & his tenant entered into a submission as to various matters in dispute between them, & in particular, as to the use of certain roads; the landlord obtained an interim interdict against the tenant using the roads till the issue of the submission, under a reservation of any claim for damages in consequence; & the arbiter finally found the tenant entitled to the use of the roads, & repelled all other claims between the parties "in the submission":—Held: this included the claim for damages reserved in the interdict granting the interdict, & an action for these damages should be dismissed accordingly.—GRAY v. BROWN (1833), 11 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 353.—SCOT.

1723 iv. —.]—D. & B. issued a fi. fa. against M., under which a levy on personal property was made; the parties afterwards referred all matters in dispute to arbn. An award was made in favour of M., upon which D. & B. withdrew the execution & directed the sheriff to hand over to M. the property levied on:—Held: D. & B. were not liable for any articles which had been lost by the sheriff. If any such claims could otherwise have been set up, they were, at all events, precluded by the award.—MILLER v. DANIEL (1873), 2 N. B. R. (Pug.) 113.—CAN.

1723 v. —.]—Where a case was referred to arbn., & the award was subsequently filed, & subsequently, in another suit between the same parties, a question of damages accruing from a breach of covenant to an arbitrator. In action on the covenant:—Held: the arbitrator's award was conclusive as to the amount of damages, unless the award itself could be impeached.—WHITEHEAD v. TATTERSALL (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 491; 110 E. R. 1295.

HALL* (1835), 1 Hodg. 111.

1725. — But not brought before arbitrator.—In an action of covenant deft. pleaded (inter alia) that an action for some other matter & all matters in difference were referred, that the arbitrator ordered several sums to be paid, & that the parties should give general releases, & that deft. did pay the money & the releases were given. Pltf. replied that these matters were not before the arbitrator. Judgment was given for pltf.—COLIGHTLY v. JEL-LICOE (1769), 4 Term Rep. 147, n.; 100 E. R. 942.

Upon a rule for an attachment for non-payment of the sum awarded:—Held*: it was not competent to the owner to claim a deduction of a certain sum, the price & proceeds of certain goods shipped on their joint account, the whole of which price had been paid by the owner in the first instance, on the ground that that particular adventure formed no part of the disputes between them & had not been submitted to nor taken into the consideration of the arbitrators, because it was plainly within the terms & scope of the reference, the direct object of which was to make a final settlement of all matters of account between the parties, & it was the owner's own fault if he kept back that item of the account.—*SMITH v. The arbitrator directed that the verdict entered for pltf. should stand & awarded a sum to be paid to pltf. as the price of, & compensation for, the land of pltf. which the co. had at the time of the making of the order of reference taken for the purpose of their railway, & directed the amount to be paid to pltf. out of the money in the Bank of England & the residue to be paid to defts., & he further awarded that there were no other matters in difference between the parties, & that the above payments were to be made & taken in full satisfaction & discharge of all matters in difference between them. It appeared that the money in the Bank included the purchase-money of other land of pltf., of which defts. had lawful possession, & pltf., treating the sum awarded as applicable to that, issued a writ of habere facias possessionem & was put in possession, & brought an action for mesne profits:—Held: the action was not maintainable, the mesne profits being included in the reference & award. Semble: pltf. had no right to sue out the writ of habere facias possessionem.—*SMALLEY v. 1729. — — — — — Omitted by arbitrator.—On a general reference, by three partners, of all matters in difference to arbn. the arbitrators found the partnership capital, on the day of the dissolution, to be, in merchandise & good debts, of a given amount, including a debt due from A., one of the partners, & that there were some dubious debts. They then ascertained the amount of the debts due from the partnership, & found the gross value of the stock which, including the debt due from A., they awarded to be divisible between the other partners, B. & C. They next found the dubious debts to be divisible as received between the three partners, & they awarded that A. should give security for the payment of his debt by instalments, & directed B. to receive the outstanding debts & effects & to pay all debts owing by the partnership, of which accounts were to be stated periodically, & of the balance of receipts, special credit was to be given for A.'s share against his debt, & the remainder was to be divided between B. & C., & any balance of payments was to be borne in the same proportions. The award was acted upon by all parties, but B. subsequently received some debts which were omitted in the accounts laid before the arbitrators & on which their award proceeded, & he also received good debts to a larger amount than had been estimated by the arbitrators. A steward & agent, being employed to sell an estate, purchased part of it himself at an under-value, & secretly, in the name of another person. All actions & matters of difference between the parties were afterwards submitted to arbn.; an award was made & mutual releases executed. The ct., forty-seven years after the purchase & twenty-eight years after the award, set aside the purchase, because (inter alia) the principal was not bound by the award & release, as the deception had been continued, & the purchase & the fraudulent circumstances relating to it had not been brought under the consideration of the arbitrator.—*TREVELYAN v. 1733. Breaches of agreement subsequent to those before arbitrator.]—Pltf. & deft. entered into an agreement as to the supply of colliery screenings by pltf. to deft. Disputes having arisen, they were referred to arbn., the submission providing that the arbitrator should have power to determine what was the true construction of the agreement & also what course should in the future be adopted by the parties so as to comply with its terms. By his award the arbitrator found that deft. was bound to keep his works going to receive the colliery screenings, & further awarded damages to each party in respect of certain breaches of the agreement, & found that the disputes referred had arisen through the wrongful refusal by deft. to keep his works regularly going during the continuance of the agreement. Subsequently pltf. brought an action against deft. for refusing to keep his works going & refusing to receive the screenings:—Held: the arbn. & award were no bar to the maintenance of the action, as there had been no renunciation by deft. of the agreement, treated as such by pltf., entitling the arbitrator to assess damages upon the footing that the agreement had been rescinded.—GUERET v. AUDOUY (1893), 62 L. J. Q. B. 633, C. A.

1734. — — —.]—In June, 1890, pltf. ordered from deft. two leather belts "warranted for ten years," which were paid for. Pltf. made complaints about the belts, & in Oct., 1892, brought an action claiming damages up to "Sept. 30 in consequence of deft.'s breach of contract in neglecting to keep two driving belts in repair." The case was referred by consent to a civil engineer, the reference including "all matters in difference," & he made an award in favour of pltf. for £18 10s. & costs. In May, 1893, pltf. brought another action claiming damages from Oct. 1 to Apr. 1, 1893:—Held: as the award covered all matters in difference between the parties, the second action failed.—*SPEAK v. Damage accruing subsequent to award.]—The owner of a coal mine excavated as far as the boundary (which he was by custom entitled to do) & continued the excavation wrongfully into the neighbouring mine, leaving an aperture in the coal of that mine, through which water passed into it & did damage:—Held: the owner of the neighbouring mine could not recover at all for damage occasioned by the flow of water in consequence of the aperture remaining unclosed, where an action on the case had already been brought for making the aperture & letting in the water, which action was referred to arbn., & pltf., being made party to the reference in respect of any injury to him by any of the matters alleged in the declaration in such action, had had damages awarded & paid to him for such injury, although the damage last complained of was subsequent to the award &

RANSON* (1837), 5 O. S. 513.—CAN.

1735 ii. — A farm tenant entered into two submissions with a railway co. to determine his claims against the co. &

decrees-arbitral were issued by which various sums of compensation were awarded to him. More than three years afterwards, the tenant gave notice of a further claim on account of permanent damage, which he averred had not been included in the submissions, & could not have been foreseen at the time they were entered into:—Held: the submissions & the decrees-arbitral embraced all claims which the tenant could state as permanent damage, & his claim was not competent.—*NORTH BRITISH Ry. 1737. Judgment creditor—Award against judgment debtor.]—A judgment creditor must be taken to be bound by an award made against his judgment debtor in a previous suit to which he was a party, in the absence of evidence of fraud or collusion. On this point there is no difference between English & French law.—MARTIN v. BOULANGER (1883), 8 App. Cas. 296; 52 L. J. P. C. 31; 49 L. T. 62, P. C. 1738. Trustee in liquidation—Surety.]—In Jan., 1877, K. & M., trading as partners as M. & Co., entered into an agreement for three years with C. Brothers to purchase wines to an average amount annually. The agreement provided that any dispute should be determined by arbn. In Dec., 1877, K. & M. dissolved partnership, W. being substituted as partner with M. K., in July, 1878, by a letter addressed to C. Brothers, requested them to treat the agreement of Jan. 1877, as made between W. & M. & C. Brothers, & in consideration thereof guaranteed that the wines supplied should be paid for, & that the agreement should be otherwise duly performed in all respects on the part of W. & M. In July, 1879, K. petitioned for liquidation. In Aug., 1879, C. Brothers alleged that the contract of Jan., 1877, had been broken by M. & Co., & demanded an arbn., in which a sum of £1,200 was awarded as damages for the breach. The trustee in the liquidation had notice of the proceedings, but refused to attend. C. Brothers signed judgment for the amount, & claimed to prove for it in K.'s liquidation:—Held: (1) the trustee was not bound by the arbn. or award, & the proof must be disallowed; (2) judgment on an award against a principal debtor was not binding on a surety.—Re KITCHIN, Ex p. YOUNG (1881), 17 Ch. D. 668; 50 L. J. Ch. 824; 45 L. T. 90, C. A.

1739. Parties neglecting to attend before arbitrator.]—A local board of health served a notice to repair a road on testator, &, as the notice was not complied with, repaired the road themselves. After his death demand was made by the board on the tenant for life under his will & the exors., as statutory owners, for payment of the apportioned part of the expenses of the repairs. The statutory owners disputed the assessment & denied their liability. The matter went to arbn., which the owners neglected to attend, & the award was subsequently made a rule of ct. & the costs taxed. Demands were made on the tenant for life & the exors. for payment of the amount found due under the award & the taxed costs. On a motion by the exors. to restrain the board from taking any steps to enforce the award:—Held: the exors. having neglected to attend the arbn. or take any other means of disputing their liability, the award was final, & they were precluded from going into the merits or legality of the claim by the board.—*WEST v. k. Parties not represented—Infants.]—An administratrix was sued by her brother for a debt, & judgment was recovered; subsequently a reference was made in respect of other moneys come to her hands for the benefit of her children, & by her deposited with her brother, & this judgment & the amount due thereon were, at the arbn., mixed up with questions as to these trust moneys, & the award was in respect of all. The parties all acted as if these trust moneys, & the debts of the estate, were to be considered & dealt with together, but the infants were not represented before the arbitrators:—Held: the infants were not bound by the award.—

l. ——— & creditors.]—An award resulted from a submission to which an exor. & extrix. alone were parties & recited differences between those parties only. It appeared that other parties were interested in the estate, viz., the children & the creditors of testator:—Held: award not binding on latter.—Re ESTATE OF SMITHERS (1882), 3 R. & G. 306; 2 C. Pltf. declared on this as an award that deft. should pay to pltf. £500 on Nov. 20, 1852:—Held: there was no absolute claim to the money on Nov. 20, but the right of action was suspended until Dec. 1, & would then depend on the giving of the security as directed.—*HILL v. 1751. Award made after action brought.]

Where an action has been commenced upon a contract containing a provision for reference to an arbitrator of any dispute arising under the contract, & is pending, no application to stay the action having been made under the Act of 1889, s. 4, or such an application having been refused, an award made by the arbitrator under the provision for reference upon the subject-matter of the action, subsequent to the commencement thereof, & without the consent of pltf., is invalid, & will not afford a defence to the action.

By a clause in a contract between pltf. & defts., a municipal corpn., for the execution by the former of certain sewerage works, it was provided that, in case of any dispute, doubt, or difference arising or happening touching or concerning the works, or relating to quantities, description or manner of work done, executed, or to be done & executed by the contractors, or in any wise whatever relating to the interests of the corpn. or of the contractors, such doubts, disputes, or differences should from time to time be referred to & settled & decided by defts.' engineer, who should be competent to enter upon the subject-matter of such doubts, disputes or differences, with or without formal reference or notice to the parties to the contract or either of them, & who should judge, decide, order & determine thereon. Pltf. brought an action against defts. for sums which they alleged to have become due to them from defts. under the contract, & for damages for wrongful termination of the contract by defts. Defts. did not apply for a stay of proceedings in the action under the Act of 1889, s. 4. Subsequent to the commencement of the action, defts.' engineer, under the before-mentioned clause, without giving notice to the parties, & without the knowledge or consent of pltf., made an award purporting to decide the matters which were the subject of the action, & defts. pleaded his award in bar to pltf.' claim in the action:—Held (Vaughan Williams, L.J., diss.): it was not competent for the engineer to determine the matters in question pending the action, & his award was no bar to pltf.' claim in the action.—DOLEMAN & SONS v. OSSETT CORPN., [1912] 3 K. B. 257; 81 L. J. K. B. 1092; 107 L. T. 581; 76 J. P. 457; 10 L. G. R. 915, C. A.

1752. When available—Not where fraud or partiality.]—L. brought a bill against E., the other party to a reference, & the arbitrators, praying for an inspection of all the accounts on which the arbitrators had framed their award, & for an account generally by E. for all transactions during his partnership with L., & praying for the setting aside of the award for fraud or partiality & want of finality. Deft. pleaded the award as a bar to the general account:—Held: the plea of award was an answer to the claim for a general account, but pltf. was not precluded at the hearing of the cause from objecting to the award for fraud or partiality.—LINGOOD v. EADE (1742), 2 Atk. 501; 26 E. R. 702.

1753. — Not on application for bail in action on award.]—Where a cause, in which deft. has been holden to bail, is referred to arbn., & the arbitrator awards to pltf. a sum exceeding £10, deft. may be holden to bail again in an action upon the award.—COLLINS v. POWELL (1788), 2 Term Rep. 756; 100 E. R. 408.

1755. — Whether performance need be averred & proved.]—To an action of trespass deft. pleaded an award that he should pay pltf. a certain sum & find a surety for the payment thereof:—Held: deft. must produce the submission & also show that he had paid or found a surety, otherwise the plea was not good.—ANON. (1477), Y. B., 17 Edw. 4, fo. 3, pl. 1.

1756. — — — — —.]—Pltf. declared upon three assumpsits, whereof two were special. Deft. pleaded generally as to all that since the promises he & pltf. had submitted themselves & all matters, etc., to arbitrators, who made their award, which he set forth in his plea & concluded in bar without alleging that he (deft.) had performed the award on his part. The award was particular as to certain cotton wool, & not of any other matters. & as to that it was conditional:—Held: (1) an award without performance was a good bar to an action on the case if the parties had mutual remedies against each other to compel the execution of the matters awarded, but it was otherwise if there were no mutual remedies to enforce the performance; (2) the award pleaded being conditional, & therefore, void, pltf. had no remedy to enforce the performance, & the award was no bar to the action; (3) the award being particular as to the cotton wool, deft. should have pleaded it in bar only of those promises concerning the wool, & not in bar of a general indebitatus assumpsit for wares sold, but should have pleaded non assumpsit as to that promise because the award did not extend to it; (4) if the award had been general & a good award, deft. might have pleaded it in bar of all the promises generally.—*CROFTS v. 1760. —.].—In trespass for assault, etc., deft. pleaded a submission to an award of all controversies & set forth an award made & a tender of performance. Pltf. contended that the award was not of money but of a collateral matter, namely, to provide a couple of pullets to be eaten at deft.'s house, & was no plea without performance & without a plea that pltf. had notice of the time when the pullets were to be eaten:—Held: although there was no remedy in debt in such a case, there was the remedy by action upon the case for non-performance of the award, & the award was a good plea without performance.—*BOISLOE v. 1762. —.].—In indebitatus assumpsit for a debt, a plea of arbitrament of pltf.'s claim & an award that deft. shall pay a sum of money, without an averment of the payment thereof, is no good plea in bar.

To an indebitatus count for £50 for turnpike tolls deft. pleaded that differences had arisen between him & pltf. touching pltf.'s claim, that the matter in difference was referred to arbn., that each party mutually promised to abide by the award, & that an award was made whereby deft. was directed to pay to pltf. the sum of £13:—Held: the plea was bad, because the award merely ascertained the existence & amount of the original debt, but did not change its character or destroy its quality, & the money payable under the award was nothing but the original debt so ascertained.—*ALLEN v. 1763. Money claim—Amount due—Res judicata.]—Declaration for work done & materials provided, claiming £400. Plea, except as to £145 3s. 1d., parcel of the money claimed, that pltf. ought not to be admitted to allege that at the commencement of the suit any more than the sum of £145 3s. 1d. was due from deft. to pltf. in respect of the causes of action in the declaration mentioned, because, after the accruing of the causes of action & before suit, a dispute arose between pltf. & deft. as to how much was due from deft. to pltf. in respect of the causes of action, & thereupon by agreement made between them they referred the question of how much was due from deft. to pltf. in respect of the causes of action to the award of W., & agreed to be bound by his award as to such amount, & that W. awarded that the amount due from deft. to pltf. was £145 3s. 1d.:—Held: as the plea did not profess to answer the entire claim of pltf., but was pleaded only to the excess over the sum found to be due by the award, it was a good plea, inasmuch as the award precluded either party from saying more or less was due.—*COMMINGS (CUMMINGS) v. On a summons to stay proceedings in the action:—Held: (1) E. had waived all right to a public audit by consenting to the reference to arbn., & the award was conclusive against him on all points; (2) these points having all been previously decided against him, the action was frivolous & vexatious, & an abuse of the powers of the ct., & the ct. had jurisdiction to stay it on those grounds.—*EDMUNDS v. an old shaft of a mine which had not been sufficiently covered over, the owner of the horse charged a person in the possession of a mine near to the spot with being also in possession of that shaft. The latter denied that the shaft was his, but said that if a miner's jury were called, & they should say that the shaft was his, he would pay for the horse. A miner's jury was accordingly called, & they found in writing that the shaft was his:—Held: this finding of the jury, coupled with his declaration, was admissible in evidence against him in an action to recover compensation for the loss of the horse.—SYBRAY v. WHITE (1836), 1 M. & W. 435; 2 Gale, 68; Tyr. & Gr. 746; 5 L. J. Ex. 173; 150 E. R. 504.

1776. Issue between landlord & execution creditor of tenant—Award between landlord & tenant.]—An action between the owner of land & a party holding by his permission, but claiming to hold as bailiff & not as tenant, was referred to an arbitrator, who was to say what was to be done by the parties with respect to the land. He awarded that the holding was as tenant, that the tenancy should cease on the delivery of the award, & that possession of the land should be delivered up to the owner in one month after. On an issue, between the landlord & an execution creditor of the tenant, whether the crops on the land at a certain time were the property of the party so found to have been tenant:—Held: the award was admissible in evidence on the part of the landlord.—THORPE v. EYRE (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 926; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 214; 110 E. R. 1462.

1777. Action as to boundary—Award as to same in reference of suit inter alios.]—On an issue respecting the boundary of a parish & county an award in a suit inter alios, in which the arbitrator set out the boundary as proved before him, & a verdict was entered according to his direction, is not admissible as evidence of such boundary. Although verdicts are, upon authority, admitted as proof of reputation, the rule does not extend to awards.—EVANS v. REES (1839), 10 Ad. & El. 151; 2 Per. & Dav. 626; 113 E. R. 58.

n. Action for obstructing drain.]—In an action for obstructing a drain the jury found for pltf., with 6d. damages, saying that their verdict was founded upon an award which had been made by fence-viewers:—Held: upon the evidence, a verdict must be entered for deft., for it was a different drain which was obstructed.—MALONE v. FAULKNER (1853), 11 U. C. R. 116.—CAN.

o. Award where submission not by all parties to suit.]—An arbn. award, not being one which has been made upon a reference by all the parties to the suit, is evidence against any party who agreed to the reference.—BEEJO CHUNDER

F. was indicted for perjury committed by deposing, in an affidavit in a cause wherein he was pltf. & E. deft., that E. owed him £50:—Held: in support of this indictment, evidence was not admissible that the cause of F. against E. was, after the making of the affidavit, referred by consent & an award made that E. owed nothing to F.—R. v. FONTAINE MOREAU (1848), 11 Q. B. 1028; 3 New Pract. Cas. 108; 17 L. J. Q. B. 187; 11 L. T. O. S. 150; 12 J. P. 534; 12 Jur. 626; 116 E. R. 757.

1779. Action as to ownership of land—Award in action between different plaintiff & same defendant.]

—In an action for injuring pltf.'s reversionary interest in a several fishery in an estuary of the sea, & in the soil of the bottom of the sea, both in the possession of F. as her tenant, issues were taken on pltf.'s right to the fishery & ownership of the soil. The controversy was whether the soil belonged to pltf. or to G. Pltf. gave in evidence the proceedings in an action by F. against G. One count in that action was for injuring F.'s fishery by tearing up soil, described as being the soil of pltf., & thereby destroying the fish. To this there was a plea of not guilty. The amount of damages was referred, & the arbitrator awarded nominal damages. It was proved that the act complained of in that action was committed in a part of the same estuary, & that the soil there was claimed by the same title as the soil which was the subject of the then present action, & that deft. became tenant to G. subsequent to the award. The proceedings were admitted, & pltf. had a verdict:—Held: they were improperly admitted, the award not being evidence of reputation, & the proceedings not being admissible for pltf., who was not a party or shown to be a privy to F., though deft. was privy to G.—WENMAN (LADY) v. MACKENZIE (1855), 5 E. & B. 447; 25 L. J. Q. B. 44; 25 L. T. O. S. 267; 1 Jur. N. S. 1015; 3 W. R. 626; 3 C. L. R. 1307; 119 E. R. 517.

1780. Action on award under Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (c. 18)—Award not evidence as to subject-matter of compensation.]—Semle: in an action on an award under the above Act, when defts. plead that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters not the subject of compensation, the award is not evidence that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters the subject of compensation.—*RHODES v. #### F. As to transferring Property.

1783. Award transferring interest of estate for years.—Where a controversy between two persons for a lease of land was submitted to the arbitrament of S., whose award directed that one of them should have the land:—Held: (1) this was a good gift of the interest of the term; (2) if the award had been to permit & suffer the other to enjoy the term, there would be no gift of the interest in it.—TRUSLOE v. YEWRE (1591), Cro. Eliz. 223; 78 E. R. 479.

1784. Award directing delivery of chattels—Property in same not passed.—Under a submission to an arbitrator of all matters in difference between landlord & tenant the arbitrator awarded (inter alia) that a stack of hay, left upon the premises by the tenant, should be delivered up by him to the landlord by a certain day, upon the tenant being paid or allowed a certain sum in satisfaction for it:—Held: (1) the property in the hay did not pass to the landlord on his tender of the money, by the mere force of the award, against the consent of the tenant, who refused to accept the money or deliver up the hay; (2) the landlord could not maintain trover for it, but his remedy was upon the award.—*HUNTER v. ### SECT. 16.—SETTING ASIDE AWARD.

ARBITRATION ACT, 1889, s. 11 (2).—Where an arbitrator or umpire has misconducted himself, or an arbitration or award has been improperly procured, the court may set the award aside.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JURISDICTION TO SET ASIDE.

1786. What courts.—The cts. at Westminster have no authority to set aside an award made in an action depending in the Ct. of Common Pleas, at Lancaster, & referred by order of Nisi Prius.—PLUMLEY v. ISHERWOOD (1843), 12 M. & W. 190; 13 L. J. Ex. 38; 152 E. R. 1165.

1787. — Court of equity.—Equity will not interfere to set aside an award made on a voluntary submission to arbn. by both parties, nor relieve against a bond given for performance of the award.—EYRE v. GOOD (1669), 2 Rep. Ch. 34; 21 E. R. 608.

1788. — — ——A bill lies to set aside for fraud an award made a rule of a ct. of law under the Act by deft., & pltf. could not eject deft. v. FRETWELL (1853), 11 U. C. R. 65.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 1.

a. When jurisdiction exists.—It is only where the submission is by rule of ct. or can be made so, or has the effect of a rule, that the ct. has any jurisdiction to set aside an award. Where the submission is compulsory under stat., & there is no provision to make it a rule of ct., the ct. has no jurisdiction. The stat. creates the tribunal & makes the award "final & binding."—GOSS v. SURVEYOR-GENERAL (1898), 8 Nfld. L. R. 68.—NFLD.

1786 i. What courts—Appellate Court.—The Appellate Ct. has jurisdiction to set aside awards, whether or not they are awards to which the Act of 1698 applies.—JOHANNISEN v. GALBRAITH (1906), 16 Man. L. R. 138.—CAN.

1786 ii. — Court making order.—An award having been directed to be made within a year by an order of the Ch. Div. where the parties were litigating concerning it:—Held: a motion to set aside should have been made in that division, & should be transferred.—Re MUSKOKA TOWNSHIP & VILLAGE OF GRAVENHURST (1884), 6 O. R. 352.—CAN.

1786 iii. — Court in which action pending.—Where an application to set aside an award is made on the ground that two of the arbitrators made the award without notice to the third, the application should be made to the ct. in which the action is pending.—SMITH v. GEORGE (1854), 12 U. C. R. 370.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 15, SUB-SECT. 2.—F.

q. Award of land.—An award of land does not constitute a title to such land so as to entitle the person to whom it is awarded to possession thereof.—HIMINA v. KELLS, O. B. & F. 156.—N.Z.

r. Award determining right to land—Boundary dispute.—Where in a boundary dispute a reference was made to arbitrators appointed by the settlement officer, & the arbitrators decided the boundary:—Held: the effect of the award was not merely to determine possession at the time, but to determine the right to the land itself.—RAMRUNJUN CHICKERBUTTY v. RAM PROSAD DASS, 13 C. L. R. 26.—IND.

s. Award directing defendant to execute deed of land.—Arbitrators awarded that pltf. was entitled to retain land as his own property, & that deft. should forthwith execute a deed of the land to pltf. or his heirs:—Held: the award did not operate as a conveyance of the land.—OLIVER v. ELLIOTT (1861), 5 All. 226.—CAN.

t. Award deciding basis of exchange of lands.—When two parties, desirous of exchanging portions of their estates, submitted to arbn. what amount of land should be given to each, & the award was found accordingly:—Held: the award did not operate as an actual conveyance of the legal estate.—HENRY v. KIRWAN (1859), 9 I. C. L. R. 459.—IR.

u. Award becoming deed of partition.—A document which purports to be an award may amount to something more than an award; if the parties to the reference affix their signatures to the award in token of their acceptance of the decision of the arbitrators, the award may thereupon become a deed of partition & may as such become compulsorily registrable.—TEK LAL SINGH v. SRIPALI CHOW DHURI (1913), 18 C. W. N. 478.—IND.

w. Award of sum in full of all claims to land.—On a reference as to the title to land:—Semble: an award of $400, "in full consideration & discharge of all pltf.'s claims to & against the land," showed that the arbitrators had decided pltf. had no further title to the land, & that it belonged to deft.—BOND v. BOND (1865), 15 C. P. 613.—CAN.

x. Award of sum of money for land.—Pltf. sued defts. for money awarded to be paid to pltf., as exors. & trustees of A., for land taken by defts. for their railway. Defts. pleaded that they had never taken possession of or used the land, & that, forthwith after publication of the award, they gave notice to pltf. that they had abandoned all intention of so doing, & withdrew from the purchase:—Held: defts., under 4 Will. 4, c. 29, s. 4, & subsequent stats. could not after the award was made withdraw from the purchase.—MITCHELL v. GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1874), 35 U. C. R. 148.—CAN.

1785 i. Award directing tenancy to terminate & land to be given up.—An award that deft. should release & give up to pltf. "the term of years (unexpired on a lease) as agreed to in the submission, & also deliver up the stock of farming utensils in proper order, & without further delay, & that the lease then held by both parties of the farm be immediately cancelled":—Held: not to amount to a deed of surrender

p. — — —.]—Motions to set aside or refer back awards made on Nisi Prius references under C. L. P. Act, s. 160, as contemplated by 39 Vict. c. 28, are only such motions as were allowable before the passing of the Act.

Where a motion was made to set aside the award of an arbitrator merely on the ground of the decision arrived at by the arbitrator being against the evidence or weight of evidence, the motion was refused.—TANNER v. SEWERY (1876), 27 C. P. 53.—CAN.

q. Not error of judgment.]—It is not competent to the ct. to set aside an award for error of judgment on the part of arbitrators, in the absence of misconduct or mistake.—RICKARDS v. RICKARDS (1873), 3 N. S. D. 227.—CAN.

r. Not inequity or injustice.]—Inequity or injustice, however apparent, affords no ground for setting aside a decree-arbitral.—PITCAIRN v. DRUMMOND (1822), 1 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 431.—SCOT.

s. Not excessive damages.]—The ct. refused to set aside an award on the ground of its unreasonable excessiveness, there being no evidence of corruption or misconduct on the part of the arbitrators, though the ct. would not on the evidence have arrived at the same conclusion.—CROUSE v. PARKE (1849), 6 U. C. R. 362.—CAN.

w. “Misconduct Meaning of.]—The word “misconduct,” as used in Civil Procedure Code, s. 521 (a), should be interpreted in the sense in which it is used in English law with reference to arbn. proceedings. It does not necessarily imply moral turpitude, but it includes neglect of the duties & responsibilities of the arbitrators, & of what cts. of justice expect from them before allowing finality to their awards.—GUNGA SAHAR v. LEKHRAJ SINGH (1886), 1 L. R. 9 All. 253.—IND.

x. — Inadequacy of award may be evidence of.]—The inadequacy of an amount awarded cannot in itself be sufficient ground for setting aside the award, but may be evidence of misconduct on the part of the arbitrators.—ROWAND v. MARTIN (1890), 7 Man. L. R. 160.—CAN.

y. — What must be proved—What constitutes waiver.]—A party to an arbn. does not waive his right to object to an award on the ground of misconduct on the part of an arbitrator by failing to object as soon as he becomes suspicious, & before the award is made; he is entitled to wait until he gets such evidence as will justify him in impeaching the award. It is not necessary that there should be absolute proof of misconduct before an award will be set aside on that ground; it is enough if there is a reasonable doubt raised in the judicial mind that all was fair in the conduct of the arbitrators.—Re DOBERER & MAGAW'S ARBITRATION (1903), 10 B. z. — Refusal to amend bad award.]—The refusal of arbitrators to amend a clearly bad award is misconduct.—DEB NARAIN SINGH v. RAJMONEE KOONWAR (1865), 3 W. R. 168.—IND.

a. — In weighing of evidence.]—In making an award the umpire stated that he relied on the evidence of one witness in preference to the evidence of some witnesses called on the other side. It was contended that his evidence had been improperly admitted, but no objection had been taken to the admissibility of the evidence before the arbitrators:—Held: the evidence having been admitted without objection, the weight to be given to the evidence was a matter for the consideration of the umpire, & his reliance on that evidence did not constitute legal misconduct.—Re KEE & NATIONAL MORTGAGE & AGENCY CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD. (1917), N. Z. L. R. 173.—N.Z.

b. — Refusal to receive proof.]—A refusal by an arbiter to receive proof, where proof is necessary, may amount to what the ct. would consider as a ground for setting aside an award.—JOHNSTON v. CHEAPE (1817), 5 Dow. 247; 3 E. R. 1318.—SCOT.

c. — Not refusal to state case.]—An unreasonable refusal to state a case on points of law, where power is given so to do, is not ground for setting aside an award.—BAILEY v. HART (1883), 9 V. L. R. 311.—AUS.

W. had given evidence on behalf of resps. on Nov. 3 & 30, with respect to the value of other property in the same neighbourhood, on claims against resps. Y. saw in the newspapers that W. was giving evidence in the other cases, & on Oct. 11, when the arbitrators & umpire went to view the premises, he had noticed that R. showed W. other property in the same neighbourhood, but he did not know, at the time he selected W. to act as umpire, that he was about to be retained by resps. to give evidence in other & similar cases. No objection was made by claimants, nor by any one on their behalf, that W. was not a disinterested person until Dec. 20:—Held: (1) claimants had sufficient knowledge of the position of W. before the award was made, & having given no notice of objection until Dec. 20, they must be taken to have consented to W. acting as umpire; (2) the objection was a proper one, had it been taken in time (STEPHEN, J.).—*Re CLOUT & METROPOLITAN & DISTRICT RY. 1818. — Evidence given on behalf of one of parties in other inquiry.]—There is no such necessary incompatibility in an umpire in one reference to arbn. acting as a witness, on behalf of one of the parties to it, in another & similar reference, as to invalidate his award on the ground of bias.—*Re HAIGH & LONDON & NORTH WESTERN & GREAT WESTERN RY. 1822. Failure to state case.]—If a party to an arbn., acting bonâ fide, requests the arbitrator on reasonable grounds either to state a special case for the opinion of the ct. upon some questions so arising & material for consideration, or to delay his award until the party can himself apply to the ct. for an order directing a special case, & the arbitrator refuses to comply with the request or by summarily making his award attempts to preclude the party from applying, the arbitrator is prima facie guilty of a breach of duty towards that party. But if the application is frivolous & made merely for the purpose of delay, the arbitrator will be right in refusing it & will be upheld by the ct. if he does so.

A breach of duty of this character is prima facie misconduct on the part of an arbitrator within s. 11 of the Act of 1889, & justifies the ct., even after an award has been completed, in setting it aside under s. 11 (2), or in remitting it for reconsideration under s. 10 (1).—Re PALMER & Co. & HOSKEN & Co., [1898] 1 Q. PART IV. SECT. 16, SUB-SECT. 2.—D.

1838 i. Fresh evidence.]—An award will not be set aside on the ground of the discovery of material evidence after the award, where the party who speaks as to the discovery of the paper swears only in general terms that he had made diligent search, etc., without stating the particular circumstances relating to the search & finding.—WOODWARD v. MERRITT, N. B. Dig. 55 (10).—CAN.

1838 ii. —.]—Pltf., having advised the arbiters that he could supply proof to controvert the facts on the assumption of which the findings proceeded & receiving no answer, brought an action of reduction of the decree-arbitral & of payment & damages. The ct. refused to set aside the decree-arbitral.—Mowbray v. Dickson (1848), 10 Duml. (Ct. of Sess.) 1102.—SCOT.

1838 iii. —.]—Discovery of fresh evidence is no ground for setting aside an award, unless it be shown satisfactorily why it was not before obtained.—DEAN v. PETERBOROUGH & COBBOURGH RY. CO. (1856), 2 P. R. 79.—CAN.

1838 iv. — Fraud.]—A claim was submitted to arbn.; the arbiters found that the property was not over-insured, & that the co. were liable; the co. brought a reduction of the decree-arbitral, averring that since the action was raised they had discovered that the insurance was fraudulent & that the property was actually destroyed by defender by fire:—Held: the first averment was relevant to set aside the decree.—HERCULES INSURANCE CO. v. HUNTER (1835), 14 Sh. (Ct. of 147).—SCOT.

v. — Surprise.]—Where parties to a protracted reference thought their case so strong that it would be impossible for the arbitrator to find against them, & did not do all that it was in their power to do to repel the case of their opponent, relief against an adverse award on the ground of surprise & discovery of new evidence was refused.—SEVERN v. COSGRAVE (1866), 2 C. L. J. O. S. 11.—CAN.

1838 vi. — Failure to proceed before umpire.]—An award will not be set aside, where pltf. has not been prepared to prove his case before the umpire.—REDMOND v. WADDY, Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 129.—IR.

u. Arbitrary decision — Civil Procedure Code, 1859, s. 324.]—It is no ground to set aside an award of arbitrators, under the above Code, that the arbitrators decided the case against the written statement of deft.—GOOROO CHURN DEY v. RAMDHONE PAUL (1867), 7 W. R. 28.—IND.

v. Not failure to give notice of taxation of costs.]—An award, after disposing of the different issues in pltf.'s favour, assessed his damages over & above his costs & charges at £52, & fixed the costs of the reference & award at £20. The costs of the suit were afterwards taxed without notice to deft., & a demand made of the amount awarded, the costs of the award as fixed by the arbitrator, & the taxed costs:—Held: the want of notice of taxation was not a ground for setting aside the award.—JONES v. REID (1852), 1 P. R. 247.—CAN.

z. Submission void.]—Parties agreed to refer their disputes to arbn., pltf. having been induced by threats to do so. The proceedings of the arbitrators were admittedly irregular, but an award was made against one of the parties who subsequently sued deft. in the county ct. The judge found that the arbn. proceedings were irregular, but was of opinion that pltf. had by his conduct & acquiescence waived all objections to the award:—Held: the agreement of arbn. was wholly void.—LAFERRIERE v. LOGAN TOWNSHIP (1899), 29 S. C. R. 702.—CAN.

d. All necessary parties not parties to submission.]—When, in a suit by wife against husband, the matter was referred to arbn., it is not a good objection to the award that no regular separation had taken place, & that the wife's next friend was not a party to the submission.—BATEMAN v. ROSS (1813), 1 Dow. 235, 244; 3 E. R. 684, 687.—IR.

e. All parties to suit not parties to submission.]—A. brought a suit against B. & his tenants, & it was arranged between A. & B. that the matter should be referred to arbn., the tenants not joining in the submission:—Held: the fact of the tenants not having joined in the submission did not vitiate the award.—BISHOKA DASIA v. ANUNTO LALL PAIN (1879), 4 C. L. R. 65.—IND.

f. —.]—An award made in the course of a suit is not rendered invalid by the mere fact that a party whose name was in the record, but who was not a necessary party to the suit, is not made a party to the arbn. proceedings.—*SABTA PRASAD v. h. Award calling for payment jointly & severally—Partners.]—Appls. & resps. entered into an agreement unitedly to cultivate sugar cane, but terminated the agreement. A question arose as between applts., who were partners, & resps., as to whether applts., on whose lands the canes had been cultivated, were entitled to retain the roots with or without compensation to resps., & the question as to the value of such roots to applts. was referred to arbn. The umpire decided applts. were to pay to resps. the sum of £2,708:—Held: the award could not be set aside, on the ground that it had been made against applts. jointly & severally.—TEDDER v. GREIG (1912), A. D. 73.—S. AF.

1843. Rejection of equitable case or question.]—The ct. will not review an award on a suggestion that the arbitrator, to whom all matters in difference were referred, considered only the legal & rejected the equitable questions, when the party applying does not state to the ct. any equitable case or question which he supposes the arbitrator to have rejected.—*CRAVEN v. 1846. Award void — Revocation.]—Where an award is void, & nothing can be done upon it without suit, the ct. will not interfere to set it aside, because such suit must fail. But where a cause is referred by order of Nisi Prius, & the arbitrator has power to order a verdict to be entered for either party, & he makes an award, ordering a verdict to be entered, although such award be void, the ct. will set it aside, for otherwise the party in whose favour the award is made will have judgment upon the verdict without any new proceeding to enforce the award.—DOE d. TURNBULL v. BROWN (1826), 5 B. & C. 384 ; 8 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 100 ; 108 E. R. 143.

1847. Award only bad in part—Defect causing no injury.]—It is no ground for setting aside an award that the arbitrator has provided for a future contingency not adverted to by the submission, if it should not be injurious to the party complaining. If it be injurious & be a matter not within the terms of the submission & the power of the arbitrator, the award may be set aside quoad that part of it alone, leaving the rest valid.—WINTER v. LETH-

l. Action to enforce award pending.]—Where an action on the award is pending an application to set aside will be refused, if the grounds could be urged as a defence under the pleas.—SMITH v. GEORGE (1854), 12 U. C. R. 370.—CAN.

Pending judge's order to stay proceedings.]—In a cause which had been referred to arbn. by an order of Nisi Prius, the arbitrator made an award in favour of deft., who thereupon signed judgment. Pltf. obtained a rule to set aside the award, notice of which was served upon deft. Deft. afterwards, & before the argument of pltf.'s rule, obtained a judge's order to stay all further proceedings until pltf. should have given security for costs :—Held : the ct. could not entertain the application for setting aside the award whilst that order remained in force.—*BADHAM v. 1853. — After defence to action on award. — Under a submission to arbn. containing no provision for making it a rule of ct. an award was made in June, 1859, finding a sum due from S. to W. In Dec., 1859, W. brought an action on the award, to which S. pleaded nul tiel agard, & adduced in support of the plea evidence that the arbitrators had made their award according to the opinion of a third party, & not their own. A verdict was found for S., leave being reserved to W. to move to have it entered for him. In June, 1860, the Ct. of Exch. discharged a rule nisi which had been obtained for that purpose, but in Dec., 1861, the Ct. of Exch. Ch. reversed that decision on the ground that the above defence was not available by way of plea. In Mar., 1862, S. filed his bill to set aside the award & to be relieved against the judgment:—Held (TURNER, L.J., diss.): pltf. must by his course of conduct be taken to have elected to defend himself against the award by defending the action & to abandon all other modes of opposition, & he must abide by the result of the action, & the bill had been properly dismissed.—*SMITH v. 1854. — Acquiescence. — Pltf. disputed an award of valuers for the price of growing crops, on the ground that it was made upon a wrong principle. On settlement he took the sum awarded, & signed a receipt for it, writing the words "under protest" at the top. He afterwards waited nine months, & then filed a bill:—Held: he was precluded by delay & what amounted to acquiescence from disputing the valuation.—PARROTT v. SHELLARD (1868), 16 W. R. 928.

If he fails to do so, the ct. is not wrong in not passing any order or coming to any decision on that point.*—RAJ NARAIN ROY v. JUGGESSUR MOOKERJEE (1870), 14 W. R. 247.—IND.

1852 vi. — Held: the adoption of an award by the ct. amounted to a ratification of what had been done by the arbitrators, & the parties, having made no objection to the action of the ct., must be taken to have waived any objection to the award.—*HAR NARAIN SINGH v. 1852 vii. — *Pltf. in a suit, which was one on an account stated, agreed to refer to arbn. the question whether the accounts were correct or not. 1852 viii. — Held: even if an award were bad, deft. having acted on it & accepted the benefits it gave him, had precluded himself from impeaching it.—BRIJ MOHAN LAL v. SHYAM SINGH (1901), 1 L. R. 24 All. 164.—IND.

1852 ix. — Parties to an award in a boundary dispute petitioned

1852 x. — Not attendance under protest. — Defts. applied to the ct. to set aside an award in favour of pltf., having previously attended the hearing of the arbn. after objecting to the jurisdiction of the arbitrators:—Held: their objection was not thereby waived.—*HIGGINS, FIELDING & WIGHT v. 1856. Application by party benefiting by alleged defect. — An award is not necessarily bad for want of finality, or for inconsistency, because the arbitrator has found for pltf. on one of the issues, in respect of which he has given no damages. It may be ground for moving to set aside the award at the instance of pltf., but not by deft., for he cannot be prejudiced by the omission to award damages.—*COX v. KERSLAKE, KERSLAKE v. See R. S. C., Ord. 52, r. 4.

1858. Grounds must be stated—Shortly. — In all orders to show cause why awards should not be set aside, the short grounds, on which they are applied for & obtained, must be stated.—SMITH v. BRISCOE (1822), 11 Price, 57; 147 E. R. 400.

o. Bill for rectification with prayer for general relief. — In a bill to rectify an award, because the arbitrators had acted beyond the submission, there was also a prayer for general relief:—Held: under this prayer for general relief pltf. was entitled to have the award set aside.—VERNON v. OLIVER (1884), 11 S. C. R. 156.—CAN.

p. By motion, not by writ. — The practice & procedure to be followed in Saskatchewan for setting aside an award is the practice & procedure as it was in England on Jan. 1, 1898, & the proceedings must be commenced by motion & not by writ.—SWIFT CURRENT v. LESLIE (1916), 33 W. L. R. 528; 9 W. W. R. 1024.—CAN.

q. Motion by summons in chambers. — A motion to set aside should be by summons in chambers, & not by notice of motion; but where resp. appears & does not object, he must be taken to waive the irregularity.—ANNABLE v. ANNABLE (1908), 8 W. L. R. 132; 1 Sask. L. R. 222.—CAN.

1893. —.].—An award having been made in vacation, a rule to set it aside was obtained on the last day of the next term, but the agreement of reference had not then been made a rule of ct. :—Held : the case was within the Act of 1698, s. 2.

A rule to make the articles of reference a rule of ct. was obtained in the vacation, as of the last day of the term in which the rule for setting aside the award had been granted :—Held : too late to support the latter rule.—Re HUGHES & EMMETT (1825), 3 L. J. O. S. K. B. 175.

1894. —.].—Application to set aside judgment founded on award.—An action of assumpsit in which the pleas were non assumpsit, & payment by persons unknown, was referred by an order of Nisi Prius which ordered, etc., "deft., by his counsel, admitting his liability to pltf. in respect of the several matters alleged in the declaration, that a verdict be entered for pltf., damages £20,000, costs 40s., but that such verdict shall be subject to the award of the arbitrator named." At the first meeting deft.'s counsel objected to proceeding without amending the order, alleging it to be doubtful whether as worded it enabled the arbitrator to find, on the second issue, for his client. Pltf.'s counsel contended that it was sufficient for that purpose, & the arbitrator expressed the same opinion, & said that he had power to direct a verdict for deft. on that issue; & the reference then proceeded. The award directed a verdict for pltf. on the first issue, & for deft. on the second. No motion was made to set aside the award within the time limited by law. But after the postea had been drawn up pursuant to the award, & judgment had been signed by deft., pltf. applied to set aside the postea, judgment & subsequent proceedings, on the ground that the arbitrator had exceeded his authority in directing a verdict on the second issue for deft. The ct. refused the rule, on the grounds (1) to grant it would be indirectly to set aside the award, which pltf. by his own laches had precluded himself from calling on the ct. to do directly; (2) as pltf.'s counsel at the reference had concurred in the view that the arbitrator had power over the verdict, & thereby prevented deft. from applying to have the order of reference amended, pltf. could not now be allowed to take the objection to the exercise of the power by the arbitrator.—GRAVATT v. ATTWOOD (1850), 1 L. M. & P. 392; 19 L. J. Q. B. 474.

1895. What constitutes "application"—Filing affidavit—Notice of motion insufficient.—The filing of an affidavit in support of a notice of motion to set aside an award is a complaint within the Act of 1698, s. 2, which requires complaint to be made within a certain time, though notice of motion alone is not sufficient.—Re HUDDERSFIELD CORPN. & JACOMB (1874), 10 Ch. 1896. —.].—Service of notice of motion.—An action having been referred to arbn., the award was published on July 14. On Nov. 24 (being the last day but one of the old Michaelmas term) defts. moved the ct. to set aside the award, but the ct. refused the application on the ground that notice of motion had not been given to pltf. as required by R. S. C., 1875, Ord. 53, rr. 3 & 4. Defts. afterwards,

1897. —.]—An award was made & published on Feb. 27. Notice of motion to set it aside was served on May 20. The motion did not appear in the day's list for hearing during the Easter sittings, which ended on May 23, but came on to be heard afterwards:—Held: the notice of motion having been given before the last day of the sittings next after the award, the "application" was within the time prescribed by R. S. C., Ord. 64, r. 14, & the motion was not too late.—Re GALLOP & CENTRAL QUEENSLAND MEAT EXPORT CO., LTD. (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 230; 59 L. J. Q. B. 460; 62 L. T. 834; 38 W. R. 621.

1898. Grounds for extension — Mere intimation of intention.]—Deft. gave pltf. to understand he intended to move to set aside an award between them. Pltf., who intended to make the same motion, allowed a term to elapse, & then moved, deft. having omitted to do so:—Held: no sufficient reason for the delay.—EMET (EMMETT) v. OGDEN (1831), 7 Bing. 258; 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 88; 131 E. R. 99.

1899. — Failure to take up award owing to excessive charges.]—On a reference of a cause & all matters in difference by a judge's order one of the parties moved, after the proper time, to set the award aside:—Held: no excuse for the delay that the arbitrator made an exorbitant charge for the award, in consequence of which the party applying did not take it up.—*MACARTHUR v. 1902. — — — — — Refusal to allow order to be made rule of court.]—Where a submission was by order of reference at Nisi Prius, & defts., in whose favour the award was made, had possession of the order of reference, & although requested by pltf., delayed making it a rule of ct. till it was too late to move within the time ordinarily limited for setting aside an award, the ct. ordered defts. either to make the order of reference a rule of ct., or to file it with one of the masters, so as to enable pltf. to make it a rule of ct., & allowed pltf. to move to set the award aside in a subsequent term nunc pro tunc.—BOTTOMLEY v. BUCKLEY (1845), 4 Dow. & L. 157.

1903. — Facts not known in time.]—A cause being pending, it was agreed to refer it to arbn., which was done by articles of agreement, & not by order of a judge:—Held: (1) an award made under the reference was made under the Act of 1698; (2) it was no excuse for not making a motion to set it aside in the term next after the award was made & published that the submission had not then been made a rule of ct.; (3) a motion subsequently made was too late, even though the facts on which the motion was made had not come to the knowledge of the party within that time; (4) a person moving to set aside an award not under the above Act, after the time for moving for a new trial had expired, must show clearly to the ct. the reasons why the application was made so late.—*REYNOLDS v. 1905. — Information of award.]—Where, upon a reference of a cause & all matters in difference, pltf. was informed, on the last day of Easter term, that the arbitrator had awarded that a sum of money was due from him to deft.:—Held: an application, made on the last day but one of Michaelmas term, to set aside the award, on the ground that pltf. had received no notice of a meeting before the arbitrator, at which it was arranged that pltf. should reply on deft.'s case, was too late.—*HEMSWORTH v. 1906. — Illness of applicant.]—The sickness of a person, who desires to set aside an award, is not a sufficient excuse for postponing the application to the ct. beyond the term next after the publication. He should move to have the time enlarged.—GUARDINO v. BROWN (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 57; 2 Jur. N. S. 358; 4 W. R. 456.

1907. — Proceedings pending in Chancery.]—Where a rule nisi had been granted to set aside an award involving certain accounts, & before it came on for argument cross bills had been filed in Ch. by each party for the taking of the accounts, the Ct. of Exch., with the consent of the parties, enlarged the rule generally until the first term after the chief clerk's certificate had become final.—STAFFORD v. STAFFORD (1871), 25 L. T. 572.

1908. Powers of Court in regard to enlargement of time.]—The ct. has power, under R. S. C., Ord. 64, r. 14, to enlarge the time for moving to set aside an award, notwithstanding the expiration of the time limited by the Act of 1698, s. 2.—Re OLIVER & SCOTT (1889), 43 Ch. D. 310; 59 L. 1909. Previous rule.]—Held: a motion to set aside an award under the Act of 1698 must be made before the last day of the term next after the award should have been made & published, & the ct. had no discretionary power to extend the time for making the motion.—Re SMITH & BLAKE (1838), 1 Will. Woll. & H. 406 ; 2 Jur. 1015.

1910. No extension by consent.]—A motion to set aside an award cannot be made, even with the consent of both parties, later than one term after the award has been published.—*Re NORTH BRITISH RY. 1911. Waiver of objection.—Taking office copy of affidavits.]—A rule had been obtained in Easter term for setting aside an award on the ground of misconduct in the arbitrator. The rule was enlarged to Trinity term upon the usual terms that all affidavits to be used in showing cause should be filed four days before the commencement of that term. On showing cause it was sought to object to the reading of the affidavits on the ground that they had not been duly filed :—Held : the party objecting was estopped by having taken office copies of the affidavits objected to.—Re MACKAY (1843), 1 Dow. & L. 206 ; 12 L. HOULTON* (1804), 5 East, 21 ; 102 E. R. 976.

1914. —.]—On motions to set aside awards where there is no cause pending, it is not necessary that the affidavits on showing cause should be entitled with the christian & surnames of the parties, although the rule is generally drawn up with the names of the parties, as if there was a cause pending.—ANON. (1804), 1 Smith, K. B. 358.

1915. Sufficiency of affidavit.]—Where it was stipulated that in case of the breach of an agreement the sum of £100 should be received as a stipulated debt binding on each party, as to the amount, & an action for damages generally, for the breach of this agreement, was referred to an arbitrator, who awarded only £10 damages :—Held : in order to entitle the party to come to set aside this award, it was necessary expressly to state in the affidavit that this clause was pointed out to the arbitrator at the time, & that he was required to act upon it.—PINKERTON v. CASLON (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 704 ; 106 E. R. 522.

—Must show that claims alleged to have been omitted were not considered.]—Where cross actions & all matters in difference are referred to arbn., & the award decides the actions only, it is no objection to the award that a claim not included in either action was brought before the arbitrator upon which he has not adjudicated, unless it be also averred that he did not take such claim into his consideration.—*R. v. 1929. Original submission.]—The original agreement of reference may be looked at on a motion to set aside an award, though the rule nisi be not drawn up on reading it, for the rule nisi is drawn up on reading the rule making the agreement of reference a rule of ct., & the agreement of reference is in law part of the rule embodying it.—OSWALD v. GREY (EARL) (1855), 24 L. J. Q. B. 69.

1930. Inspection of documents referred to in affidavit.]—Notice of motion to set aside an award on the ground of misconduct of an arbitrator having been given, an affidavit was sworn by the arbitrator for the purpose of being used by the party in whose favour the award was made at the hearing of the motion. This affidavit referred to certain letters which had passed between that party's solr. & the arbitrator. The affidavit was not filed, but a copy of it had been furnished to the opposite party:—Held: the letters were documents referred to in an affidavit within R. S. C., Ord. 31, r. 15, & a judge had jurisdiction to make an order for inspection of them under r. 18 of the order.—Re FENNER & LORD, [1897] 1 Q. B. 667; 66 L. J. Q. B. 498; 76 L. T. 376; 45 W. R. 486, C. A.

1931. Further affidavits admitted.]—A rule was obtained to set aside an award made in favour of pltf., on the ground that it decided matters not included in the order of reference. In opposition to this rule affidavits were made that the arbitrator decided those matters at the request of deft. Deft. asking leave to adduce affidavits to contradict this, the ct., while declining to lay down any rule of practice, granted the application, at the same time giving pltf. leave to answer the affidavits proposed to be made.—*PRITCHARD v. #### E. Costs.

1933. Whether applicant entitled to.]—Pltf. is not entitled to the costs of an unsuccessful motion to set aside an award, although the improper construction which deft. had put on the award induced the application.—HOCKEN v. GRENFELL (1837), 4 Bing. N. C. 103; 6 Dowl. 250; 3 Hodg. 250; 5 Scott, 391; 132 E. R. 728.

1934. Where rule refused but case remitted back.]—A rule to set aside an award upon the ground that the arbitrator had improperly rejected evidence was discharged as to that ground, but the award was referred back to the arbitrator to state what portion of the sum awarded by him was awarded in respect of the action & what portion, if any, in respect of the other matters in difference. The arbitrator certified that there were before him no matters in difference but the action:—Held: pltf. was entitled to the costs of the rule.—GODDARD v. SMITH (1849), 13 L. T. O. S. 159.

F. Appeal.

1935. County court order of reference—Court of Appeal.]—A suit in a county ct. having been referred by the judge thereof to an arbitrator, under County Cts. Act, 1846 (c. 95), s. 77, & the arbitrator's award having been entered up as the judgment, an application was made to the judge to set aside the award, on the ground that the arbitrator had exceeded his jurisdiction by taking into consideration matters not referred to him. The judge having refused the application:—Held: the Ct. of Appeal had no jurisdiction, under County Cts. Act, 1850 (c. 61), s. 14, to entertain an application on appeal from the judge to set aside the award.—MAYER v. FARMER (1878), 3 Ex. D. 235; 47 L. J. Q. B. 760; 26 W. R. 760.

SUB-SECT. 1.—JURISDICTION.

1938. Apart from statute—No power without consent.]—An arbitrator made his award in pltf.'s favour, but, in calculating the sum claimed to be due, made a mistake in the amount of the sum which pltf. was supposed to be entitled to recover:—Held: the ct. had no authority after the arbitrator had made his award to refer the award back without the consent of the parties.—Ex p. CUERTON (1826), 7 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 774.

1939. — Power to remit second time.]—Where an order of reference has a clause empowering the ct., if the award be disputed, to remit the matters for the reconsideration of the arbitrator & the case

u. — Application granted without costs.]—When the ground on which an award was set aside was not raised by the notice of motion to set aside, the application was granted without costs.—Re HUSBANDS & HUSBANDS (1884), 10 V. L. R. 208.—AUS.

v. Who liable for—Arbitrator.]—An award was set aside on the ground that the referee had not heard the parties & had conferred with each of them separately. The referee was a party to the action to have the award set aside:—Held: no costs should be allowed to or against the referee because, although he acted injudiciously, he had tried to deal fairly.—*WILKERSON v. c. — ——On a motion to the ct. to interpose their authority to a judicial award the other party stated that he had not been sufficiently heard, that, for some time prior to the issue of the award, the arbirer had neither seen nor heard the parties, & that he had, in the interim, taken up new views, prejudicial to the party objecting, & had acted on them in the award, without making the parties previously aware of this or issuing any notes of his intended award. The ct. refused to interpose their authority & remitted to the referee to hear the parties further.—BAXTER v. MACARTHUR (1836), 14 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 549.—SCOT.

d. — ——Arbitrators met, & two agreed upon an amount & told the third (who dissented) that they intended to award that amount, & afterwards, in the absence of the third, & without notice to him, they increased the award; the objection being that the same two arbitrators took evidence secretly & without notice to the third, & during his absence, by going to see a mill at the urgent request of deft.:—Held: there was sufficient ground to refer the case back.—*HALL v. 1953. Refusal to certify for costs.]—An action involving a question of right was referred to arbn. by an order of reference, which gave the arbitrator the same power as a judge at Nisi Prius under 3 & 4 Vict. c. 24, s. 2, & provided that, in case of any defect, the cause might be referred back to him by the ct. Deft. pleaded thirteen pleas. The arbitrator found all the issue for pltf., with a farthing damages, but, being applied by him to certify for costs that the action was really brought to try a right, he refused. Upon motion to refer back the case to be amended:—Held: where parties, by their consent to the order of reference, placed the arbitrator in the situation of a judge at Nisi Prius, the ct. would not send the case back to him, unless they would, in similar circumstances, have directed a new trial for want of the certificate.—*BERRY v. q. Arbitrators not bound to state case.]—An award was in favour of pltf., & one of the arbitrators certified that the contract was binding, & the engineer's certificate conclusive, & that the award had been based on that assumption. Pltf. moved to refer back the award with a direction that the contract did

If the award went back to the arbitrator, & it appeared he had not acted in a way inconsistent with the statements made by deft.'s counsel, he would say, "I am satisfied with the award as it stands," & then it must stand, & the parties must be satisfied with the result (per CUR.).—*PEAT v. The arbitrators having disagreed, the umpire made his umpirage, & subsequently, at the request of applts., set out the principles upon which he had acted, with a view of enabling applts. to have the question discussed in ct. Upon a rule calling upon defts. to show cause why the umpirage should not be sent back to the umpire, in order that he might state the facts more fully, the ct. refused to interfere, as applts. had had the opportunity of getting a case stated, & instead of doing so, had taken their chance of getting the umpirage made in their favour.—*LONDON DOCK CO. v. #### PART IV. SECT. 17, SUB-SECT. 4.

1960 i. How made—By notice of motion.]—An application to remit an award back to arbitrators was refused by the chambers judge, on the ground that it was made by summons instead of upon notice of motion:—Held: pltf. having failed to comply with the practice provided in Jud. Act (Ord. 52, r. 4), the application was properly dismissed.—AUSTEN v. BERTRAM (1891), 23 N. S. L. R. 379.—CAN.

1962 i. When made—After entry of judgment.]—After entry of judgment by pltf. in a referred action it is too late to move to refer back to enable an arbitrator to certify for costs.—KEEF v. HAMMOND (1863), 9 U. C. L. J. 157.—CAN.

1971. — Power of arbitrator over costs.]—By order of Nisi Prius, & consent of parties, a cause was referred to an arbitrator, who was to determine what he should think fit to be done by the parties respecting the matters in dispute, the costs of the cause to abide the event, the costs of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. Power was reserved to the ct., in case of any objection being made to the award, to refer back the cause to the same arbitrator. The arbitrator awarded in favour of pltf., ordering deft. to pay the costs of the reference & award. On motion to set aside the award, as uncertain & not final, the ct. ordered the award to be referred back to the arbitrator, for the purpose of his deciding on certain matters specified in the order. Nothing was said as to costs in this order. The arbitrator made an amended award, deciding on the matters referred back, confirming his first award in all other respects & ordering deft. to bear the costs of the amended award:—Held: he had power to make the order as to costs, under the original order of reference.—M'RAE v. 1988. Who may apply—Solicitor refused.]—A cause had been referred, & an award made that a co., who were parties to the award, should pay pltf. a sum of money. Before the money was paid, pltf. became bkpt., & his attorney claimed the money from the co. for his costs, which exceeded the amount awarded. The co. having refused to pay the attorney without the consent of bkpt.'s assignees, the attorney applied to the ct. for an order upon the co. to pay the amount:—Held: the claim was not sufficiently free from doubt to warrant the ct. making an order, which since s. 18 of the above Act would have the effect of a judgment, but the attorney's remedy was by an action in his client's name upon the award. Qu., whether, even if the claim had been free from doubt, the ct. would have granted a rule to enforce payment of an attorney's lien.—*HOLCROFT v. 1990. — Bankrupt plaintiff—Tort.]—An action for an illegal arrest having been referred, the award directed that final judgment should be entered for pltf., with £50 damages, & gave him the costs of the reference & award. The arbitrator had no authority to direct judgment to be entered, & the award was remitted to the arbitrator, who, in a second award, recited that he had made a former award, that it had been referred back, & gave pltf. the same damages & costs of the reference & award, & also the costs of the amended award. After the first award pltf. became insolvent. The vesting order was made after the reference back, & a few days before the second award. On an application that defts. should pay to pltf. or his attorney the damages awarded & both sets of costs:—Held: the action being for a personal tort, no right could pass to the assignees until the matter was adjudicated on, which was not done until the second award, & as that award was not made until after the vesting order, the title of pltf. would be good unless the assignees interfered, which they had not done, & the application must be granted.—*BREARCY v. 1992. Only where money payable by rule itself.]—Under an agreement of reference a sum was awarded to be paid by pltf. to deft., & afterwards the agreement was made a rule of ct.:—Held: deft. could not, by virtue of the rule of ct., issue execution for the sum, under s. 18 of the above Act, that clause being applicable, for such purpose, only where the money payable by the rule was expressed in the rule itself.—*JONES v. That was a very suspicious beginning [of the practice]; it arose out of a suggestion made by the ct., which was, therefore, eminently extra-judicial; but there are a number of cases reported in which these orders have been made, & the practice of making them is now inveterate (MAULE, J.). *Refd. 1998. Doubts as to validity of award.]—It is competent to take any objection, which would be available on showing cause against a rule for an attachment for non-performance of an award, in showing cause against a rule to show cause why a sum should not be paid pursuant to an award, in order to issue execution, under s. 18 of the above Act, & if there be a doubt whether the award be good, the ct. will not make a rule absolute for payment of the money directed by the award.—SPENCE v. CLARKSON (1842), 6 Jur. 1112.

1999. —.]—Where an arbitrator directed a verdict to be entered for defts., which he had no power to do, & ordered pltf. to pay certain costs, & there was a question of law as to the validity of the award, the ct. refused a rule calling upon pltf. to show cause, under the above sect., why he should not pay the costs awarded.—DICKENSON v. ALISOP (1845), 13 M. & W. 722; 2 Dow. & L. 657; 14 L. J. Ex. 136; 4 L. T. O. S. 330; 153 E. R. 303.

Annotation:—Reid. Smith v. Troup (1849), 7 C. B. 757.

2000. —.]—A cause & all matters in difference between the parties were referred to two arbitrators & an umpire, the costs of the cause to abide the result. The umpire awarded that all further proceedings in the cause should thenceforth cease & be no further prosecuted, & that pltf. should pay to deft. 12s. 0½d., found to be due to him. A demand was made of £21 16s. 2d., being the costs in the cause, but not of the 12s. 0½d. A rule having been obtained, calling on pltf. to show cause why he should not pay deft. both those sums, the ct., considering the validity of the award doubtful, refused to make the rule absolute even as to the sum demanded.—TATTERSALL v. PARKINSON (1848) 2 Exch. 342; 17 L. J. Ex. 208; 154 E. R. 524.

2001. — Sum not ascertained due & payable when award made.]—The ct. refused to make an order under s. 18 of the above Act, for the payment of a sum alleged to have become payable under an award, where the money was not ascertained to be due & payable at the time of the making of the award.—GRAHAM v. DARCEY (1848), 6 C. B. 537; 6 Dow. & L. 385; 18 L. J. C. P. 61; 12 L. T. O. S. 149; 136 E. R. 1358.

2002. — Payment to third party directed—Affidavit.]—A dispute between A. & B., two ship-owners, as to a collision, was by agreement referred, the agreement providing that “all such disputes & differences, claims, demands, & damages in respect thereof, should be referred to the arbitrators,” & that “all the costs & charges in & about the submission, the reference, & award, should be in the discretion of the arbitrators.” The arbitrators ordered “that all disputes between the parties touching the matters in difference should cease & determine,” that A. should pay “for the damages & costs incurred by B. in consequence of the collision, £72 6s.,” & that “the arbitrators charges & expenses attending the reference, amounting to £62 14s. 10d. should be borne in equal proportions by A. & B., & that the sums of £72 6s. & £62 14s. 10d., making together £135 0s. 10d., should be paid, within ten days from the execution of the award, to C.” The ct. refused to make a rule, under s. 18 of the above Act, ordering A. to pay the £72 6s. to B., there being nothing on the face of the award to show how the payment to C. was to enure as a payment for the benefit of B., although there was an affidavit stating that C. was agent for B.’s vessel, & acted as his agent in the matter of the arbn., & that the money was directed to be paid to him as such agent.—Re LAING & TODD (1853), 13 C. B. 276; 138 E. R. 1204.

2003. — Sum made payable to arbitrator himself.]—By an agreement of reference between P. & S., costs were in the discretion of the arbitrator. The award directed that £149 5s. 7d., being the costs of the award, should be paid by the parties in the following proportions: that £25 should be paid by P. to certain attorneys forthwith, & £124 5s. 7d., the residue, should be paid by S. in like manner, & if P. paid any part of the £124 5s. 7d., that S. should repay it to him. On an application by P. for a rule calling on S. to pay the several sums:—Held: as the arbitrator had fixed in the award the amount payable to himself, the matter was too doubtful to grant a rule.—PARKINSON v. SMITH (1861), 30 L. J. Q. B. 178; 9 W. R. 340.

2004. — Objection not apparent.]—Where on a rule nisi ordering deft. to pay a sum of money due under an award, a question was raised as to the validity of the award, on the ground of its having been executed by the arbitrators at different times & not in the presence of each other, the ct. refused to decide that question on such a motion, & discharged the rule.

Where a cause has been referred by a judge’s order:—Semle: a party showing cause against a rule to pay the sum awarded is confined to objections apparent upon the submission & the award, & cannot bring the pleadings before the ct. on affidavit for the purpose of objecting to the sufficiency of the award.—WRIGHT v. GRAHAM (1848), 3 Exch. 131; 18 L. J. Ex. 29; 12 L. T. O. S. 199; 154 E. R. 787.

2005. Objection not apparent on face of award—Affidavits.]—It is not competent to a party, in answer to a motion under s. 18 of the above Act, to raise by affidavit any objection which does not appear upon the face of the award, as, for instance, that the arbitrator (the action referred being for a libel, with a plea of not guilty, & a justification as to part) has found for pltf. on the first issue (the finding on the second being for deft.), but without damages.

By an order of reference, a cause & all matters in difference were referred to a barrister, “but so as the reference hereby made be not proceeded with until the arbitrator hereby appointed shall have made & published his award in an action of T. v. A., now pending in the Ct. of Exch., & which action has been referred to the award of the arbitrator.” Upon a motion under the above sect.:—Held: it was no answer to the rule that the award omitted to state on the face of it that, previously to proceeding with the reference, the arbitrator had made an award in T. v. A., for the ct. would presume that he did his duty.—DAVIES v. PRATT (1855), 17 C. B. 183; 25 L. J. C. P. 71; 139 E. R. 1039.

2006. Perjury alleged—Not apparent on face of award.]—It is no answer to a rule to pay money pursuant to an award that the party, in whose favour the award is made, has, since the award, been committed to take his trial for perjury, committed during the arbn.

This objection could only have been available, if at all, on a motion to set aside the award. Pltf. has not applied to do that, & the time for setting aside the award is not past. It is almost a sacred rule that on a motion for a rule to pay money pursuant to an award no objection can be raised except for matters apparent on the face of the award (CROMPTON, J.).—WOOLLEN v. BRADFORD (1864), 33 L. J. Q. B. 129; sub nom. BRADFORD v. WOOLLAM, 3 New Rep. 490; 9 L. T. 731; 10 Jur. N. S. 206; 12 W. R. 381.

found the amount of damages, & then found a further sum to be due for costs, but did not distinguish the amount due to the referees, & awarded the sum so found due for costs to be paid to O., who was only mentioned in the attestation clause of the award as clerk to the attornies of the successful party:—Held: a rule might be granted to compel the payment of the sum awarded for damages, for, if the award of the costs were in any degree defective, it was separable from the rest of the award.—Re LLOYD & SPITTLE, Re ADDISON & SPITTLE (1849), 18 L. 2010. Where cross-claim or set-off.]—If a person, ordered to pay money under an award, satisfies the ct. that he has a bond fide claim for a cross-demand larger than the sum awarded which he might reasonably hope to support by way of set-off to an action on the award, the ct. will not grant a rule ordering him to pay the sum awarded. Semble: it is otherwise, if the set-off be one cognisable only in equity.—SWAYNE & BOVILL v. WHITE & PONSFORD (1862), 31 L. J. Q. B. 260; 10 W. R. 759.

(c) Procedure.

2011. Service & demand—What required.]—Upon a rule calling upon deft. to show cause why he should not pay a sum of money awarded against him under a reference of a suit to arbn., the ct. made the rule absolute, though the forms of service required under the old practice on motions for attachments had not been pursued.—DOE d. MOODY v. SQUIRE (1842), 7 Jur. 236.

Annotation:—Distd. Wilson v. Foster (1843), 6 Man. & G. 149.

2012. .].—In order to obtain a rule for the payment of money under an award & allocatur, personal service in general is necessary, but this may be dispensed with in special circumstances.

Where a rule to show cause on Nov. 20 had not been served on deft. until that day at Birmingham, the ct., on the 25th (the last day of term), refused to make it absolute, but enlarged it till the next term.—HAWKINS v. BENTON (1844), 2 Dow. & L. 465; 1 New Pract. Cas. 49, 60; 14 L. J. Q. B. 9; 8 Jur. 1122.

2013. .].—It is not necessary, on an application for a rule for payment of money pursuant to an award, to show the same formalities of demand & refusal which are necessary on moving for an attachment.—Ex p. STANESBY (1845), 4 L. T. O. S. 353.

2014. Demand—Necessity for.]—A motion for a rule calling on deft. to show cause why he should not pay a sum of money due on an award was refused, where there had been personal service of the award & allocatur, but no demand of payment by an attorney duly authorised.—CHENNET v. COOPER (1845), 6 L. T. O. S. 157.

2015. — Personal demand dispensed with—Party evading service.]—A personal demand of money payable under an award, with a view to a proceeding on a rule of ct., under s. 18 of the above Act, may be dispensed with, where the party is evidently keeping out of the way to avoid the demand.—SMITH v. TROUP (1849), 7 C. B. 757; 6 Dow. & L. 679; 18 L. J. C. P. 209; 13 L. T. O. S. 73; 137 E. R. 300.

2016. Demand by one—Award to pay to either of two.]—An award directed deft. to pay a certain sum to pltf. or S., his attorney:—Held: a demand by S. was sufficient to found a motion under the above sect.—HARE v. FLEAY (1851), 11 C. B. 472; 2 L. M. & P. 392; 20 L. J. C. P. 249; 17 L. T. O. S. 184; 15 Jur. 1038; 138 E. R. 557.

Annotation:—Refd. O'Toole v. Pott (1857), 7 E. & B. 102.

2017. Demand by one of several.]—An award, made on a reference of an action by two pltf. to recover debt. from deft., ordered deft. to pay a sum of money to pltf. One pltf. alone demanded the money from deft., & swore that deft. had not paid him, & to the best of his belief, had not paid his co-pltf. nor the attorney, & that the money was still wholly due & unpaid. On an application on the part of pltf. for a rule calling on deft. to pay the money pursuant to the award:—Held: the demand by one pltf. was sufficient to warrant the granting the rule.—DREW v. WOOLCOCK (1854), 24 L. J. Q. B. 22; 3 C. L. R. 78.

2018. Service of rule—Personal service.]—A rule obtained with the view to issue execution under s. 18 of the above Act for payment of money due under an award & master's allocatur, which have been personally served, is notwithstanding such service a rule to show cause only, & the ct. refused to make that rule absolute without a personal service of it, there not appearing to be any difficulty in effecting it.—WINWOOD v. HOULT (HOLT, HALL) (1845), 14 M. & W. 197; 3 Dow. & L. 85; 15 L. J. Ex. 10; 5 L. T. O. S. 178; 9 Jur. 454; 153 E. R. 447.

2019. — — — Unless party evading.]—Personal service of a rule nisi to pay a sum of money under an award cannot be dispensed with, unless it appear that deft. is evading service. Service on his attorney is not sufficient.—EVANS v. PROSSER (1865), 5 New Rep. 318; 34 L. J. Q. B. 256; 11 L. T. 718; 13 W. R. 351.

2020. — — — Unless party left jurisdiction—Service at residence.]—An action for mesne profits was, together with all matters in difference between the parties, referred to arbn., & the arbitrator awarded deft. to pay to pltf. £1,850, with the costs of the reference & award, which were afterwards taxed by the master at £86 14s., & an allocatur to that amount made accordingly. A party having been sent to deft.'s residence to make a demand of the money, found his premises in the possession of his daughter-in-law, who said they had been assigned to her by deft., who had left the country. The ct., on affidavit of the above facts, granted a rule, calling on deft. to show cause why he should not pay the amount of the award & allocatur, the rule to be served on the daughter-in-law. Semble: if personal service on deft. had been effected, & a demand made of the amount, the rule would be granted absolute in the first instance.—DOE v. AMEY (1841), 8 M. & W. 565; 1 Dowl. N. S. 23; 10 L. J. Ex. 466; 5 Jur. 898; 151 E. R. 1163.

2021. — — — — —.]—Where deft. had said that he would not pay under an award, a rule nisi to pay the money was made absolute, upon proof that it had been served by leaving it at deft.'s house, in the hands of his sister-in-law, who said that his wife was upstairs in bed, & that deft. had gone to America.—STYRING (STYRLING) v. LLOYD (1864), 3 New Rep. 488; 9 L. T. 730; 12 W. R. 384.

2022. — Filing not allowed.]—Upon a rule calling upon deft. to show cause why he should not pay a sum of money awarded against him, the ct. refused to allow service of the rule by affixing it in the master's office, it appearing that deft. was out of the kingdom.—WILSON v. FOSTER (1843), 6 Man. & G. 149; 6 Scott N. R. 936; 12 L. J. C. P. 330; 134 E. R. 844.

FLEAY* (1851), 11 C. B. 472; 2 L. M. & P. 392; 20 L. J. C. P. 249; 17 L. T. O. S. 184; 15 Jur. 1038; 138 E. R. 557.

2024. Proceedings — Production & deposit of award.]—When a rule is granted to pay money pursuant to an award, the original award must be produced & deposited with the master at the time of drawing up the rule. The fact that the award has been deposited as a security with a person who has advanced money on it, & who declines to produce it on the drawing up of the rule, & to allow it to be deposited with the master for fear of losing his lien on it, is no sufficient reason for allowing the rule to be drawn up on production of a verified copy, for if the lender is willing to assist in the application & produces the award, & gives the master notice that he is entitled to it, the master will draw up the rule and will hold the award for the lender until the judgment of the ct. has been executed & then return it to him.—DAVIS v. POTTER (1852), 21 L. J. Q. B. 134.

SUB-SECT. 3.—BY JUDGMENT AND EXECUTION PURSUANT TO ORDER OF REFERENCE OR WHEN VERDICT ENTERED SUBJECT TO AWARD.

2031. Power to enter judgment without order.]—Where a verdict is taken pro forma at the trial for a certain sum, subject to the award of an arbitrator, the sum afterwards awarded is to be taken as if it had been originally found by the jury, & pltf. is entitled to enter up judgment for the amount without first applying to the ct. for leave to do so.—*LEE v. Execution ought not to be had for it before the day of payment.—CALLARD v. PATTERSON (1812), 4 Taunt. 319; 128 E. R. 352.

2034. —.]—Where a verdict has been found, subject to a reference, & the award has not been made until some terms afterwards, judgment cannot be entered up as of the term next after the verdict, without a special application to the ct.—BROOKE v. FEARNES (1833), 2 Dowl. 144.

2035. —.]—In Mar., 1854, at the Spring Assizes a verdict was entered for pltf. subject to a reference. In Apr. following pltf. died. On the last day of Michaelmas Term the arbitrator made his award, directing that the verdict for pltf. should stand :—Held : as by 17 Car. 2, c. 8, an exor. was entitled to two terms from the verdict to enter up judgment, & as the verdict was inchoate only till the award was made, & the extrix. could not have entered up judgment in Michaelmas Term, an application in the following Easter Term to enter up judgment as of Easter Term, 1854, nunc pro tunc, was in time.—*HEATHCOTE v. 2044. Only what necessary to support claim.]—In action of debt upon an award pltf. need show forth nothing more than is necessary to support his

PART IV. SECT. 19, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

b. Right to bring action—Civil Procedure Code, s. 327, not imperative.]—A suit lies to enforce an award made without the intervention of a ct. of justice. The procedure provided in the above Code is not imperative upon pltf., who seeks to enforce an award so made.—PATANIAPPA CHETTI v. RAYAPPA CHETTI (1868), 4 Mad. 119.—IND.

c. Form of action.]—Pltf. had been awarded a certain sum in accordance with the terms of an instrument under seal:—Held: for the non-payment of such award pltf. should sue in covenant, & he could not sue in assumpsit unless some new consideration, apart from the written instrument, could be proved.—TAIT v. ATKINSON (1845), 3 U. C. R. 152.—CAN.

d. Nature of action — Action on award not action for specific performance.]—A suit to enforce an award cannot be treated as a suit for specific performance of a contract within Indian Limitation Act, 1877, Sched. II., art. 113.—SHEO NARIAN v. BENI MADHOB (1901), I. L. R. 23 All. 285.—IND.

e. ———.]—A suit for the recovery of a certain sum of money with interest due on an award is not a suit for specific performance, but for the recovery of money & for relief incidental thereto. Such a suit is, therefore, not affected by f. Who may bring action.]—When an award directs two to pay each a certain sum, & one is obliged to pay the whole, the party so paying can compel contribution by suing the other in covenant for non-performance of the award.—ALLEN v. COY (1849), 7 U. C. R. 419.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 19, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

g. Non-payment of sum awarded.]—Non-payment of the money awarded is a sufficient breach, without averring notice of an award.—TURNER v. ALWAY (1836), 5 O. S. 45.—CAN.

h. ———.]—In debt on an award the declaration set out an award that deft. should pay £900 in a particular way, & assigned as a breach non-payment in the terms of the award, but did not negative payment in money:—Held: the declaration was bad.—KINGSTON BANK COMRS. v. DALTON (1840), 1 Ont. Dig. 113.—CAN.

k. That award made within reasonable time.]—When the submission does not limit any time for the award, pltf. need not aver that it was made within a reasonable time, nor allege notice of the award.—ADAMS v. HAM (1848), 5 U. C. R. 292.—CAN.

l. Whether readiness to perform counterpart must be averred.]—An award directed that deft. should pay pltf. a sum of money, & that on such payment pltf. should deliver two parcels of sleepers. In an action on the award for the money:—Held: it was not necessary for pltf. to aver a readiness to deliver the sleepers.—HASSELL v. WILSON (1850), 1 All. 618.—CAN.

m. Written award.]—An arbitrator verbally awarded that deft. should pay to pltf. $25. Subsequently he made a written award to the same effect. Pltf. having sued as upon a verbal submission:—Held: it was not necessary to produce the written award.—DAVIS v. MCGIVERN (1853), 11 U. C. R. 112.—CAN.

n. Matters must be identified with award.]—Plea in assumpsit on an award:—Held: bad, for not identifying the matters referred with the cause of action.—CALVIN v. MCPHERSON (1854), 4 C. P. 150.—CAN.

o. Submission bond executed by defendant.]—In an action on an award it is sufficient to produce the submission bond executed by deft., without that executed by pltf.—TOWSLEY v. WYTHES (1858), 16 U. C. R. 139.—CAN.

p. Whether whole award must be set out.]—Where an action is on the award, & not on the bond, it is not necessary to claim.—PERRY v. NICHOLSON (1757), 1 Burr. 278 ; 2 Keny. 557 ; 97 E. R. 313.

2045. Mutual submission.]—In debt on an award, the execution of the submission by all the parties must be proved.

It was necessary for plffs. to allege a mutual submission by all the parties. There was no sufficient evidence of the execution of the bond by plffs. By declaring on the award, plff. takes upon himself the onus of proving a mutual submission. By declaring on the bond, he transfers the burden of proof to deft., for it lies on the latter to discharge himself from the penalty by showing a performance of the conditions (BAYLEY, J.).—FERRER & ROLLASON v. OVEN (1827), 7 B. & C. 427 ; 1 Man. & Ry. K. B. 222 ; 6 L. J. O. S. K. B. 28 ; 108 E. R. 783.

2048. Order of court & award.]—In action upon an award, the declaration stated that a former cause was pending, & by a rule of ct. was referred to the award of A., & that he duly made & published his award of & concerning the premises so referred to him, & did thereby find, etc. To this deft. pleaded that A. did not duly make & publish his award of & concerning the premises referred, in manner & form, etc.:—Held : the production of the award (which was good on the face of it), & of the rule of ct., was prima facie sufficient to support the issue on the part of plff., & if deft. wished to impeach the award, he must do so by his own evidence.—GISBURNE (GISBORNE) v. 2049. Not partiality of arbitrator.]—To debt upon an award deft. pleaded nil debet :—Held : partiality in the arbitrators could not be given in evidence, for the remedy was in equity, or at law by action against the arbitrators if they had been corrupt.

The plea of nil debet prima facie admits the award, & there never was an instance where this kind of evidence was permitted to be given. It would be to suffer evidence that affects third persons, the arbitrators themselves. An award is a judgment by judges chosen by the parties themselves, & a jury in a special verdict cannot find any matter or fact dehors the award ; by parity of reason, nothing dehors the award (as partiality is) can be given to them in evidence. If this evidence was permitted, plff. would be wholly unprepared at the trial, for all that he has to do is to prove the submission & the award ; the corruption or partiality of the arbitrators may be wholly unknown to plff. ; it concerns the arbitrators themselves (Per (UR.)—WILIS v. MACCARMICK (1763), 2 Wils. 148 ; 95 E. R. 736.

set out the whole award, but only so much as will support plff.'s case.—McCALLUM v. MCKINNON (1865), 15 C. P. 561.—CAN.

q. — Award bad in part.—The ct. had decided that one portion of an award was bad, but the other portion good. Plff. sued for non-compliance with the latter, but omitted to set out the former part:—Held : the omission was immaterial.—BOND v. BOND (1865), 16 C. P. 327.—CAN.

r. Not demand or elapse of reasonable time.—C. L. P. Act, s. 171 did not in any way alter the pleadings in the case of awards. Where the declaration showed the submission on a certain day & the award within a few days thereafter:—Held : it was not necessary to aver a demand to comply with the award, or that a reasonable time had elapsed before action.—REID v. REID (1866), 16 C. P. 247.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 19, SUB-SECT. 4.—C.

s. In general.—Any facts which vitiate an award (misconduct of arbitrators excepted) are pleadable in bar of an action on the award, notwithstanding they are not apparent on the face of the award.—RIDEOUT v. STICKNEY (1849), 1 All. 350.—CAN.

t. Jurisdiction of court.—In answer to a bill to enforce an award, deft. by answer objected to the jurisdiction of the ct., the submission providing that the submission & award should be made a rule of the Queen's Bench or Common Pleas:—Held : the objection to the jurisdiction would have prevailed if properly taken, as the parties to the submission had agreed upon their forum, but deft., having submitted to the jurisdiction by his answer, & himself asked the intervention of the ct., could not then be heard to object at the hearing on bill & answer.—MOORE v. BUCKNER (1881), 28 Gr. 606.—CAN.

u. Not fraud of arbitrators.—A plea setting up fraud on the part of the arbitrators as a defence to an action on the award is bad.—BOULTENHOUSE v. MILNER (1876), 3 N. B. R. (Pug.) 690.—CAN.

2050 i. Whether invalidity of award.]—On a motion for the enforcement of an award, its validity may be impeached.—BUCKLEY v. LAND & WORKS BOARD, GRAHAM v. VICTORIAN RAILWAYS COMRS. (1893), 19 V. L. R. 522.—AUS.

2050 iii. — Misconduct of arbitrator.]—To an action on an award, deft. pleaded on equitable grounds that the arbitrator proceeded ex p., without notice to deft., refused to hear deft. & his witnesses, or allow him a reasonable opportunity of proving his case, & examined plff. & his witnesses privately & in the absence of deft.:—Held : plea bad.—PEUCHEN v. LAMB (1875), 25 C. P. 588.—CAN.

2050 iv. — Award not properly executed.]—Semble : an objection that two arbitrators made the award without notice to the third can be taken advantage of in an action on the award.—SMITH v. GEORGE (1855), 12 U. C. R. 370.—CAN.

2054. Award not award of arbitrators.]—Where an award is valid in form, & is made on all the matters referred & on no more, & is intended by the arbitrators to express their decision, an objection that the arbitrators had made their award without exercising their own judgment, but according to the opinion of a third person, by whose decision they had beforehand agreed to be bound, cannot be taken on a plea of nul tiel agard to an action on the award, but ought to be raised on a motion to set the award aside.—WHITMORE v. SMITH (1861), 7 H. & N. 509; 31 L. J. Ex. 107; 5 L. T. 618; 8 Jur. N. S. 514; 10 W. R. 253; 158 E. R. 574, Ex. Ch.

2055. Not fraud of parties or misconduct of arbitrators.]—Where an agreement of reference takes place out of ct. & there is no clause that the submission shall be made a rule of ct., the award not being under the Act of 1698, fraud of the parties interested in the award, or misconduct of the arbitrators making it, cannot be reached at law. You cannot plead such fraud or misconduct to an action on the award; neither can you in an action on the award go into evidence to prove such fraud or misconduct (LEACH, M.R.).—DYER v. DAWSON (1822), 1 Coop. temp. Cott 420; 47 E. R. 929.

2056. Not irregularity in conduct of arbitrators.]—A. gave a bond & judgment to B. for balance of an account, & B. assigned the judgment to C. After submission by A. & C., & award that C. was entitled to the benefit of the judgment, a bill was filed by C. on the ground of the award, & it was objected by A. that the judgment was given to B. for a much larger sum than was really due, & upon an understanding that it was to stand only as a security for what was actually due, & that the award had been made in his absence, & that the arbitrators had not given him credit for several sums which he had paid to B. on account of the judgment. The objections of A. had been stated before the arbitrators by his counsel & solrs.:—Held: C. was entitled to the benefit of the judgment for the whole sum.—HILL v. BALL (1828), 2 Bli. N. S. 1; 1 Dow. & Cl. 164; 4 E. R. 1030, H. L.

2054 i. Award not award of arbitrators.]—Pursuers sued for the balance of the price of the crop on a farm taken over by defender as incoming tenant, & fixed by arbiters. The defence was that there had been no award by the arbiters, who had differed, & that the reference devolved on the oversman, who had fixed a sum as the price of the crop:—Held: a good defence.—LONDONS v. HUNTER (1881), 18 Sc. L. R. 502.—SCOT.

1. Invalidity of submission—Statute of Frauds.]—Deft. assigned certain lands to pltf., & covenanted to put him in possession. The covenant having been broken, pltf. & deft., by parol, referred their differences to an arbitrator, who, by parol, awarded that pltf. should reconvey the land to deft., & that deft. should pay £100 to pltf. Pltf. tendered a re-conveyance of the land to deft., & deft. having refused to accept, pltf. brought an action on the award for £100:—Held: the action was not maintainable, the contract between the parties being for an interest in land, which had not been reduced into writing, as required by the above Stat.—JOHNSTON v. M'ALLISTER (1835), 1 Jo. Ex. Ir. 499.—IR.

g. — Lack of power to refer.]—*Held: a person, who had stated that the other side had no power to refer, was entitled to plead the incompetency of the reference by way of exception against a demand for the sum awarded.—THOMSON'S TRUSTEES v. MUIR (1867), 6 M. 145.—S. AF.

h. Objections dehors award.]—*ROCHE v. R. (1845), 8 L. Eq. R. 638.—IR.

k. Performance — Must be proved.]—To an action on an award deft. pleaded performance only. At the trial a verdict was entered for deft.:—Held: deft. not entitled to a verdict in his favour, for he had pleaded performance which he had failed to prove.—ANDERSON v. VAN BUSECK (1859), 18 U. C. R. 172.—CAN.

l. Not receipt expressed to be in full of all dues & demands, etc.]—Where a party had, subsequent to an award, paid the other party a sum of money & taken a receipt from him expressed to be in full of all dues & demands to date:—Held: the receipt, although prepared by one party in good faith & signed by the other with knowledge of its contents & of all the circumstances, was no bar to an action on the award.—BENNETT v. MURRAY (1865), 1 Old. 614.—CAN.

m. Plea of no award.]—*Held: under a plea of no award a party could not dispute the arbitrators' authority to award a particular sum, but might have pleaded nunquam indebitatus, which would have brought the submission in issue.—HODGSON v. WHITBY TOWN (1858), 17 U. C. R. 230.—CAN.

n. Set-off.]—A set-off of a sum certain is a good plea in debt on a submission bond, assigning as a breach the non-payment of a sum certain awarded.—LINGFORD v. MUSGROVE (1843), 6 O. S. 642.—CAN.

o. — Receipt by plaintiff of money to defendant's use.]—In an action on an award:—Held: as no defence had been set up to the award at the trial, & no action taken to set aside the award, deft. could not set up a defence that pltf. had since received money to deft.'s use.—MCKENZIE v. SOMMERS (1864), 14 C. P. 97.—CAN.

p. Lack of opportunity to have award altered.]—It is not sufficient cause against an action on an award that the unsuccessful party, not having been furnished with the minutes of the award, had lost the opportunity of suggesting certain alterations in it.—BEWLEY v. SULLIVAN (1833), Hayes & J. 354.—IR.

q. Effect of plea of nunquam indebitatus.]—In an action of assumpsit upon an award:—Held: the general issue of nunquam indebitatus put in issue the submission to arbn., the enlargement of the time & the making of an award in accordance with the submission.—ABBOTT v. SKINNER (1861), 7 U. C. L. J. 158.—CAN.

SUB-SECT. 5.—BY ACTION ON BOND.

2058. Necessity for demand.]—An award, on a controversy respecting a lease & arrears of rent, that the party should pay so much for the arrears is a sum in gross, payable without demand.

Debt upon an obligation of £100, conditioned for the performance of the award of A. of all matters betwixt them. A. had awarded that deft. should pay to pltf. £13 6s. 8d. for rent in arrear of a house, & should pay half yearly for the enjoyment of the house for three years & a half £15 at the Annunciation, & Saint Michael, or within forty days after, & that, if he failed of the payment, that then the award for his enjoying the house should be void. Deft. pleaded payment of the £13 6s. 8d. at the days, & pleaded the tender of the rent at the tenement, & that none were there to receive it:—Held: this rent or sum was a sum in gross, & payable without demand by deft. at his peril, who ought to seek out the obligee to pay it.—FURSER v. PROWD (1617), Cro. Jac. 423; 79 E. R. 361.

2059. —.]—Pltf. & deft. had submitted themselves to the award of an arbitrator indifferently chosen between them to arbitrate, ordain & finally adjudge of & upon the premises, & deft. undertook & promised pltf. that, if deft. should not perform the award to be made, he would pay £40 to pltf.

when he should be thereunto requested. The arbitrator awarded that deft. should pay to pltf. various sums amounting in all to £8, & that both parties should give mutual releases, & that deft. should deliver a fine to pltf. In assumpsit pltf. set out the above facts & alleged that deft. had not paid the £8, nor delivered the fine, nor paid the £40 to pltf. according to his promise, but pltf. did not allege any demand of the £40:—Held: the declaration must aver a special request.—BIRKS v. TAYLOR (1843), 2 Kerr. 120.—CAN.

2060 vii. — Non-performance.]—Where to debt on an arbn. bond, deft. pleaded performance & pltf. replied setting out the award, which was for payment by deft. of a debt due to A. by pltf. & deft. as co-partners, & that pltf. was obliged to pay the debt to A., but did not show otherwise than by inference that it had not been paid by deft.:—Held: the replication was bad.—LYMBURNER v. NORTON (1845), 1 U. C. R. 485.—CAN.

2060 viii. — Proof of award.]—In debt on bond:—Held: the award was sufficiently proved by showing that defts. had acted upon it by paying a portion of the sum awarded.—HUGHES v. MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF DISTRICT OF NEWCASTLE (1852), 9 U. C. R. 387.—CAN.

2060 ix. — In answer to plea of no award.]—Action on bond. Plea, that the bond was conditioned to perform an award, & no award made:—Held: pltf. must reply specially, denying the condition, or setting out an award & alleging a breach, & he could not take issue.—COWAN v. WHITE (1863), 9 U. C. L. J. 131.—CAN.

2060 x. — Informal declaration insufficient.]—Declaration in debt alleging a reference by bonds with a penalty, & setting out the award thereon, assigning breaches for non-performance, & concluding "whereby an action had accrued to recover the sum of £1,000 above demanded":—Held: had as an informal declaration on the bond of submission.—SIMPSON v. MOFF (1843), 6 O. S. 511.—CAN.

2062 i. Defences—In general.]—Any facts which vitiate an award (except misconduct of the arbitrators) may be pleaded in bar to an action on the arbn. bond.—RIDEOUT v. STICKNEY (1849), 1 All. 350.—CAN.

2062 ii. — Objections in law.]—In debt on bond to perform an award, a plea setting forth more legal grounds of objection is bad.—BOYD v. DURAND (1836), 5 O. S. 122.—CAN.

2062 iii. — Where two separate parts to award.]—If there be two separate parts in an award, an answer to one part cannot be pleaded in bar of both in an action on bond to perform an award.—BOYD v. DURAND (1836), 5 O. S. 122.—CAN.

2062 iv. — Award out of time.]—Submission by bond. On the day limited the arbitrators were prepared to award, but, all parties believing the time would not expire until next day, deferred the publication then at deft.'s request, & heard further evidence on both sides next day, & then made their award:—Held: the extension of time was a parol submission, & assumpsit was maintainable thereon for not performing the award, although no action would lie on by due & sufficient experiments & trials then and there made; (2) leave should be given to amend by taking issue on the sufficiency of the experiments.—HANSON v. BOOTHMAN (1810), 13 East, 22; 104 E. R. 274.

2070. Doubt.]—The ct. will not grant an attachment for non-performance of an award, if there be the least doubt as to its correctness, but will leave the party to his action or enlarge the rule nisi to afford time to amend the award.—MIDDLETON'S CASE (1823), 1 L. J. O. S. K. B. 153.

2071. —.]—An attachment will not be granted for disobedience of an award, unless the duty to be performed or the money to be paid be distinctly ascertained therein.—GRAHAM v. DARCEY (1848), 6 C. B. 537; 6 Dow. & L. 385; 18 L. J. C. P. 61; 12 L. T. O. S. 149; 136 E. R. 1358.

2072. As of course.]—An attachment goes of course for non-performance of an award.—ANON. (1774), Lofft, 451; 98 E. R. 742.

2073. Second application.]—In showing cause against a rule for attachment for non-performance of an award, affidavits cannot be used to show that the award is impracticable, uncertain or not final, nor can the award be impeached except for defects apparent on the face of it. The rule, that an application once disposed of cannot be renewed under the same circumstances & for the same object, is not binding in all cases.

An award directed that A. should pay the arbitrators' costs, & should be reimbursed by B., & a rule for an attachment against B. for not reimbursing A. was discharged, because the affidavits did not show that A. had paid them to the arbitrator. A. had not then paid them, but had given his note for the amount which he afterwards paid. On a second motion an attachment was granted, on the ground that the payment by A. was a new fact, which took the case out of the ordinary rule, it appearing also that there had been contumacy in the party against whom the rule was directed & hardship on appct.—Re BUTLER, BAKER & MASTERS (1849), 13 Q. B. 341; 116 E. R. 1293; sub nom. BUTLER v. MASTERS, 13 L. T. O. S. 23; sub nom. MASTERS v. BUTLER & BAKER, 18 L. J. Q. B. 328; 13 Jur. 869.

2075. Claim for interest on sum awarded.]—On an award directing payment of money at a certain time, interest from that time till payment may be recovered by action, but not by motion for attachment.—Re CHURCHER & STRINGER (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 777; 1 Dowl. 332; 109 E. #### D. Effect of Contemporaneous Proceedings.

2076. Action on award.]—Upon award made a rule of ct., the party may proceed both by action & attachment at the same time.

H. bound himself in a bond to stand to the award of S. An award was made & the party, in whose favour the award was, moved for an attachment for non-performance which was granted. Pending that he brought an action on the bond. A motion that he might not proceed both ways was denied for the reason that pltf. would have no satisfaction upon the attachment.—ANON (1703), 1 Salk. 73; 91 E. R. 69.

Annotation:—Expld. Stock v. De Smith (1735), Cunn. 160. In the case in 1 Salk. 73 no action was depending when the attachment was granted, though in that case I should have thought it considerable whether, when he had got bail to his action, the ct. should not have stopped the attachment; but, however, the attachment there was granted before any action brought (LORD HARDWICKE, C.J.).

ment for breach of it, as the proceedings upon the attachment were begun first & could not hinder the proceeding by way of action, which was a greater & more beneficial remedy. Semble: it would have been otherwise if the action on the award had been brought before the motion for attachment.—PATERSON v. GROSS (1732), 2 Barn. K. B. 227; 94 E. R. 466.

2078. —.]—If a party bring an action on an award, he is precluded from moving for an attachment for non-performance.—STOCK v. DE SMITH (SMITH) (1735), Cunn. 160; Lee temp. Hard, 106; 95 E. R. 66.

2079. —.]—To a prayer for an attachment for non-performance of an award, it was objected that an action of debt had already been brought in the Common Pleas on the same award:—Held: after the party had made his election by bringing an action, the ct. ought not to grant an attachment, & no other rule should be granted than a rule for an attachment, on pltf. undertaking to discontinue his action.—ANON. (1738), Andr. 299; 95 E. R. 407.

2085. Filing affidavit of debt in Court of Bankruptcy.]—An arbitrator having awarded a sum of money to be paid by debt. to pltf., the latter filed an affidavit of debt in the Ct. of Bkpcy., under Judgments Act, 1838 (c. 110), s. 8, & debt. then entered into a bond, conditioned, in the words of the Act, for the payment of the money, but omitting the alternative of rendering himself to gaol:—Held: pltf. was not precluded by having adopted that proceeding from proceeding by attachment.—MENDELL (MENDEN) v. TYRRELL (1841), 9 M. & W.

E. Grounds of Objection to Application.

2086. Willingness to perform.]—An award required deft. (inter alia) to pay pltf. a sum of money, & to pull down a wall which he had built upon pltf.'s ground. On an application for an attachment for breach of the award deft. stated on affidavit that he had actually tendered the money to pltf. that was due upon the award, & was ready to pull down the wall, provided pltf. would be bound to enter into a rule of ct. not to bring an action of trespass against deft. for so doing:—Held: these were reasonable terms to be agreed to, & the rule should be made absolute for the attachment, the rule to lie in the officer's hand, & not be executed at all, provided deft. should pull down the wall within a month's time.—PALUCER v. COTTON (1734), 2 Barn. K. B. 460; 94 E. R. 618.

2089. Pending application to set aside award.]—The ct. will not grant an attachment for non-payment of a sum of money awarded, which was demanded while a rule for setting aside the award was pending.—DALLING v. MATCHETT (1740), Willes, 215; Barnes, 57; 125 E. R. 1138.

2091. Not defects not apparent on face of award.]—A party cannot, in showing cause against an attachment for not performing an award, impeach the award for defects not appearing on it.—HOLLAND v. BROOKS (1795), 6 Term Rep. 161; 101 E. R. 489.

SIMPSON* (1844), 1 Ont. Dig. 122.—CAN.

d. New arrangement subsequent to award.]—Attachment will not be granted where a new arrangement has been made between the parties, subsequent to the award; but the successful party will be

e. Execution of trust deed after award.]—Execution by deft. of an assignment in trust for creditors, by which pltf. is to be first paid, & acceptance of such assignment by pltf., is no answer to an application for attachment on an award for the same debt.—MCKENZIE v. MCKENZIE (1856), 2 P. R. 157.—CAN.

2094. Illegality apparent on face of award.]—Upon an application for an attachment for non-performance of an award, the submission to which was made a rule of ct. by virtue of the Act of 1698, it is competent to the parties to object to the award for any illegality apparent upon the face of it, although the time limited by that stat. for applying to the ct. to set aside the award is expired.—*PEDLEY v. 2096. Performance.]—An award directed that deft. should not again use a certain way, & was made a rule of ct. On an application for attachment for disobedience of the rule, it being alleged that acts of trespass had been committed by deft.'s domestic & other servants, it appeared that, since the making of the award, he had neither used the way himself, nor permitted or authorised its use by any of his servants, & that the instances of user relied on by pltf. had been by day labourers, persons not so much under the control of their employer as domestic servants might be supposed to be:—Held: the application must be refused, as deft. had not been guilty of anything that could be reasonably construed to amount to a breach of good faith.—RUSSELL v. YORKE (1837), 4 Scott, 422; 1 J. P. 125; 1 Jur. 356.

F. Proceedings.(a) Service of Award.

2099. Necessity for personal service.]—The ct. will not infer personal service of an award to bring a party into contempt.—BRANDER v. PENLEAZE (1814), 5 Taunt. 813; 128 E. R. 912.

2100. —.]—The ct. will not grant an attachment against an attorney, to compel the payment of money in pursuance of an award, unless personal service can be proved, the party having another remedy open to him, namely by action.—TURNER v. BLUNDELL (1848), 12 L. T. O. S. 177.

2101. —.]—The ct. will not break in upon the rule which requires personal service for the purpose of an attachment, although deft. keeps himself secluded in order to evade service, & there is reason to believe that the rule of ct. has been brought to his knowledge.—THOMAS v. RAWLINGS (1859), 28 L. J. Ex. 347; 33 L. T. O. S. 186.

2102. Sufficiency of service.]—On a motion for attachment for not performing an award, it appeared that the affidavit of service was that the deponent showed deft. the award & rule, & before he could give him a copy deft. left his house & a copy was left at the door:—Seemle: this was insufficient service.—R. v. ASHLY (1725), 11 Mod. Rep. 396; 88 E. R. 1111.

2104. —.]—To constitute a proper service of an award, a copy must be delivered to the party, & the original must, at the same time, be shown to him.

Where the copy was personally delivered to the party on Oct. 21, & a demand of performance made on the 23rd, the original being then for the first time shown:—Held: this was not such a service as to form the foundation either of an attachment or of a rule under Judgments Act, 1838 (c. 110), s. 18.—LLOYD v. HARRIS (1849), 8 C. B. 63; 7 Dow. & L. 118; 18 L. J. C. P. 346; 13 L. T. O. S. 258; 137 E. R. 432.

2105. Service on Sunday.]—If an award be made by rule of ct., & the party who refuses to obey the award absconds, so that he cannot be found on a weekday, a service thereof on a Sunday is sufficient to bring him into contempt whereon to have an attachment.—ANON. (1697), 12 Mod. Rep. 158; 88 E. R. 1233.

2106. Personal knowledge sufficient.]—Personal knowledge of an award & rule of ct. makes the party liable to an attachment for not performing the award, although he has not been personally served.—Re BOWER (1823), 1 B. & C. 264; 107 E. R. 98.

H. not complying with the award, a demand was duly made on him on C.'s behalf for payment of the three specific sums, but H. did not pay any of them. On an application by C. against H. for an attachment for not paying the three sums:—Held: assuming the direction to pay the £62 10s. to be valid, no attachment could issue in respect of that sum, as it was not shown that C. had paid it in the first instance for the arbitrator's use, but the ct. could mould the rule, & the attachment might issue in respect of the other two sums.—Re CARDIGAN (EARL) & HENDERSON (1852), Bail Ct. The agreement of reference having been made a rule of ct., the rule being entitled "In the matter of the arbn. between A. & B., A. v. B.," & the £52 18s. & taxed costs of the action of A. v. 2130. How intitled.]—Where a submission to an award is made a rule of ct. under the Act of 1698, there being no action, the affidavits on which to apply for an attachment for disobeying the award need not be intitled in any cause, but the affidavits in answer must.—BEVAN v. BEVAN (1790), 3 Term Rep. 601; 100 E. R. 755.

2135. ——— Time.]—It is not necessary that an affidavit for an attachment for non-performing an award should state that it was made before the authority of the umpire expired, if the affidavit of execution appears from the jurat to have been sworn before that time.—TREW v. BURTON (1833), 1 Cr. & M. 533; 3 Tyr. 559; 2 L. J. Ex. 236; 149 E. R. 511.

2136. ———.]—Where the making & publishing of an award are sworn to, but without fixing the time, the award itself bearing date within the time limited by the order of reference, on motion for an attachment for non-performance, the ct. will not presume that the award was made & published after that time.—*DOE d. 2138. Enlargement of time.]—Where an award is made after the time originally given to the arbitrators, but authority was also given to them to enlarge the time, an award within the enlarged time authorised is good upon the face of it, though it do not recite that the arbitrators did in fact enlarge the time; but the ct. will not grant an attachment for non-performance of the award without the verification of the fact.—*GEORGE v. 2130 i. How intitled.]—In an application for an attachment for the non-payment of money awarded, the rule nisi was intitled, "In the matter of A. v. B." The affidavit of service was intitled in the same way. The rule making the submission a rule of ct. was intitled in that ct., "A. v. B." The affidavit of the execution of the award was intitled in the ct. where the application was made:—Held: there was no material variance between the intituling of the rule nisi & the other previous papers.—*Re BECKETT v. 2149. ———.]—Where an arbitrator, to whom a case was referred, awarded that the action should cease, & that a sum of money should be paid by pltf. to deft., & deft.'s costs having been taxed, both sums were demanded of pltf.:—Held: inasmuch as the arbitrator had exceeded his authority in directing payment of the sum of money to deft., an affidavit which stated that deft. demanded of pltf. the sum of money, & also the amount of the costs, but that pltf. did not pay the same, or any part thereof, was not sufficient to ground an attachment.—POYNER (PAYNER) v. HATTON (1840), 7 M. & W. 211; 8 Dowl. 891; 10 L. J. Ex. 64; 151 E. R. 742.

2150. ———.]—Where a demand is made, under power of attorney, for payment of money, pursuant to an award, it is sufficient to found a rule for an attachment if the attorney swears to the demand & refusal, & that the sum remains unpaid, & it is not necessary that the party himself shall swear that the money was not paid.—R. v. PAGET (1841), 5 Jur. 872.

Where the rule was for an attachment against A. & B. jointly for non-performance of an award, & the affidavits showed a non-payment of one sum by A. & of another sum by B. due from them severally, the ct. discharged the rule.—Re ANDREWES & ANDREWES (1845), 5 L. T. O. S. 202.

2154. Proof of mutual bonds.]—In an action for an escape upon process of attachment, for contempt in not performing an award, pltf. alleged in his declaration that there were mutual bonds of submission, but failed in proving this fact, & proved the rule of ct. ordering the attachment, but had not set it out in his declaration:—Held: the action could not be maintained, the proof being defective in one case, & the statement defective in the other.—BRAZIER v. JONES (1828), 8 B. & C. 124; 2 Man. & Ry. K. B. 88; 6 L. J. O. S. K. B. 261; 108 E. R. 989.

costs.—MASTERS v. BUTLER & BAKER (1849), 18 L. J. Q. B. 328; 13 Jur. 869.

2156. Procedure when award lost.—The ct. may proceed to enforce an award by attachment upon proof of the copy or draft of an award, on being satisfied that the original is lost.—Re DARWIN (1831), 9 L. J. O. S. K. B. 183.

See, also, No. 2133, ante.

G. Costs.

2158. "Costs of attachment"—Costs of inquiry included.—An attachment for non-performance of an award was ordered to remain suspended to await the result of an inquiry, but it was to be discharged upon payment of the costs of the attachment, if deft. performed certain conditions within a certain time. Deft. having failed to perform the condition within the time, the attachment issued, & deft. then complied:—Held: the costs of the inquiry were to be considered as part of the costs of the attachment.—TYLER v. CAMPBELL (1839), 5 Bing. N. C. 192; 1 Arn. 465; 7 Scott, 116; 132 E. R. 1078.

H. Effect of Attachment.

2159. Does not exempt from performance of award.—A party attached for contempt in not performing an award, & sentenced to imprisonment for a definite period, is not, by undergoing such imprisonment, exonerated from the performance of the award.

The non-performance of the award is not a single act of contempt which will be purged by a definite period of imprisonment; but the prisoner may, at the expiration of the term for which the ct. upon this occasion sentences him, if the award shall then remain unperformed, be again brought up to answer for his continuing contempt. Nor will he thereby, as I conceive, be relieved from an action upon the award (WILDE, C.J.).—R. v. HEMSWORTH (1846), 3 C. B. 745; 8 L. T. O. S. 162; 136 E. R. 299.

SUB-SECT. 7.—SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

See, generally, SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

2161. Principle on which granted or refused—Invalid submission—Statute of Frauds.—Where, in the course of the proceedings before an arbitrator, the parties agree by parol that the arbitrator shall determine as to a lease to be granted, such an agreement is within the above Act, & the award, having directed a lease to be made, cannot be enforced.—WALTERS v. MORGAN (1792), 2 Cox, Eq. Cas. 30 E. R. 169.

2163. — Misconduct of arbitrator—Refused.—M. being possessed of a house & lands for a term of years under a lease, by the covenants of which he was bound to keep & deliver up the premises in repair, at the expiration of the term, entered into an agreement with C., who had acquired the reversion in the premises, subject to the term, that C. should grant to him a new lease; & thereupon an agreement between M. & C. was executed, whereby C. agreed to grant to M. a lease of the premises for a term of forty-seven years, at such yearly rent as should be put upon the same by two chosen arbitrators, & in case of difference between them, that an umpire should be named by them, & the rent fixed by a majority of the three. The arbitrators having differed, an umpire was called in, who with the arbitrator for M., the tenant, received evidence to show that, at the date of the agreement between M. & C., the premises were in a very ruinous state, & that it would require £800 to put them in repair. Upon this view of the case, & assuming as the basis of their award that M. was not bound to repair, & that he had agreed to expend £800 in repairs, they adjudged & awarded that a rent of £60 per annum should be paid by M. to C. during the term of forty-seven years. But the arbitrator for M., the tenant, had differed from the umpire as to the amount of rent, & refused to concur in a larger rent than £43, until he was prevailed on by the entreaty of M.'s wife to concur with the umpire in fixing the rent at £60:—Held: M. was not entitled to specific performance of the agreement, in the circumstances attending the award.—CHICHESTER v. M'INTIRE (1830), 4 Bli. N. S. 78; 1 Dow & Cl. 460; 5 E. R. 28.

2164. — Delay—Refused.—Pltf. agreed to lease a coal mine to deft. on such terms as arbitrators might fix. An award was signed, & possession having been previously taken, specific performance was sought on the footing of the award:—Held: three years & a half delay in the filing of the bill after possession had been given up was a complete answer to the suit for specific performance.—EADS v. WILLIAMS (1854), 4 De G. M. & G. 674; 3 Eq. Rep. 244; 24 L. J. Ch. 531; 24 L. T. O. S. 162; 1 Jur. N. S. 193; 3 W. R. 98; 43 E. R. 671, L.C.

2165. — Award ultra vires—Good in part only.—The ground on which the Ct. of Ch. interferes to decree specific performance of an award not made a rule of that ct. is that the award is an agreement between the parties to the submission, & that most, if not all, of the principles regulating specific performance are applicable. If the arbitrator exceeds

ment on an award is no bar to subsequent action on the same award, though the ct. may stay the action so that deft. be released from the attachment.—DEXTER v. FRIZGIBBON (1857), 4 U. C. L. J. 43.—CAN.

his authority, or does not decide all the matters submitted to him, or decides something which cannot be carried out consistently with the intention of the parties as shown by the terms of the submission, specific performance of the award cannot be decreed, as the award, to that extent, does not embody an agreement between the parties. Semble: the ct. cannot in such a case separate that part of the award which cannot be enforced, & decree specific performance of the rest.—NICKELS v. HANCOCK (1855), 7 De G. M. & G. 300; 3 Eq. Rep. 689; 1 Jur. N. S. 1149; 44 E. R. 117, L.JJ.

Annotation:—Refd. Blackett v. Bates (1865), 2 Hem. & M. 610.

2166. — Relief not mutual—Delay—Award partly unenforceable.—An award directed the execution of a lease to pltf. of certain portions of a railway running over deft.'s land, & further provided that the lessor might from time to time require the lessee to supply engine-power during such time as he should keep an engine or engines for use. Twelve months after the date of the award, pltf. filed a bill for specific performance, & the ct. decreed specific performance of so much of the award as related to the execution of the lease, & by the same decree, after declaring that deft. was entitled during the continuance of the lease, & during such time as the lessee should keep an engine or engines for use, but not otherwise, to require the lessee to supply engine-power, awarded an injunction to restrain pltf. from interfering with deft. in the enjoyment of his rights, & privileges. On appeal LORD CRANWORTH, C. reversed the decree, on the ground that the relief was not mutual, inasmuch as specific performance could not be granted of the portion of the award which required pltf. to supply engine-power. Semble: the delay of pltf. in filing his bill, having been caused by his own proceedings at law to set aside the award, would have been fatal to his success, if there had been no other objection.—BLACKETT v. BATES (1865), 1 Ch. App. 117; 35 L. J. Ch. 324; 13 L. T. 656; 12 Jur. N. S. 151; 14 W. R. 319, L. C.

2167. Annuity awarded.—R. agreed with Y., for valuable consideration, to pay an annuity to W. for the joint lives of W. & R. Afterwards, at the suggestion of Y., R. consented to allow the matters in question to be referred to arbn. R. declined to comply with the award of the arbitrator, & a bill was filed by Y. & W. against R. to enforce compliance with the award, or (alternatively) for specific performance of the previous agreement:—Held: a suit to enforce pltf.'s demand was sustainable in equity.—PEEL v. PEEL (1869), 17 W. R. 586.

o. Regulations of 1895—Applicability of.—An action of damages by a tenant against his landlord was referred.

On motion to have the authority of the ct. interposed to the award, defender objected that the referee had not allowed a re-hearing after issuing his notes, as required, or at least that he had granted it under such conditions as practically amounted to a refusal, & that the arbitrator had misunderstood the issues:—Held: the objections were irrelevant.—BRACKINBRIGG v. ## SECT. 20.—COSTS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—POWERS OF ARBITRATORS AND UMPIRE AS TO COSTS.

A. Under Arbitration Act, 1889 (c. 49), Sched. I. (i.)

2185. Application of Act.]—In an arbn., commenced after the commencement of the above Act, under a submission entered into before that date, which is silent as to costs, the arbitrators have power to award costs. The whole Act, including the schedules, applies to arbn. commenced before the Act came into force in so far as the contract to refer is not inconsistent with such application.—Re WILLIAMS & STEPNEY, [1891] 2 Q. B. 257; 60 L. J. Q. B. 636; 65 L. T. 208; 39 W. R. 533; 7 T. L. R. 577, C. A.

u. — Costs of motion.]—Parties to an action agreed to refer the matters in dispute to arbn., & that judgment should be entered up for the sum awarded, but deft., after the making of the award, refused to sign a plea of confession for the amount awarded. The ct. ordered judgment to be entered up against him for that amount, & that he should pay the costs of the motion.—FRENCH v. FARRELL (1844), 6 L. L. R. 151.—IR.

v. When motion to confirm award discharged.]—An order to confirm an award was discharged, where it appeared that the arbitrators had included in it matters which were not submitted to them.—Re WELLS & CALDWELL (1873), 7 L. L. T. Jo. 448.—IR.

w. Award may be registered.]—An award is capable of registration.—HUGHES v. WHITBY (1872), 1 R. 7 Eq. 98.—IR.

x. Act VIII. of 1859, s. 327—When applicable.]—When complaint has been preferred to a criminal ct., & the magistrate has directed that the subject-matter of the complaint be referred to arbn., if the parties consent & proceed to such reference, the award may be enforced under the above Act.—SHEO NUND RAI v. MAHANUND RAM (1866), 1 Agra, 45.—IND.

y. Under Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV. of 1882).]—Where the agreement to refer is vague & indefinite, & does not clearly lay down the power of the arbitrator in dealing with the subject-matter in dispute, & where it is not possible to make out what powers were intended to be conferred upon the arbitrator, the award should not be allowed to be enforced under the provisions of ss. 525 & 526 of the above Act.—ISSURI PERSHAD SINGH v. JANKEE LAD SINGH (1888), 1 L. R. 16 Cal. 482.—IND.

z. Indian Arbitration Act, 1899—Valid submission must be proved.]—Although the above Act has made the procedure for the enforcement of an award simpler than the old practice of instituting suit for the purpose, it is still necessary to prove that the arbitrators acted under a valid submission before an award can be made a decree of ct. under the Act.—HURDWARY MULL v. AHMED MUSAJI SELAJI (1908), 13 C. W. N. 63.—IND.

a. Right to appeal from order directing filing of award—Whether lost.]—The right to appeal against an order directing an award made by arbitrators to be filed is not lost as soon as a decree is drawn up in accordance with the judgment with the result that the High Ct. of Justice decided that B. was not liable & awarded him the costs of the proceedings. B. then claimed full compensation under s. 308 of the Act, & the matter went to arbn. B. recovered nothing, but the arbitrator ordered the corpn. to pay the costs of the arbn.:—Held: the arbitrator had no jurisdiction under s. 180 of the Act to award costs to a wholly unsuccessful party.—Re BARNETT & ECCLES CORPN. (1901), 65 J. 2207. — Costs to abide event of award.]—A cause, & all matters in difference, including a suit in equity, were referred to an arbitrator, the costs of the cause & of the suit to abide the event of the award. The costs of the reference were to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. The arbitrator awarded on several of the issues in the cause for pltf. with £5 damages; on others, he awarded for deft., & so far as the suit applied to the latter issues, he decided for pltf., but awarded that deft. was entitled to relief in respect of the issues found for pltf., the costs of the suit & cause to be borne by the respective parties. He ordered that pltf. should not take out execution for his damages or 2214. Effect of invalid direction as to costs.]—Arbitrators cannot award the costs of reference, unless power is expressly given to them for that purpose; but if in such a case they award pltf. his costs of suit & charges of arbn. to be taxed by the proper officer, & the officer only tax the former, the award will be good for the former & bad as to the latter.—CANDLER v. FULLER (1738), Willes, 62; 125 E. R. 1057.

2214 iv. ———.]—A cause was referred, costs to abide the event of the award. Deft. admitted that the sum claimed was due at the time of the arbn., but objected to pay the costs because the action was commenced before the credit expired, & the arbitrators having found this to be the fact, awarded the amount admitted to pltf., & directed that he should pay all the costs:—Held: the award had been made on conditions that deft. should not be subjected to costs, & the award was not sustainable.—*EMMS v. 2214 v. ———.]—Arbitrators were to have power to make an award concerning lands, & their powers extended to all accounts & differences between pltf. & deft. The arbitrator awarded that, at the time of the reference, there was due by deft. to pltf. a certain sum which he directed to be paid, & he also directed that deft. should pay a certain sum for costs, on payment of which each party should execute a release of the matters referred:—Held: although the arbitrator had no power to make the award as to the costs, the award was not bad, though the payment of the costs was made a condition precedent to deft. obtaining his release.—*KENDRICK v. 2218. ——.]—By a deed of arbn. between A. & B., after reciting that B. had committed trespasses upon & worked the coal of certain mines belonging to A., it was referred to two arbitrators to award what amount should be paid by B. for these injuries, "the costs & charges of the agreement, & the costs, etc., of & attending or incident to the arbn. or award, including the payment to be made to the referees & their umpire," etc., "to be borne & paid by B., & to be awarded accordingly." The award found the amount to be paid by B. for the value of the injuries to be £888 5s. & that the costs incident, etc., to the award, "including the payment to be paid to us, the referees, amounting in the whole to the sum of £36 16s. 4d., should be paid by B. to C., at the office of," etc., "on the delivery of this our award." There was no mention made as to the costs of the agreement of reference. A rule having been obtained calling on B. to show cause why he should not pay the sum of £888 5s.:—Held: it was no answer that the costs of the agreement of reference were not included in the award, or that the costs of the reference & the award were awarded in one sum, or that they were awarded to a stranger, as the damages were clearly separable from the costs, & the award might be enforced as to the former, without reference to the latter.—Re LLOYD & SPITTLE, Re ADDISON & SPITTLE (1849), 6 Dow. & L. 531; 18 *L. 2235. ——— Defendant added after part of claim paid.]—Pltf. sued L. for £365 for goods sold & delivered, & on the day after the writ was issued L. paid pltf. £319, which he accepted on account of his claim. After declaration L. pleaded in abatement the non-joinder of H., whereupon pltf. amended the writ & declaration under C. L. P. Act, 1852, s. 38, by adding the name of H. as joint contractor. Both defts. pleaded never indebted, & also a plea that after the writ in the action had been issued against deft. Subsequent to this order of reference, the parties agreed to submit to the arbitrator a further matter of account outside the action. The arbitrator awarded £40 to pltf. on his claim, & found that a further sum of £14 2s. was due to him on the subsequent account:—Held: pltf. had recovered “in the action” less than £50, & came within the above rule.—*EMMETT & CO. v. Act, 1888, s. 116, a pltf. who obtained judgment under Ord. 14 for upwards of £20 was entitled to costs on the High Ct. scale, pltf. was only entitled to costs of the action on the county ct. scale; (2) with respect to costs of the reference & award, the master must be deemed to be an arbitrator with the same power as an ordinary arbitrator had of awarding & certifying for costs, & his order in that respect was right.—HAYCOCKS, LTD. v. MULHOLLAND, [1904] 1 K. B. 145; 73 L. J. K. B. 125; 90 L. T. 88; 52 W. R. 400.

twenty-one days after service of the writ, pltf. took out a summons under the above rule, upon which the master made an order giving him liberty to sign judgment for £45, & giving deft. leave to defend as to the balance. Deft. paid the £45, & the matter was referred to an official referee, who found for pltf. for the balance claimed. Mathew, J. having ordered that pltf.’s costs should be taxed on the High Ct. scale up to the date of the order under Ord. 14, & on the county ct. scale after that date:—Held: such order was wrong, & pltf. was entitled under the proviso to the above sect. to have the whole of his costs taxed upon the High Ct. scale.—BARKER v. HEMPSTEAD (1889), 23 Q. B. D. 8; 60 L. T. 640; 37 W. R. 685; 5 T. L. R. 442.

2242. Claim & counterclaim referred—Costs to follow event.]—In an action for work & labour done & material supplied by pltf., defts. counterclaimed loss from breach of contract by pltf., & the cause & counterclaim were referred to arbn., costs of the cause & counterclaim to follow the event, costs of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. The arbitrator awarded that pltf. was entitled to recover £371 in respect of his claim, & that defts. were entitled to recover £375 in respect of their counterclaim, & he awarded that pltf. should pay to defts. the balance of £4, & that pltf. should bear the costs of the reference & award. The district registrar ordered judgment to be signed for defts. for the sum of £4, & for costs of the cause, counterclaim, reference, & award to be taxed:—Held: so much of the registrar’s order as related to costs must be struck out & the following inserted instead thereof: “the costs of & relating to pltf.’s claim & the proof thereof to be paid by defts., & the costs of & relating to defts.’ counterclaim & the proof thereof to be paid by pltf.”—*COLE, MARCHANT & CO. v. 2243. ——— Costs of issues.]—Pltfs. claimed on a balance of accounts a sum of money exceeding £50. Defts. denied their indebtedness, & pleaded by way of set-off & counterclaim that pltfs. were indebted to them for money advanced & money due for work done & goods sold & delivered, & they claimed a balance on the accounts in their favour exceeding £50. The cause was referred to an arbitrator, costs to abide the event. The arbitrator found that defts. were indebted to pltfs. in a sum exceeding £50, & that pltfs. were indebted in like manner to defts. in a sum exceeding £50, but that a balance was due to pltfs. on the whole account of £11 10s. 3d.:—Held: (1) pltfs. & defts. were each entitled to the costs of the issues on which they had succeeded, on the ground that the relief sought could not be given in a county ct. (KELLY, C.B.); (2) pltfs. were entitled to their general costs of action (HAWKINS, J.).—NEALE v. CLARKE (1879), 4 Ex. D. 286; 41 L. T. 438.

his covenant in the lease & had been guilty of the conversion charged, & he awarded that pltf. was entitled to recover in respect of such breach of covenant & conversion the sum of £25, making together £35 awarded to pltf.; that pltf. had broken his covenant, & that deft. was entitled to recover in respect of that breach £20; & upon the whole matter he found that pltf. was entitled to recover in the action £15 & no more:—Held: the provision in the order of reference as to costs did not alter the rights of the parties, & upon the true construction of Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 67, pltf. was entitled to the costs on his claim, & deft. to his costs on the counterclaim.—STOOKE v. TAYLOR (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 569; 49 L. J. Q. B. 857; 43 L. T. 200; 44 J. 2246. Verdict subject to reference—Costs to abide event—Set-off—Balance only recovered.]—Where a cause, involving matters of account, is referred & a verdict taken subject to a reference, costs of the cause to abide the event, the arbitrator to have power over the verdict, pltf.'s right to costs depends on whether the sum awarded would have entitled him to costs if the jury had found a verdict for that sum.

To a declaration on the money counts deft. pleaded, as to part, never indebted, as to other part, set-off, & to the residue, payment of £14 5s. into ct. At the trial a verdict was entered for pltf. subject to a reference, power being reserved to the arbitrator to direct for whom & what amount the verdict should be finally entered, costs of the cause to abide the event of the award. The arbitrator by his award directed that the sum which he thereby found to be due to deft. on the set-off should be deducted from the sum which he found to be due to pltf. on the general issue, & that the balance (£2 16s. 1½d.) should be paid by deft. to pltf.:—Held: County Cts. 2247. ——— Costs of cause—Costs of reference & award.]—In an action of trover & of debt a verdict was taken for pltf. for the damages claimed, subject to a reference, “the costs of the cause to abide the event of the award, & the costs of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator.” The arbitrator awarded that the verdict should be entered for £2 10s. as to the claim in trover, & for £7 12s. 8d. as to the claim in debt, & directed deft. to pay the costs of the reference & award. He had the power of certifying for costs, but gave no certificate. The taxing officer declined to tax pltf. either his costs of the cause, or of the reference & award. On a rule directing him to tax both the costs of the cause & of the reference & award:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to the costs of the cause, but he was entitled to those of the reference & award, although he had recovered in the cause sums not exceeding £10 in tort, & £20 in contract.—FORSHAW v. DE WETTE (WITT) (1871), L. R. 6 Exch. 200; 40 L. J. Ex. 153; 24 L. T. 397; 19 W. R. 777.

2248. Trespass to realty.]—An action of trespass, in which questions of title were involved, was commenced before Aug. 20, 1867, & a verdict was entered also before that date for pltf., subject to a reference. The award was made after Jan. 1, 1868, when County Cts. Act, 1867 (c. 142), came into operation, & the arbitrator directed the verdict to stand for pltf. for £5. Subsequently pltf. signed judgment, & obtained a judge's order for costs, & the master thereupon taxed his costs. On a motion to review the master's taxation:—Held: (1) Stat. of Gloucester (6 Edw. 1, c. 1) had not been repealed as to the classes of cases in which, under the former County Ct. Acts, pltf. was entitled to his costs on obtaining a judge's order, or fulfilling the other conditions contained in those Acts, but had as to those in which pltf. could in no way obtain his costs; (2) the effect of County Cts. Act, 1867, was to remove all such conditions in the former classes of cases without imposing any fresh ones as to actions commenced before the passing of that Act; (3) pltf. was entitled to his costs under Stat. of Gloucester, independently of the judge's order.—*MOUNT v. The arbitrator, without altering the amount of damages, left the verdict standing for pltf. on two only of the counts & certified for the costs of a special jury:—Held: notwithstanding there was no certificate that the cause was proper to be brought in a superior ct., pltf. should recover his costs.—MUCKLESTONE v. 2262. —.].—Discretion.—Pltf. sought to recover £375 in an action for goods sold & delivered, in which there was a plea of set-off. By an order of Nisi Prius, the cause was referred with the same power to the arbitrator to certify as a judge would have had. The arbitrator found a balance due to pltf. of £1 5s., for which sum he gave his award. In these circumstances, pltf., finding that he was deprived of costs by County Cts. Act, 1850 (c. 61), s. 11, applied at chambers for, & obtained, an order under County Cts. Act, 1852 (c. 54), s. 4:—Held: it was discretionary with the ct. or a judge to make an order under the above Act of 1852, where the sum sought to be recovered originally exceeded £50 & had been reduced by a set-off below £20, & the order at chambers must stand.—

An action of assumpsit for work & labour was referred to arbitrators, who awarded pltf. a sum less than $200. On an application for a certificate for costs under Consol. Stat. (c. 51), s. 50:—Held: if upon the whole evidence there appeared reasonable ground for bringing the action in that ct., the amount of the award was not conclusive as to the amount of the demand, though the evidence as to the amount was conflicting, & a certificate should be granted.—

He awarded $2 14s. to pltf. as damages, but did not certify for pltf.'s costs in the action:—Held: (1) the ct. had power, under County Cts. Act, 1867 (c. 142), to allow pltf. his costs; (2) the bare statement by the arbitrator, on a subsequent ex p. application, that he thought pltf. ought to have his costs was not sufficient by itself to induce the ct. to allow such costs, but in the circumstances the award ought to be sent back to the arbitrator that he might have an opportunity of certifying for costs.—HARLAND v. The case was referred to arbn., the arbitrator to have the same powers as a judge at Nisi Prius. The arbitrator found for deft. upon the plea of tender, & for pltf. on the other pleas, & directed a verdict to be entered for him for the sum of £2 10s. 5d. beyond the amount paid into ct. At the taxation of pltf.'s costs it was contended for deft. that they should be taxed on the lower scale, but, upon its being suggested that the arbitrator would give his certificate for the higher scale, the taxation was postponed, & the arbitrator gave his certificate accordingly, but at the time of his doing so his time for making his award had expired. Act, 1854, the order of reference being silent as to costs:—Held: as the proceedings were intentionally taken under the above Act, & not under Jud. Act, 1875, Ord. 65, the Act of 1875 did not apply, & the ct. had no jurisdiction to make any order as to costs.—WIMSHURST, HOLICK & Co. v. BARROW SHIPBUILDING CO. (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 335; 46 L. J. An order was made in the suit, under the above sect., that the matters in difference between the parties should be referred to arbn. & the proceedings in the suit stayed, the costs being reserved, & an award was made finding a considerable sum due to pltf.:—Held: the costs of both parties of the suit, reference, & award, ought to be taxed & paid as to one-twelfth thereof by pltf. & as to the eleven-twelfths by deft.—NEWTON v. TAYLOR (1874), L. R. 19 Eq. 14; 23 W. R. 330.

2281. Security for costs—Assignment of claim.]—An action to recover overcharges, alleged to have been made by a railway co. in respect of goods carried on their railway, coming on for trial, was referred to an arbitrator. The claims referred had been assigned to S., who was permitted by the arbitrator to attend the reference as being a person interested. Upon a motion for a rule calling upon the assignor to show cause why proceedings should not be stayed until he gave defts. security for costs, affidavits were produced to the effect that the assignor was insolvent & that the action & reference were proceedings solely for the benefit of S.:—Held: (1) there was no reason for requiring security merely on the ground that the debt had been assigned to a third person; (2) the mere circumstance of the party who had a lien upon the proceeds of the action attending before the arbitrator to watch the proceedings did not cast upon him a liability which otherwise the law would not have not cast upon him; (3) the rule must be refused.—PARKER v. GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1850), 9 C. B. 766; 19 L. J. C. P. 335; 15 L. T. O. S. 253; 137 E. R. 1093.

2282. 2280 i. Action stayed—Right to apply to judge in respect of costs.]—After an action had been commenced on a policy the ct. made an order that the action should be stayed, pltf. to sign final judgment & proceed in the action for the amount which might be awarded him, together with the costs of the action, etc., & it was further ordered that either party, after the making of the award, might apply to a judge in chambers in respect of the payment of the costs of the reference & award. The arbitrators awarded to pltf. the full amount of his claim. On application to a judge, an order was made directing defts. to pay the costs of the reference & award. LONDON ASSURANCE CO.* (1894), 7 Nfld. L. R. 730.—NFLD.

2281 i. Security for costs.]—The word "proceeding" in r. 1243 means a proceeding in ct. An appeal from an order dismissing a motion to set aside an award is not a "proceeding for the same cause" as an action to recover moneys in respect of certain matters included in the submission, but not dealt with by the award, & although the costs of such appeal are unpaid, security for costs of the action will not be ordered.—*CAUGHELL v. A large amount for costs was incurred in carrying out orders made by the official referee for inspection & particulars, but subsequently a compromise was arranged & an agreement was executed, under which all proceedings in the two actions were stayed, & defts. agreed to pay pltf.’ costs of the actions :—Held : in the circumstances pltf.’ costs of the actions included their costs of the inquiries so far as they had proceeded.—STOKE-UPON-TRENT CORPN. v. STAFFORDSHIRE COAL & IRON Co. (1916), 85 L. J. Ch. 812 ; 115 L. T. 621 ; 80 J. P. 273.

2292. “All costs incident to indictment & subsequent proceedings thereon” — Costs previous to reference.]—Where a ct. of sessions referred an indictment for an assault to an arbitrator, & empowered him to settle “all costs incident to the indictment & subsequent proceedings thereon” :—Held : such arbitrator did not exceed his authority by awarding the previous as well as subsequent costs.—*BAKER v. 2305. Costs of second trial.]—Pltf. obtained a verdict, which was afterwards set aside on the ground of misdirection, & a new trial granted, the costs to abide the event. On the second trial, the cause was referred, & the arbitrator ultimately directed that the verdict should be entered for deft., each party paying his own costs of reference:—Held: deft. was only entitled to the costs of the second trial, as it was only where the same party succeeded on both trials that he was entitled to the costs of both.—*SHERLOCK v. 2308. "Costs of umpirage" — Arbitrator's charges.]—By an agreement of reference matters were referred to two arbitrators, & if they failed to make an award within a limited time, to an umpire. The costs of the reference & award & umpirage were to be in the discretion of the arbitrators & umpire respectively. The parties agreed that the umpire should sit with the arbitrators, so that, if they did not make an award, it would not be necessary for him to re-hear the evidence. The arbitrators did not conclude the reference within the time limited. The parties then further agreed that the arbitrators should sit with the umpire, & assist him in taking the evidence, which they did. The award ordered the losing party to pay to the other the costs "of the umpirage & of this my award," & that each party should "pay their own costs of the reference other than the costs of my umpirage & of this my award." The umpire included the charges of the two arbitrators in his costs of umpirage & award, & the same were paid by the successful party on taking up the award:—Held: the charges of the arbitrators were costs of the umpirage, & not costs of the reference, & the successful party was entitled to have such amount as was duly charged by the arbitrators, & paid by him on taking up the award, allowed on the taxation of costs, & to have the same repaid to him by his opponent.—ELLISON v. ACKROYD (1850), 1 L. M. & P. 806; 20 L. J. Q. B. 193; 16 L. T. O. S. 346.

2309. "Usual terms."]—In an action upon a charterparty, a verdict was taken at Nisi Prius for pltf., the damages being referred to an arbitrator on the "usual terms as to costs." The order of submission originally contained the printed clauses in an ordinary reference of a cause, viz., costs of the cause to abide the event, costs of the reference to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. Those clauses were struck out at chambers upon pltf.'s application, & several meetings took place before the arbitrator, who held that he had, under the terms of the amended order, no discretion over the costs of the reference. Deft. then applied to the ct. to add the second of the above clauses to the submission:—Held: the usual terms as to costs upon a reference of damages included a discretion to the arbitrator concerning the costs of the reference, & deft. was entitled to have that term added to the order of submission.—*MOREL v. (1804), 1 Smith, K. B. 426.

2316. ——— Award substantially in favour of one party.]—Where an action of assumpsit was referred to arbn., the costs to abide the "event," & the arbitrator ordered deft. to pay pltf. 12s., "by reason of the detention of pltf.'s debt," but without specifying any debt:—Held: this was an "event" of the arbn. in pltf.'s favour, sufficient to entitle him to costs.—GREEN v. RICHARDS (1828), 6 L. J. O. S. K. B. 130.

2317. ———.]—Upon the reference, by a judge's order, of an action for several breaches of a farming agreement, after plea, & before issue joined, it was ordered that the costs of the reference should abide the event. The arbitrators found, as to one breach, that pltf. had sustained damages to the extent of 16s., & on all other points substantially in deft.'s favour:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to any costs of the reference, as the event was not in his favour, & there being no issues, the costs were not apportionable.—KELCEY v. STUPPLES (1862), 1 H. & C. 576; 1 New Rep. 104; 32 L. J. Ex. 6; 7 L. T. 389; 9 Jur. N. S. 256; 11 W. R. 121; 158 E. R. 1013.

2318. When money paid into court.]

In an action for work, labour, & materials, the writ claimed a balance of £373. Deft. paid £200 into ct. under R. S. C., Ord. 30, r. 1, & gave notice that "that sum is enough to satisfy pltf.'s claim." Pltf. took it out under r. 3, but did not give the notice under r. 4, or any other notice. The cause was afterwards referred, under C. L. P. Act, 1854, to the certificate of an arbitrator, "the costs of the cause to abide the event." No pleadings were ever delivered on either side. The arbitrator, after hearing the parties, gave his certificate that the £200 paid into ct. was enough to satisfy pltf.'s claim. The master having taxed pltf.'s costs against deft. up to the time of their taking the money out of ct., & having from that point taxed deft.'s costs against pltf.:—Held: as the £200 had been paid in generally, & the event of the reference was that pltf. recovered nothing beyond the amount paid into ct., pltf. were not entitled to any costs, & deft. was entitled to her costs of suit from the commencement.—LANGRIDGE v. 2320. ——— Award in favour of defendant on bad plea.]—To a declaration on a special contract, deft. pleaded several pleas going to the whole cause of action, one of which raised an immaterial issue. The cause was referred, on the terms of the costs abiding the event, & of the parties being bound not to sue out a writ of error. The arbitrator found the immaterial issue for deft., & the others for pltf., with £5 damages:—Held: the final event of the record was in favour of deft., & he was entitled to the costs, as the arbitrator had no power to award judgment non obstante veredicto, & no writ of error could be brought.—LINEGAR (LINNEGAN) v. PEARCE (1854), 9 Exch. 417; 23 L. J. Ex. 225; 2 W. R. 227; 2 C. L. R. 1251; 156 E. R. 178.

The arbitrator found that pltf. had sustained damages to a certain amount upon one of the breaches of covenant specified in his particulars, & as to the rest, that he had no cause of action against deft.:—Held: deft. was entitled to the costs of those issues that were found for him, although the cause was not in strictness at issue.—DAUBUZ v. 2323. ——— Action & other matters referred—Action found in favour of one party, matters for other.]—Parties in a cause referred all matters in difference to an arbitrator, with power to him to direct a verdict or nonsuit, & to order deft., although there should be a nonsuit or a verdict for him, to pay any money, or do any other act which should be just & equitable, the costs of the suit & the costs of the reference to abide & follow the event of the award. The arbitrator directed a nonsuit, but awarded that deft. ought to pay pltf. £25 & ordered him to do so:—Held: deft. was entitled to his costs of the suit, & pltf. to those of the reference.—CHITTENDEN v. 2324. ——— Substantial balance in favour of one.]—Where, by an order of reference, the costs of the award & of the reference are to abide the event of the award, if the award be partly in favour of one party & partly in favour of the other, though there be a substantial balance in favour of one, each party has to pay his own costs.

An action & all matters in difference were referred, the costs of reference & award to abide the event of the award. The arbitrator found for pltf. in the action for £80, & for deft. for the matters in difference for £6, & directed deft. to pay the balance to pltf.:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to the costs.—GRIBBLE v. BUCHANAN (1856), 18 C. B. 691; 26 L. J. C. P. 24; 139 E. R. 1542.

2328. — — — — — Cross-claims—Balance in favour of one party. ]—An action consisting of several cross-claims was referred to an arbitrator, who awarded some of the matters in dispute in favour of pltf., but adjudged him on the whole to pay £40 to deft. As by the submission the costs of the cause & the reference were to abide the event, the master on taxation decided that the costs of the reference as well as of the cause must be paid by pltf. :—Held : the master should not review his taxation, there being no such event of the reference in favour of pltf. as to exempt him from payment of deft.’s shares of the reference.—DUNHILL v. MOORE (1867), 17 L. T. 148.

2329. — — — — — ]—An action upon money counts & for trover was referred to a master, “costs of the cause, reference, & award to abide the event.” It was awarded that deft. had proved a set-off of an equal amount to pltf.’s claim in the money counts, £37 10s., & that pltf. owed deft. £2 10s. Upon the trover count pltf. was awarded £43 7s. 7d. The master gave to pltf. the costs of action, to deft. the costs of proving his plea of set-off, but to neither party the costs of the reference & award. The ct. refused to review this taxation of costs.—WOODHAMS v. WOODHAMS (1871), 25 L. T. 460.

exceeding £50. Deft. pleaded a set-off, & also made a counter-claim for goods supplied to the amount of about £24. The action was referred to a master, the costs of the action to abide the event. The master certified that there was due from deft. to pltf. on the claim £16, & from pltf. to deft. on the counter-claim £23, & that the balance due from pltf. to deft. was £7 :—Held : deft. was entitled to his costs.—CHATFIELD v. 2331. — — — — — An action was brought claiming £10 for rent, £100 as damages for breach of covenant in a lease of premises, & £30 for conversion of pltf.’s goods. Deft. set up a counterclaim for £100 damages for breach of covenant by pltf. & £15 for money due for the use & occupation of other premises. The action was referred to an arbitrator upon the terms that “the costs of the action should abide the event of the award, & that the costs of the reference & award should be in the discretion of the arbitrator.” The arbitrator found that pltf. was entitled to £35, & that deft. was entitled to recover £20, & upon the whole matter he found that pltf. was entitled to recover in the action £15 & no more :—Held : the provision in the order of reference as to costs did not alter the rights of the parties, & upon the true construction of Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 67, pltf. was entitled to the costs on his claim, & deft. to his costs on the counter-claim.—STOKE v. TAYLOR (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 569; 49 L. J. Q. B. 857; 43 L. T. 200; 44 J. Deft. counter-claimed £1,200 for penalties for delay, & for damages arising from bad work. The cause, with all matters in difference, was referred to an arbitrator, upon the terms (inter alia) that the costs of action, reference, & award, should follow the event, unless the arbitrator should otherwise order. The arbitrator by an award, silent as to costs, awarded £3 2s. 6d. to deft. in respect of the action & matters in difference :—Held : the word “event” ought to be construed distributively, & the award remitted to the arbitrator to find specific issues.—ELLIS v. In an action to recover £417 for work & labour done, deft. paid into ct. £178, & as to the residue pleaded negligence & disobedience to orders as a defence, & also counterclaimed for £500 damages in respect thereof. The action being referred, "the costs of the cause to abide the event," the arbitrator awarded pltf. £7 beyond the amount paid into ct., & awarded deft. £18 on his counter-claim. A judge at chambers having ordered that pltf. should tax the costs of the action up to & inclusive of the payment of the £178 into ct., & the costs of taking it out, & also the costs of the issues on which he had succeeded, & that deft. should tax the costs of the issues other than those provided for:—Held: as pltf. had been substantially successful in the action, the proper order was that pltf. should tax the general costs of the action & deft. the costs of those issues raised by his counter-claim on which he had been successful.—*WARING v. 2386. ———.].—Pltf.'s claim was for goods sold & delivered, & for commission, & defts. counter-claimed for money had & received by pltf. on account of defts., & for work & labour done. The action was referred to an arbitrator under an order of reference which provided that "the costs of the cause, & the costs of the reference & award, shall abide the event." By his award the arbitrator found the issues on the claim in favour of pltf., & the issues on the counter-claim in favour of defts. After deducting the sum awarded to pltf. from the sum awarded to defts., a balance remained due to defts.:—Held: the word "event" must be construed distributively, & judgment must be entered for defts., who were entitled to the costs of the action, reference, & award, but pltf. was entitled to the costs of the issues found in his favour.—*LUND v. After issue joined, it was agreed to refer all disputes, differences & accounts respecting the original agreement, to arbn., the action to be discontinued, "the costs of the reference & award, including such costs as might be taxed of the action, to abide the event of the arbn." The arbitrator awarded that W. was not guilty of the charges of fraud, & that he was indebted to M. in a certain sum on the accounts:—Held: neither party was entitled to any costs; (1) on the ground that where two parties agreed to refer several disputes, "the costs of the reference & award to abide the event of the award," the costs were not distributable, & neither party was entitled to costs unless the event of the award was altogether in favour of one party (WIGHTMAN, CROMPTON & HILL, JJ.); (2) inasmuch as the different matters in dispute were all connected & founded on one original subject-matter, without deciding whether or not, if the matters referred had been distinct & separate, "event" might be construed "events," so as to make the costs distributable (COCKBURN, C.J.).—Re MARSACK & WEBBER (1860), 2 E. & E. 637; 29 L. The Ct. of Exch. Chamber affirmed the finding of the issues, but arrested the judgment, on account of the defect of the declaration :—Held : neither party was entitled to the general costs of the cause or any costs in error, but under C. 2354. —.— Judgment silent as to issues.—Pltf. brought an action against deft. on a building contract claiming £427 9s. 3d. as the balance due to him thereunder. Deft. pleaded that the work done by pltf. under the contract was unsatisfactory & of inferior quality, so that no balance was due thereunder, & that the claim was barred by Stat. of Limitations. The action having been referred, the official referee found that £247 7s. was due from deft. to pltf., but that pltf.'s right to recover the amount was barred by Stat. of Limitations, & pursuant to his direction, judgment was entered for deft., with his costs of the action except so far as these had been increased by the defence other than Stat. of Limitations:—Held: (1) the question as to the existence & amount of the debt due under the contract was an "issue," & the finding of the official referee was an "event," within R. S. O., Ord. 65, r. 1, & the mere fact that the judgment did not state that pltf. was entitled to the costs of that issue on which he succeeded did not imply that it did "for good cause otherwise order" within that rule; (2) pltf. was entitled to his costs of that issue.—*SLATFORD v. The arbitrators ordered that A. should pay "the damages & costs incurred by B. in consequence of the collision, £72 6s.," that "the arbitrators' charges & expenses attending the reference, amounting to £62 14s. 10d. should be borne in equal proportion by A. & B., & that the sums of £72 6s. & £62 14s. 10d., making together £135 0s. 10d. should be paid, within ten days from the execution of the award":—Semle: the award did not sufficiently dispose of "the costs & charges in & about the submission, reference, & award."—Re LAING & TODD (1853), 13 C. The arbitrators awarded that the costs of the submission, reference, & award should be borne by the parties in equal proportions, & that the costs of making the submission a rule of ct. should be paid by such of the parties through whose default, in the performance of the award, same should become necessary:—Held: the award was not final or certain as to the costs of making the submission a rule of ct., & was bad.—Re SMITH & WILSON (1848), 2 Exch. 327; 18 L. 2355 i. Sufficiency of award as to costs—Alleged uncertainty.—Parties referred an action, & agreed that the costs of the cause & of the reference should be in the discretion of the arbitrators. The arbitrators awarded that deft. should pay pltf. £1,000 in full adjustment of all matters in difference, that deft. should pay pltf. £12, the costs of the reference, & that on payment of these two sums, the parties should be ipso facto mutually discharged from all claims & demands which they had against each other:—Held: the award was reasonably certain, & in effect decided that each party should pay his own costs of the action.—*ADAM v. were referred to arbn., & the arbitrators were thereby empowered to make the award notwithstanding the death of any of the parties, " & the submission of reference might be made a rule of ct. at the instance of either of the parties to the reference, & the costs of the agreement, & of the reference, & of the arbitrators & award, & of the making of the submission a rule of ct., should be in the discretion of the arbitrators." B. died before the making of the award. The arbitrators, by their award, found that a sum of money was due from B. in his lifetime to A., & was then still due, & they awarded & directed the personal representatives of B. (defts.) to pay same within seven days, that the costs of the agreement of reference, of the arbitrators & of the award should be borne & paid equally by B.'s personal representatives & by A., & that "the costs & charges of making such submission a rule of ct. should be paid & borne by the party disobeying the award & obliging the same to be made a rule of ct.":—Held: the clause by which the arbitrators directed the party disobeying the award to pay the costs was uncertain & vitiated the whole award.—WILLIAMS v. WILSON (1853), 9 Exch. 90; 23 L. J. Ex. 17; 21 L. T. O. S. 229; 1 C. L. R. 921; 156 E. R. 38.

2361. — Uncertainty as to what costs included.]—Matters in difference between A. & B. were by agreement referred to arbitrators or an umpire, the costs of the submission, reference & award to be in their or his discretion. A. claimed about £30; B. denied that he was indebted in any sum. The arbitrators having differed, the umpire made his award in favour of A. for £6 5s. 2d., but directed him to pay B. his costs of the submission, & of the reference & of the award, amounting to £13 4s. 3d.:—Semle: there was such ambiguity in the award as to what costs were intended as would have induced the ct. to send the matter back to the umpire, if asked to do so.—Re FEARON & FLINN (1889), L. 2384. On what scale—Arbitrator with power to certify—No certificate obtained.—In an action to recover the sum of £5 for a fine alleged to be payable to the lord of a manor on the admittance of deft. as tenant in remainder in fee to certain copyhold premises, a verdict was taken, subject to the opinion of the ct. upon a special case, & it was referred to a barrister to ascertain & state the amount of the annual value of the premises, & any deductions proper to be made in respect thereof, the arbitrator to have power to certify that the cause was proper to be tried before a judge of a superior ct. & not before the sheriff. Upon a special case, the decision of the ct. was in favour of deft., but no certificate was obtained from the arbitrator. The master having taxed the costs upon the full scale:—Held: he had acted within his authority, & exercised a proper discretion.—RICHARDSON v. KENSIT (1843), 6 Man. & G. 712; 7 Scott, N. 2383 ii. — Deputy clerk of Crown.—A taxation by a deputy clerk of the Crown of costs under an award, on a reference to arbn. of two causes in different cts., together with all matters in difference, is not a nullity, as being beyond his jurisdiction, & probably not even an irregularity.—Re HOTCHKISS & HALL (1871), 5 P. R. 423.—CAN.

2384 i. On what scale—Summary costs.—Where a cause was referred to arbn., the award to be entered as a verdict, & an award was made in favour of pltf. for £3, he was allowed summary costs, it appearing by affidavit that his account, as allowed by the arbitrators, was about £20, & was reduced by deft.'s account—notice of set-off having been given in the action, & it not being clearly shown that deft.'s account was a payment.—DOYLE v. DOUGAN (1840), 1 Kerr. 161.—CAN.

2384 ii. — Full costs.—All matters in difference in a cause, & in a building agreement, were referred, costs of the cause & reference to abide the event. The award, after disposing of the issues in pltf.'s favour, assessed his damages & also pltf.'s costs & charges at £52 16s. 7d.

The costs of the reference & award were then fixed by the award at £20. The costs of the suit were afterwards taxed without notice to deft.:—Held: as no verdict had been taken, pltf. was entitled to full costs.—JONES v. REID (1853), 1 P. R. 247.—CAN.

2384 iii. —Where the transactions amounted to about $1,100 on one side, & about $800 on the other, & deft. paid into ct. $176, & pltf. recovered $102.30 by the award:—Held: full costs should be allowed to pltf.—JONES v. HEWSON (1866), 2 C. L. J. O. S. 107.—CAN.

2384 iv. — Common Law Procedure Act, 1853, s. 243.—A cause was referred by consent, after the jury were sworn, to three arbitrators, to whom no power to certify for costs was reserved. The arbitrators found for defts. on one plea, & for pltf. upon another with 50s. damages. On an application by pltf. under s. 97 of C. L. P. Act, 1856, the ct. held there had been no trial within s. 97. Pltf. applied that the taxation of his costs might be reviewed & full costs allowed under s. 243 of C. L. P. Act, 1853:—Held: the two sects. in the two C. L. P. Acts being in pari materia there had been no trial within the 103rd General Ord. made under the above Act.—BENNETT v. SCOTT (1863), 8 Ir. Jur. 206.—IR.

2384 v. — Cause referred—Costs to abide event.—Where a cause is referred, costs to abide the event, pltf. is not entitled to full costs if he is awarded anything, but to such costs only as he could

2385. — Arbitrator without power to certify.

Cross actions & all matters in difference were referred to an arbitrator by a judge's order, which directed that the costs of one of the actions, & of the reference, should abide the event, & that the costs of the other should be in the discretion of the arbitrator. No power was given to give any certificate. The arbitrator having awarded £17 3s. to pltf., in one of the actions, & that each party should bear his own costs of the other action:—Held: the master ought to have taxed the costs on the reduced scale, although the unsuccessful party had resisted effectually a summons to try his action before the sheriff, on the ground that he claimed more than £20.—*ELLEMAN (ELLIMAN) v. The award having been made, the master taxed the costs of the action as between party & party on the ordinary scale, & then proceeded to tax the costs of the reference & award on the same scale, but pltf. objecting that the proceedings on the reference were virtually under the above Act, & that the costs ought to be taxed on the scale usually allowed

2384 vi. — Case not within R. S. C. 155.—Two actions were referred, no verdict being taken, costs to abide the event. In one the arbitrator found £20, in the other £10. Pltf. proceeded by attachment on the award:—Held: he was entitled to full costs without a certificate.—COCHRANE v. SCOTT, COCHRANE v. CROSS (1859), 3 P. R. 32.—CAN.

2384 vii. — Case within R. S. C. 155.—A cause was referred, before trial, by judge's order, costs to abide the event, & the arbitrator awarded £9 3s. 9d., the claim being originally of the jurisdiction of the county ct., & reduced by set-off. Pltf. applied for full costs, on affidavit showing that he intended to enforce his award by rule of ct. & execution under C. S. U. C. (c. 24), s. 19:—Held: he must be considered as obtaining final judgment without trial, & the case came within the above rule.—WATSON v. GARRETT (1860), 3 P. R. 70.—CAN.

2384 viii. — Parties contracting out of Common Law Procedure Act, 1856, s. 97.—In an action the matters in dispute were referred to arbn. under a consent, which specifically dealt with the question of costs in each event. The parties lived within the same civil bill jurisdiction. The arbitrators awarded $15 to pltf. The taxing master had given pltf. all his costs:—Held: the taxing master had acted properly as the parties had contracted themselves out of the above Act.—LANG v. EAKIN (1867), 1 I. L. T. Jo. 631.—IR.

in proceedings under that Act, the master adjourned the taxation to enable plffs. to apply to the ct.:—Held: the costs defts. had stipulated to pay, & which they were bound to pay under the order of Nisi Prius, were ordinary costs as between party & party, & ought to be taxed on such & on no other scale.—ECCLES v. BLACKBURN CORPN. (1861), 30 L. J. Ex. 358.

2388. — Agreement to pay all costs, charges, etc.—Solicitor & client costs.]—By an agreement, which it was agreed should be “deemed a ‘submission’ within the Act of 1899,” a district council agreed to pay all the costs, charges, & expenses of a gas co. preliminary & incidental to the negotiation for the sale of their undertaking, & the arbn. fixing the price, same to be taxed in case the parties differed. An award was made which did not deal with costs. The costs were taxed by a master, who allowed costs upon a scale lower than the scale as between solr. & client:—Held: there was jurisdiction to review the taxation of the master, & the co. was entitled to costs as between solr. & client.—MALVERN URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL v. MALVERN LINK GAS CO. (1900), 83 L. T. 326, C. A.

2389. What costs allowed—Costs of trial.]—In an action brought to recover the balance of an account, the parties agreed that the amount should be referred to two arbitrators, who, in settling the balance due, were to be guided by the decision of a jury, in regard of a certain cargo of cotton shipped by plffs., the costs of which formed one of the items. The jury found that plffs. were not entitled to charge defts. with the costs of the cotton; & the arbitrators, after excluding such costs pursuant to the verdict, found a certain sum to be due to plffs. The prothonotary, on taxation, refused to allow plffs. the costs of the trial which applied to the cotton:—Held: he was right in so doing.—FAIRLIE v. PARKER (1828), 1 Moo. & P. 438; 6 L. J. O. S. 2393. Costs of both trials.]—Pltf. obtained a verdict, subject to the award of an arbitrator. The arbitrator having made a material mistake in his award, & deft. having refused to refer matters back, the ct. set aside the verdict, & discharged the rule for reference. Pltf. took the cause down to trial a second time, & a second time obtained a verdict:—Held: he was entitled to the costs of both trials.—PAYNE v. BAILEY (1822), 3 Brod. & Bing. 304; 7 Moore, C. 2412. — Legal assessor, copies of evidence, costs of inspection & production of documents, etc.]—A master, on taxation, disallowed more than half the fees paid by the successful party to an arbn., on taking up the award, & the whole of the fees charged by the arbitrator for a legal assessor, to whose appointment the parties had neither consented nor objected, & a charge made for copies of evidence which could not have been taken by counsel, he being alone in the case, & one for copies of original documents put in by the unsuccessful party, & further, the cost of affidavit of increase. The master had, however, allowed to the successful party the costs of inspection & production of documents:—Held: these matters were all in the discretion of the master, & the ct. ought not to order him to review his taxation as to any one of them, even though it were shown that as to the lay arbitrator's fees he had failed to take any steps to ascertain what would have been a fair charge for him to have made for his services.—Re WESTWOOD, BAILLIE & CO. & CAPE OF GOOD HOPE GOVERNMENT (1886), 2 T. L. R. 667.

2413 i. Form of allocatur.]—An allocatur:—Held: not objectionable as improperly embracing a moiety of the costs of reference.—HEATHERS v. WARDMAN (1847), 4 U. C. R. 173.—CAN.

2414 i. Review of taxation.]—A cause having been referred, it was agreed that the arbitrators should award costs in favour of whom the award should be made, if they saw fit. The arbitrators awarded £50 to pltf., together with their costs, when ascertained between party & party, by the proper officer. The officer having refused to allow pltf. the costs of the reference, he was directed, upon motion, to allow those costs.—FISHER v. GRAHAM (1825), Sm. & Bat. 229.—IR.

2414 ii. —.]—A cause having been referred, it was agreed that the costs in the cause, with the costs of the deed of submission & subsequent proceedings, should abide the event of the award, & if no award should be made, that all the costs aforesaid should be allowed to the party who should ultimately obtain judgment or a verdict. Pltf. entered a rule for liberty to discontinue upon payment of costs. The officer refused, upon the taxation of the costs, to allow defts. the costs of the reference, there having been no judgment or verdict. Upon motion that the taxing officer should tax to defts. the costs of the reference & proceedings in the cause, the ct. ordered that the taxing officer should tax the costs as between party & party, but the decision of the officer having been in favour of pltf., no costs of the motion were given.—TISDALL v. TAAFFE (1825), Sm. & Bat. 206.—IR.

2414 iii. —.]—A reference to arbn. made after action provided "that the costs of the action, & of the reference, & of the award so to be made in pursuance thereof, & all other costs & charges properly incidental thereto, should follow & be added to the sum awarded when taxed." Each party had paid his own arbitrator & half the umpire's fee, & the taxing master had refused to allow these fees to the party in whose favour the sum was awarded:—Held: these items were not chargeable against the defeated party, there being no express agreement as to them.—DEANE v. GREAT SOUTHERN & WESTERN RY. CO. (1851), 3 Ir. Jur. 392.—IR.

2414 iv. —.]—An order of reference made at Nisi Prius provided that the costs of the arbn. should be taxed by the clerk as costs in the cause:—Held: the ct. had no power to review the clerk's allowance of the costs of the arbitrator.—SNOWBALL v. MUIRHEAD (1883), 22 N. B. R. 561.—CAN.

2413. Form of allocatur.]—Where an arbitrator directs that one-third of the costs of the reference shall be borne by pltf., & the other two-thirds by deft., the allocatur should direct deft. to pay pltf. two-thirds of the costs incurred by pltf., less one-third of the costs which have been incurred by deft.—WALTON v. INGRAM (1841), 10 L. J. C. P. 188; 5 Jur. 462.

2414. Review of taxation.]—A cause was referred to arbn., the submission to be made a rule of the King's Bench. The arbitrator awarded costs to be taxed by the master of the Ct. of Exch. By collusion between the two attorneys, the costs were taxed at an immoderate sum:—Held: (1) the Ct. of Exch. could not order the taxation to be reviewed, as the reference to the master was not made by the ct., & he did not act in it as the officer of the ct., who had no jurisdiction over him; (2) if it were a ground for setting aside the award, that was for the consideration of the Ct. of King's Bench.—CHAPMAN v. LANSDOWN (1794), 1 Anst. 273; 145 E. R. 870.

2415. —.]—The ct. will not require the master to review his taxation unless they see clearly that he has come to a wrong conclusion in that which he has done.

A cause was referred to the decision of an arbitrator, the costs of the cause to abide the event of the award, but it was doubtful on the face of the award whether the arbitrator intended to find for pltf. generally, including the issues joined on a special count, or on the general count only. The master, having heard a statement of the facts & evidence submitted to the arbitrator, came to the conclusion that the arbitrator intended to find generally for pltf., & taxed the costs accordingly. The ct. refused to send back the case for a review of the taxation.—RENNIE v. MILLS (1830), 5 Bing. N. C. 249; 7 Dowl. 295; 1 Arn. 534; 7 Scott, 276; 8 L. J. C. P. 148; 132 E. R. 1101.

2416. By action—Before amount ascertained.]—In an arbn. under Public Health Act, 1848 (c. 63), was allowed the costs of certain issues found in his favour. The judge allowed an appeal on the two points, (1) as to whether pltf. should have been allowed costs, & (2) whether the amount allowed was excessive:—Held: what & how much the judge should allow was entirely a matter of discretion, & appeal dismissed.—BONNETT v. CHESLEY (1886), 7 R. & G. 184; 7 C. L. T. 249.—CAN.

2419. On motion—Where ambiguity on face.—An award will not be enforced on motion, if there be an ambiguity on the face of it as to the precise amount of costs to be paid.

An award can be enforced by a rule only where it is distinct & precise. I cannot grant one in this case, as the arbitrator has not stated for certain what sum is to be paid for costs. He ought to have said the total costs are so much, & the proportion to be paid by pltf., viz., two-thirds, so much. Pltf., in these circumstances, cannot avail himself of this summary remedy, but must be left to his action (ERLE, J.)—SPOONER v. PAYNE (1847), 11 Jur. 242.

2420. Signing judgment for costs.—An order of reference directed that the party, in whose favour the award should be made, should be at liberty to sign final judgment “for the amount payable thereunder,” & tax his costs, etc.:—Held: the award being in favour of deft., he might sign judgment for his costs.—*MAGGS v. 2421. — Not until expiration of time for setting aside.—A cause & all matters in difference between the parties were referred by an order of Nisi Prius, by which a verdict was taken for pltf., subject to an award, the costs of the cause to abide the event, & the costs of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator. The arbitrator by his award ordered that the verdict entered for pltf. should stand, & directed that deft. should pay to pltf. the costs of the reference & award:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to have an allocatur for the costs, or to sign judgment, until the expiration of the proper time for moving to set aside the award.—JONES v. IVES (1850), 10 C. B. 429; 1 L. M. & P. 689; 20 L. J. C. P. 69; 16 L. T. O. S. 151; 15 Jur. 107; 138 E. R. 172.

2422. — Not before final award.—A cause & all matters in difference between pltf. & defts. were, by an order of Nisi Prius & a subsequent rule of ct., referred to an arbitrator, the costs of the cause to abide the event, & those of the reference & award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator, who was to be at liberty to make two several awards at different times, by the first of which he was to raise questions of law for the opinion of the ct.; & it was by the rule of ct. ordered “that neither party should enforce payment of anything which might be found due by the arbitrator, under the first award, until the arbitrator should have made his final award.” The arbitrator stated a case for the opinion of the ct., & in the result, pltf. became entitled to £2,272 2s. damages. Defts. afterwards obtained an Act of Parliament for regulating their affairs, & under that Act pltf. received an allotment of shares in lieu of the damages so awarded to him. It having become unnecessary & impracticable to proceed further with the reference, no second award was ever made. Pltf., however, signed judgment, & issued an execution against defts. thereon for the costs of the action:—Held: in the absence of a final award, pltf. was by the rule of ct. precluded from enforcing his remedy for such costs, & the judgment must be set aside with costs.—WOOD v. COPPER MINERS IN ENGLAND CO. (1854), 15 C. B. 464; 24 L. J. O. P. 34; 24 L. T. O. S. 75; 3 C. L. R. 43; 139 E. R. 506.

2423. Execution—Stay as to debt—Execution for costs.—By rule of ct. a cause & all matters in difference were referred to an arbitrator, & the costs of the cause were to abide the event. The arbitrator directed the verdict to be entered for pltf., but that they should not take out execution for the debt until they had paid a larger sum due to deft.:—Held: pltf.'s attorney might still take out execution for the costs.—*HIGHGATE ARCHWAY CO. v. Co. than that tendered by them, “the co. shall pay all costs & charges attending such arbn.” but no provision is made for their recovery:—Semble: the only remedy is by an action of debt on the stat.—Re FOSTER & GREAT WESTERN RY. CO. (1872), 32 U. C. R. 503.—CAN.

m. Not by indorsement on writ of summons—Costs untaxed.—Costs of an arbn. incurred by a party thereto, if untaxed, do not form a liquidated amount, & cannot be the subject of a special indorsement upon a writ of summons. Judgment for default of appearance upon a specially indorsed writ in an action upon an award (of which notice had not been given to deft.) allowed to stand to the extent of the amount awarded & the amount paid as fees to the arbitrators, without prejudice to any motion by deft. against the award. 2429. Power to direct set-off.]—An arbitrator under a rule of reference, which directs that the costs of the cause shall abide the event, has no

2430. Cross claims—Action & other matters—Debt against costs—Solicitor's lien.]—An action, & all matters in difference between the parties, were referred to arbn. The arbitrator awarded that pltf. had no cause of action in the suit, & directed him to pay to deft. the costs of the action. He further awarded that deft. should pay pltf. a certain sum in respect of a claim unconnected with the action. On an application to set off the sum awarded to pltf. against deft.'s costs of the action:—Held: this could only be done subject to the lien of deft.'s attorney for his costs.—*CADLE v. 2431. —.].—On a reference to arbn. of an action of ejectment & all matters in difference between the parties, the arbitrator directed that a sum of £50 should be paid by the lessor of pltf. to defts. by way of compensation for certain buildings erected by them, & that a verdict should be entered for the former. On motion, the ct. directed the sum awarded to defts. to be set off against the costs of the lessor of pltf., saving the lien of their attorney.—*DOE d. SWINTON v. The arbitrator, by his award, directed a verdict to be entered for B., & awarded that £303 15s. was due from B. to A. in respect of the matters in difference, which sum he ordered to be paid by B. to A. on a given day:—Held: B. was entitled to deduct from the sum so awarded to be paid by him the amount of his taxed costs of the cause, without regard to the lien of A.'s attorney for his costs of the cause & of the reference.—*DUNN v. Separate actions—Solicitor's lien.]—A cause & another cause between the same parties then pending in a county ct., & all matters in difference between the parties to those causes, were by consent referred to a barrister, the costs of the causes respectively, & of the rule, to abide the event, & the costs of the reference & the award to be in the discretion of the arbitrator, the attorney for pltf. in both actions being the same. The arbitrator decided the first cause in favour of deft. & the cause in the county ct. in favour of pltf., with damages £45 10s. 6d., & gave pltf. the costs of the reference, & divided the costs of his award:—Held: the costs of the first cause, & of the rule, could not be set off against the money & costs payable to pltf. in the other cause, to the prejudice of the lien of

to the arbiter, which was reasonable in amount, & was said to have been paid in circumstances which implied acquiescence by the other party in the payment:—Held: the first party was entitled to relief, to the extent of one half of the fee, from the second.—*EDINBURGH OIL, GAS, LIGHT CO. v. 2439. Any question arising in cause.]—Any question arising in a cause may be referred by the ct. or judge for inquiry or report to an official or special referee, whose duty it is not to determine any question in issue, whether of fact or of law, but to find the materials upon which the ct. is to act.—*BADISCHE ANILIN UND SODA FABRIK v. 2441. On motion for judgment—Default in pleading.]—Upon motion for judgment under R. S. C., Ord. 27, r. 11, upon default in delivery of defence, the ct. may order interlocutory judgment to be entered, & may refer the whole claim to an official referee to ascertain & report to the ct. the amount due to pltf.—CHARLES v. SHEPHERD, [1892] 2 Q. B. 622; 61 L. J. Q. B. 768; 67 L. T. 67; 8 T. L. R. 651, C. A.

2442. Under Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 56.]—The ct. or a judge has no power under the above Act, ss. 56 & 57, to refer the whole action for trial to an official or special referee. Under s. 57 the ct. may, by consent, refer any question or issue of fact in an action to an official or special referee for trial, but their power of compulsory reference for trial under that sect. is confined to questions or issues in an action requiring prolonged examination of documents or local investigation, or questions of account, & any other matters so involved with such issues as to be incapable of being tried separately.

a. Jurisdiction of master in chambers.]—Held: the master in chambers had no jurisdiction to order a reference under Ontario Jud. Act, s. 47.—UNION LOAN & SAVINGS Co. v. BOOMER (1885), 10 P. R. 630.—CAN.

b. the mtgc. besides those in the consent order to which the receiver could be extended.—FITZGERALD v. HAMILTON, 1 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 294.—IR.

c. Administration of will for benefit of minors.]—Where freehold property was bequeathed to minors, & being building lots was quite unproductive from there being no leasing power given in the will, a reference was directed to inquire whether it would be for the benefit of the minors to apply for an Act of Parliament to authorise the execution of leases.—RUSSELL v. RUSSELL, 1 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 471.—IR.

d. Equivocal terms in will.]—If an expression used by testator, by reason of external circumstances, becomes equivocal, a reference may be directed to the master to inquire & report.—WARREN v. WARREN, 3 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 85.—IR.

e. Expenses of sale under chattel mortgage.]—Where expenses of sale under a chattel mtgc. were not justified by evidence, particularly the solr.'s bill for costs & disbursements:—Held: the items were a subject for consideration by a referee.—FISHER v. MCPHEE (1896), 28 N. S. L. R. 523.—CAN.

Sect. 1.—References for inquiry & report: Sub-sects. 1, 2, 3 & 4.]

A referee under Jud. Acts, to whom the issues in an action are referred for trial, has no power to order judgment to be entered. His findings should be separate on each of the issues submitted to him, but semble: he may by consent of the parties find generally for pltf. or for deft.

The old forms of orders of reference under C. L. P. Act, 1854, are inapplicable to references under Jud. Acts.

Where a reference had been ordered to an official referee, & the order of reference was drawn up in the form known as the "Long Order," under C. L. P. Act, 1854, & the parties with knowledge of the terms of the order appeared before the referee, who gave his award:—Held: the referee must be taken to have sat as arbitrator by consent, & his award was binding on the parties, neither of whom could obtain a new trial.

R. S. C. have not enlarged, & could not enlarge, the powers of reference to official or special referees conferred by the stat.—LONGMAN v. EAST, PONTIFEX v. SEVERN, MELLIN v. MONICO (1877), 3 C. P. D. 142; 47 L. J. Q. B. 211; 38 L. T. 11; 26 W. R. 183, C. A.

2443. Power of Court of Appeal to refer to expert for report.]—The Ct. of Appeal has jurisdiction without the consent of the parties to refer to an expert to report to them on the matter.—A.-G. v. BIRMINGHAM, TAME & REA DRAINAGE BOARD, [1912] A. C. 788; 82 L. J. Ch. 45; 107 L. T. 353; 76 J. P. 481; 11 L. G. R. 194, H. L.

i. How entitled.]—A reference to the master in the matter of a minor by which it is sought to affect the funds in a cause in ct. is irregular; it should be entitled in the cause.—MASSEY v. MASSEY (1825), 2 Moll. 365.—IR.

g. Inquiry as to amount to be allowed for maintenance.]—In a suit for maintenance out of the property of infants, the master is usually directed to inquire & state what would be a proper sum to allow.—MURPHY v. LAMPHIER (1866), 12 Gr. 241.—CAN.

h. Reference as to title.]—Where a purchaser under a decree for a sale applied for an order on pltf.'s solr. for copies of all deeds, etc., necessary to evidence title:—Held: the motion should be for a reference to the master as to title.—BROWN v. DOWDALL (1825), 2 Moll. 363.—IR.

k. On reference back to master.]—MORLEY v. MATTHEWS (1867), 3 C. L. J. O. S. 21.—CAN.

PART V. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.

1. Jurisdiction in general.]—The jurisdiction of the master's office is not co-extensive with that of the ct. in inquiring into & adjudicating upon the validity of documents; & there is no authority to support any implied or assumed delegation of the functions of the ct. to the master. Nor is there any practice in the master's office which allows parties to obtain a reference to the master so as to evade the ordinary judicial functions of the ct., & then invoke those judicial functions in a tribunal of delegated & subordinate jurisdiction.

Pltfs., when taking accounts before the master under the ordinary chambers order for the administration of personal estate, sought to have it declared that a bequest to R., who was one of the witnesses to the will, was valid:—Held:

the master had no jurisdiction, under such order & on oral pleadings, to adjudicate upon the validity of the will.—Re MUNSIE (1884), 10 P. R. 98.—CAN.

n. General application of statutes & rules.]—The stats. & rules applicable to references should not be so read as to produce the result of two distinct lines of practice in reference to reports of masters & referees. The well-settled procedure in the case of the ordinary report is extended to the statutory reports of referees under Ontario Jud. Act, R. S. O., 1887 (c. 44), s. 101.—FREKORN v. VANDUSEN (1893), 15 P. R. 264.—CAN.

o. May delegate mechanical part of duties.]—There is nothing to preclude the referee from delegating the mechanical part of his work, such as the preparation of the report, to his clerk.—KING v. SEETON (1888), 21 N. S. L. R. 20.—CAN.

p. Duty to hear parties.]—Upon a judicial reference it is always important that parties should be heard on matters of fact. The referee must hear the parties before making his report, otherwise the proceedings are objectionable.—GLENNIE v. McPHAIL (1825), 3 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 574.—SCOT.

q. Duty of master where reference not proceeded with.]—Where a party obtains an order for a reference, & does not proceed on it, a certificate of no proceeding from the master is irregular; he should make his report as if the party who is in default has failed.—REED v. HODGENS (1829), 3 Moll. 96.—IR.

r. Power to allow interest.]—In an action upon fire policies, a referee was directed to inquire, ascertain, & report the amount of loss:—Held: under R. S. O., 1887 (c. 44), ss. 87, 103, the referee had authority to allow interest on the amount of the loss as ascertained by him.—A.-G. v. AETNA INSURANCE CO. (1890), 13 P. R. 459.—CAN.

s. Power to decide whether there had

SUB-SECT. 2.—FORM OF ORDER.

2444. Inquiry as to damages—To whom referred.]—Where in an action to restrain deft. from polluting a stream, & for damages, judgment was given for pltf. with costs, & an inquiry as to damages ordered, the costs of such inquiry were reserved in order that the ct. might exercise control over the manner in which the inquiry was conducted & prevent the costs of it being unduly increased by pltf.

It is the usual practice to send such inquiry to the chief clerk & not to a referee.—SLACK v. MIDLAND RY. CO. (1880), 16 Ch. D. 81; 50 L. J. Ch. 196; 43 L. T. 434; 29 W. R. 302.

2445. Order failing to state section under which made.]—An order for reference to a special referee ought to be drawn up so as to show on the face of it whether it was made under s. 56 or s. 57 of Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66).—WHITE v. PETO, [1886] W. N. 165, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 3.—PROCEEDINGS BEFORE REFEREE.

2446. Has jurisdiction to examine parties.]—A master, to whom a matter has been referred to report upon, has, since 14 & 15 Vict. c. 99, jurisdiction to examine viva voce as a witness a party to the matter referred.—Re KIRBY'S TRUST (1852), 5 De G. & Sm. 228; 21 L. J. Ch. 464; 18 L. T. O. S. 315; 16 Jur. 758; 64 E. R. 1093.

2447. Acts in quasi-judicial capacity—Should not be examined in action.]—A surveyor appointed by the parties, at the instance of the judge, to make a report, acts in a quasi-judicial capacity & ought not been settlement.]—Pending a reference to take accounts, a settlement was made between the parties, but there was a dispute as to the terms:—Held: it was competent for the master to deal with the question whether there was or was not a settlement, & report according to the result.—CORRY v. LEMOINE (1899), 18 P. R. 482.—CAN.

t. Power to give leave to file further objections.]—On a reference in a suit by a vendor for specific performance, deft. filed three objections to the title having reference to a small portion of the land, which were answered by pltf., & the reference was proceeding when deft. applied & obtained from the master leave to file other objections:—Held: the master in ordinary had no jurisdiction to grant such leave.—CLARKE v. LANGLEY (1884), 10 P. R. 208.—CAN.

u. Powers on reference back.]—Where a reference back to the master to review his report is directed, the master is at liberty to receive further evidence.—MORLEY v. MATTHEWS (1867), 3 C. L. J. O. S. 21.—CAN.

v. Admissions before master.]—Admissions made before the master in the course of a reference should be put into writing & signed by the party making same.—FOSTER v. ALLISON (1885), 11 P. R. 233.—CAN.

w. When stay will be granted.]—A judgment directed the master in ordinary to make partition of lands, ordered that the parties should execute & deliver all necessary conveyances, to be settled by the master, & should give possession to each other in accordance therewith, & directed the master to ascertain pltf.'s damages. Defts. appealed from the judgment to the Ct. of Appeal, & gave the security provided for by r. 826:—Held: the reference was stayed pending the appeal.—MONRO v. TORONTO RY. CO. (1902), 23 C. L. T. 12; 5 O. L. R. 15; 1 O. W. R. 25, 316, 813; 2 O. W. R. 207.—CAN.

to be examined in the action.—BRODER v. SAILLARD (1876), 24 W. R. 456; 2 Char. Pr. Cas. 121.

2448. Power to appoint day for hearing—May proceed in absence of parties.]—A referee, whether official or special, to whom questions may be referred under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 56, & whether he has to try a matter or report thereon, has power, subject to the control of the ct., peremptorily to appoint a day for the hearing of the reference, & in the absence of either party, to proceed with same.—WENLOCK (BARONESS) v. RIVER DEE Co. (1883), 53 L. J. Q. B. 208; 49 L. T. 617; 32 W. R. 220, C. A.

2449. Duties limited to ascertaining facts.]—It was not intended by Jud. Act, 1873, that an official referee should decide the issue in an action; he is only to ascertain the facts so as to enable the ct. to decide the issue.—CARDINAL v. CARDINAL (1884), 25 Ch. D. 772; 53 L. J. Ch. 636; 32 W. R. 411.

2450. Discretion as to manner of taking accounts.]—An official referee is not bound to take accounts & inquiries referred to him for report under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 56, in the strict way usually adopted before a chief clerk in chambers, though he may adopt that method if he finds it convenient & likely to advance the ends of justice. Practice & method of taking accounts in chambers & before an official referee stated, compared, & discussed.—Re TAYLOR, TURPIN v. PAIN (1890), 44 Ch. D. 128; 59 L. J. Ch. 803; 62 L. T. 754; 38 W. R. 422.

SUB-SECT. 4.—THE REPORT AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON.

See Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 15.

2451. Form of report—Whether necessary to state facts & principles.]—Where the ct. had directed a reference to the official referee to inquire what damage (if any) defts. had sustained by reason of an undertaking given by them not to work within a certain distance of plths.' gasworks, & the official referee reported that defts. had received damage to the extent of £2,042, but did not state in his report the facts on which it was based, or on what principle the damages had been assessed, the ct.

referred back the report to the official referee to certify of what items the amount certified was composed, & for what reasons he had allowed them, & in the meantime directed the motion to stand over.—BIRMINGHAM CORPN. v. ALLEN, [1877] W. N. 190.

Annotation:—Refd. Pontifex v. Severn (1877), 42 J. P. 40.

2452. ———.]—The referee is not bound, & as a general rule, ought not, to state his reasons for his findings. His duty is to state results in as concise a form as possible, similar to that of a chief clerk's certificate (KAY, J.).—WALKER v. BUNKELL (1883), 22 Ch. D. 722; 52 L. J. Ch. 596; 48 L. T. 618; 31 W. R. 138, C. A.

2453. ——— Details must be given.]—Where at the trial of an action an account arising on the action is ordered to be taken before the official referee & further consideration is adjourned, the report must not simply state the result of the account, but must state what items have been allowed & what items have been disallowed.—BURRARD v. CALISHER (1882), 51 L. J. Ch. 223; 45 L. T. 793; 30 W. R. 321.

2454. ——— No power to order judgment to be entered.]—An official referee has no power to order judgment to be entered on any questions referred to him under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 56.—LONGMAN v. EAST, PONTIFEX v. SEVERN, MELLIN v. MONICO (1877), 3 C. P. D. 142; 47 L. J. Q. B. 211; 38 L. T. 11; 26 W. R. 183, C. A.

2455. Effect of report—Not equivalent to verdict of jury.]—The report of a referee, whether official or special, to whom questions have been referred under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 56, is not equivalent to the verdict of a jury.—WENLOCK (BARONESS) v. RIVER DEE Co. (1883), 53 L. J. Q. B. 208; 49 L. T. 617; 32 W. R. 220, C. A.

2456. ——— Court not bound to adopt wholly or in part.]—The Act of 1889, s. 13 (2), does not bind the ct. to adopt wholly or in part a report by an official or special referee, to whom the ct. has referred a matter as an expert.—A.-G. v. BIRMINGHAM, TAME & REA DRAINAGE BOARD, [1912]

PART V. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 4.

a. By whom made—Officer himself.]—A judicial officer charged with a reference should himself draw his report, & not delegate it to the solr. for the successful party.—KNARR v. BRICKER (1894), 16 P. R. 363.—CAN.

b. When report may be made.]—Where the ct. directed comrs. to divide certain lands, & referred the matter to a barrister to take an account of the rents:—Held: the barrister might make his report without waiting for the comrs. to divide the land.—FRASER v. DEWITT (1878), 1 P. & B. 738.—CAN.

c. Publication of report.]—Any ex p. communication with a litigant as to the decision should be avoided, & both parties should have equal facilities of knowing the result.—KNARR v. BRICKER (1894), 16 P. R. 363.—CAN.

2451 i. Form of report—Whether necessary to state facts & principles.]—The master's report should contain such statement of the evidence, not in detail, but giving such specification of it as will enable the ct. to see with certainty the grounds upon which the master acted.—JOHNSTON v. REARDON (1827), 1 Moll. 54.—IR.

2451 ii. ———.]—The master's report under a reference, relative to the appointment of new trustees, under 1 Will. 4, c. 60, ought to state that the persons approved of as new trustees had consented to act.—Re DEANE (1838), 1 Craw. & D. 475.—IR.

2451 iii. ———.]—A master, provided he sufficiently follows the directions of the decree, is not obliged to give reasons for, or enter into a detailed explanation of, his report.—BOOTH v. RATTE (1892), 21 S. C. R. 637.—CAN.

2451 iv. ——— “Under the circumstances.”]—It is incorrect in a master's report to state “under the circumstances,” without giving the ct. an opportunity of knowing the ground & circumstances on which the master reports the matter.—KELLY v. BONYNGE, 2 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 43.—IR.

2451 v. ——— Inferences drawn from facts.]—Under an order of reference to take an account of assets, the master having reported that there were assets sufficient to satisfy pltf.'s legacy, although assets to an amount sufficient to satisfy the trusts of the will were not shown by the accounts, the master grounding his general finding upon the evidence of deft.'s admission of assets by his answer:—Held: the report was right, this being an inference directly arising from, although not strictly within the terms of, the reference, & the master not being so purely ministerial as to be precluded from drawing such inferences, but on the contrary bound to do so.—M'CARTHY v. M'CARTHY (1828), 1 Moll. 186.—IR.

2451 vi. ——— Findings must be specific.]

At the trial a compulsory order of reference was made, referring “questions arising upon the pleadings of this action between the parties, including any questions of account,” to an official referee “for inquiry & report”:—Held: this was a reference under Jud. Act, s. 47 & not one under s. 48, & the referee having made a general finding by his report, the case must be referred back to him to give specific findings.—LUNNEY v. ESSERY (1884), 10 P. R. 285.—CAN.

2451 vii. ———.]—A report must be specific, & a report that an estate was very small cannot be taken as a report; it should state how much, & not in round numbers, but set it out exactly; if otherwise, although not excepted to, the ct. will not act upon it, unless upon the consent of all persons interested.—KNOX v. NEARY (1828), 1 Moll. 214.—IR.

2455 i. Effect of report—When ex parte.]—A report is entitled to less weight where only one side has been heard.—HOGAN v. GATES (1893), 26 N. S. L. R. 85.—CAN.

2455 ii. ——— Not equivalent to verdict of jury.]—The report of a referee, to whom a matter of account is referred, is not to be treated as equivalent to the verdict of a jury.—HOGAN v. GATES (1893), 26 N. S. L. R. 85.—CAN.

2460. Procedure after report—Motion for judgment—Motion to set aside.]—Where a preliminary account has been referred to an official referee, & the referee has made his report, the proper course is not to set the cause down for hearing, but for the party in whose favour the findings are to move for judgment on the report, & for the opposite party to move to set it aside.—WALKER v. BUNKELL (1883), 22 Ch. D. 722; 52 L. J. Ch. 596; 48 L. T. 618; 31 W. R. 661, C. A.

2461. — Motion that action be dismissed.]—An action for an injunction to restrain a nuisance was referred to an official referee for inquiry & report. The referee found there was no nuisance. Defts. moved under R. S. C., Ord. 40, r. 7, upon a two-days' notice of motion, that the action should be dismissed with costs:—Held: Ord. 36, r. 55, was a rule enabling the ct. to give effect to the report of a referee, irrespective of the trial of the action, where further consideration had not been adjourned, & did not apply to a case like the then present, where the report directed no act to be done, & a two-days' notice of motion under Ord. 40, r. 7, was sufficient.—LARKIN v. LLOYD (1891), 64 L. T. 507.

2462. — May be adopted — & enforced as judgment of court.]—Under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 56, any question in any cause may be referred to a special referee, whose report may be adopted, & (if so) may be enforced as a judgment of the ct.—WALLIS v. LICHFIELD (1876), 3 Char. Pr. Cas. 302.

w. — Refusal of court to extend time.]—In an action a reference was ordered to an official referee "for inquiry & report pursuant to s. 101 of Jud. Act & r. 552 of the High Ct. of Justice." The referee reported. The municipality appealed to the Divisional Ct. from the report:—Held: (1) the appeal not having been brought within one month from the date of the report, as required by cons. r. 848, it was too late; (2) the report had to be filed by the party appealing before the appeal could be brought, but the time could not be enlarged by his delay in filing it; (3) the refusal to extend the time was an exercise of judicial discretion with which the Supreme Ct. would not interfere.—COLCHESTER SOUTH TOWNSHIP v. VALAD (1895), 24 S. C. R. 622.—CAN.

x. — After what time incompetent.]—After the report of a referee has become absolute & a judgment on further directions founded thereon has been pronounced, drawn up, & entered, a judge in chambers has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for leave to appeal; nor could any appeal be entertained unless the judgment on further directions were set aside; & that can be done only by the proper appellate tribunal.—Re DINGMAN & HALL (1889), 13 P. R. 232.—CAN.

y. — Notice.]—According to the true meaning of r. a. — Waiver.]—Appeal from a report or award of a referee, on the ground that it should have been made under the terms of the lease by the master in ordinary:—Held: the latter was the proper party, but as appct. had waived his right to object by appearing before the referee, the appeal should be dismissed.—Re DENISON & FOSTER (1908), 12 O. c. — A reference was made to a local master who had, prior to his appointment, been the counsel of one of the litigants. Neither party objected to his taking the reference, but, on the contrary, the master certified that he acted in the reference at the pressing instance of both parties:—Held: the party against whom the master reported, having taken the chance of the master finding in his favour, could not raise that objection on an appeal from the report.—COTTER v. COTTER (1874), 21 Gr. 159.—*CAN.

g. — In what cases.]—An objection to the report, that the master from his state of health was incapable of understanding it, & that his signature was improperly obtained, should not be made by way of exception, but the party objecting should move for an order to quash the report, & take it off the file.—KILBEE v. SNEYD (1828), 2 Moll. 194.—IR.

h. — Within what time.]—The ct. will receive exceptions to a report, although the time for excepting is out, & the cause is in the paper of the day to be heard.—KILDARE v. WHITE, Howard's Chancery Practice, 246.—IR.

k. — When exceptions will be overruled.]—Exceptions to a report which is conformable to the decree will be overruled, although the decree is wrong; a wrong decree can be set right by rehearing only.—CARMICHAEL v. WILSON (1830), 3 Moll. 80.—IR.

l. — Consideration of each ground separately.]—It is not the course of the ct., when an order is made upon one deft.'s exceptions, to make the same order as to another deft.'s, without going into his case particularly. Each exception & each party excepting should have the benefit of the ct.'s judgment separately & independently exercised.—KILBEE v. SNEYD (1828), 2 Moll. 194.—IR.

2464 i. — Application to set aside—Grounds for refusing.]—In an action for an account the judge made an order referring to an accountant the evidence that had been taken before a master, that he might report on a number of questions specifically set out. If the accountant should desire the instructions of the judge on any point, he was to refer such point or matter to the judge for further instructions. A motion was made to set aside the report for irregularity. The judge refused the motion:—Held: the motion to set the report aside was premature.—KING v. SEETON (1888), 21 N. S. L. R. 20.—CAN.

2467. ——— Necessity for.]—The ct. will not, upon the further consideration of an action, go into the evidence upon which the referee, to whom matters in the action were referred, has based his report, unless one of the parties has given notice of motion to vary the report or remit the matter for re-hearing.—Re FITTON'S ESTATE, HARDY v. FITTON (1893), 70 L. T. 397; 42 W. R. 281; 38 Sol. Jo. 129; 8 R. 99.

2468. ——— Grounds for refusal.]—A petition having been presented for payment out of ct. of a fund to which there were numerous rival claimants, the matter was by consent referred to a special referee. After the hearing an application was made to vary the referee's report, on the ground (inter alia) that he had improperly rejected certain correspondence tendered to him, & was refused, as no substantial wrong had been done & the production of the letters would have been useless & a waste of time:—Held: (1) there was no evidence that the documents rejected were material & such as would have justified the grant of an adjournment of the hearing, supposing an application to that end had been made, & there had been no failure of duty on the part of the referee; (2) the application to vary was properly refused.—Re MAPLIN SANDS (1894), 71 L. m. ——— Power of court to re-open report.]—Pending a reference to take accounts, a settlement was made between the parties, in the absence of their solrs., but there was a dispute as to the terms. On appeal from the master's report:—Held: defts. should not be prejudiced by having withheld before the master any evidence to support the settlement in the terms which they asserted, & the report should be opened report what sums of money, if any, were fit to be awarded to pltfs. for any damage sustained by them by the use of the infringing tickets. The referee by his report found, for the reasons assigned by the report, that £3,067 ought to be paid by first two defts. & £5,000 by the third. Defts. moved to vary the report, & pltfs. moved that it be adopted:—Held: the report should be adopted, & defts.' motions dismissed.—ALEXANDER v. HENRY (1895), 12 R. P. C. 360.

2470. ——— Appeal where motion dismissed.]
—An action was commenced in 1903, claiming an account of the dealings & transactions by deft. as manager on behalf of pltfs. of the business of an engineering co. The account was directed to be taken before an official referee, who in due time lodged his report. The further consideration of the action & a motion by deft. to vary the report of the official referee were heard in May, 1907, & by an order of May 7, 1907, the motion to vary was dismissed:—Held: an appeal set down on Aug. 1, 1907, was not presented in time & must be dismissed, as R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 15a, must be construed strictly & did not apply to a motion to vary a report.—SAUNDERS DAVIES v. BAILLIE (1907), W. N. 237, C. A.

2473. — Report remitted back—Form of order remitting.]—In an action for damages in respect of the wrongful sale of goods comprised in a bill of sale, inquiries were directed before an official referee. The referee reported that there were no damages which he could assess. On pltf.'s application the ct. remitted the action to the referee, with a direction that regard was to be had to the fact that the bill of sale was admitted to be void, but declined to exclude from the consideration of the referee any evidence showing that the sale was made at the request or with the consent of pltf. :—Held: the order directing inquiries should be varied & the matter should be referred back to the referee on the footing of the sale itself being wrongful.—WALLIS v. SAYERS (1890), 6 T. L. R. 356, C. A.

SUB-SECT. 6.—COSTS.

2474. Costs of reference usually costs in cause.]—The costs of referring a question arising in an action to a special referee are usually costs in the cause.—BADISCHE ANILIN UND SODA FABRIK v. LEVINSTEIN (1883), 24 Ch. D. 156; 52 L. J. Ch. 704; 48 L. T. 822; 31 W. R. 913.

2473 i. — Power of court to remit back.]—A reference was ordered to a master to ascertain the amount of the interest of C., as a residuary legatee, in the estate of N., & also the amount of receipts & expenditure by the deceased trustee of the estate in the trustee's lifetime. After receiving the report of the referee the judge referred the report back to be varied & with further instructions:—Held: the whole cause & matters in controversy being still before the judge, he had power in giving further directions to the referee to correct errors into which he had fallen, in this respect, being unlike a common law action.—CAIRNS v. MURRAY (1905), 37 N. S. L. R. 451.—CAN.

2473 ii. — — — (Grounds for.)—Where the master's report was objected to, & it appeared to be in perfect conformity with the order of reference, it was referred to the master to report upon what evidence he reported.—JOHNSON v. REARDON, 1 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 51, 129, 390.—IR.

2473 iii. — — — .]—Where a party has had an opportunity of raising a question in the master's office but does not, & afterwards applies to the ct. for liberty to do it, the report will for that purpose be sent back to the master to review, but the party applying must pay the other party his costs, as between attorney & client.—KELLY v. BONYNGE, 2 Moll. 383.—IR.

2473 iv. — — — .]—Where a third person's rights are injured by an ex p. report, he should move to have the report sent back to the master to review it, having regard to appct.'s rights.—SHINKIN v. IVERS (1827), 2 Moll. 440.—IR.

2473 v. — — — .]—The master is the final judge of the credibility of witnesses, & his report should not be sent back because some irrelevant evidence may have been given of a character not likely to have affected his judgment, especially when no appeal has been taken from his ruling on the evidence.—BOOTH v. RATT (1892), 21 S. C. R. 637.—CAN.

2473 vi. — — — .]—On motion to send back a report to the master, in order to reconsider same, some specific objection should be stated, in order to enable the ct. to form an opinion, as to whether the report is wrong or not.—VILLIERS v. REDMOND, 2 Ir. L. Rec. 1st ser. 260.—IR.

2473 vii. — — — .]—That matter, as reported, is outside the reference & surplusage is not ground of exception to the report, for it is not the practice to send back a report to the master to expunge a few unnecessary words.—M'CARTHY v. M'CARTHY (1828), 1 Moll. 186.—IR.

2473 viii. — — — .]—The ct. will refer a report back to the master, at the expense of parties wishing to object thereto, where he signed his report before the objections were handed in, if the delay is accounted for & injustice might be done to the parties.—KANE v. BLOOMFIELD (1818), 2 Moll. 331.—IR.

2473 x. — Procedure in remitting back.]—Where a report is sent back to be reviewed, there must be a rule nisi to confirm it, unless otherwise provided in the order sending it back; & if no such provision, the new report is until confirmation open to objection.—READ v. HODGENS, 2 Moll. 387.—IR.

PART V. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 6.

q. Power of referee over costs.]—The referee had dismissed a petition for a certificate of title, with costs. On motion to set aside such order as irregular:—Held: the referee had power over costs, & order not set aside.—Re REFEREE (1866), 2 Ch. Ch. 22.—CAN.

r. Costs of action — Include costs of reference, award, & subsequent proceedings.]—The rule of T. T., 24 Vict., applies, in the case of a compulsory reference, to the whole costs in the action, including the costs of the reference & award & proceedings subsequent thereto, & is not restricted to what may strictly be called the costs of the action.—JOHNSON v. See Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 14.

SUB-SECT. 1.—POWER TO REFER.

A. In General.

2476. Judge at Nisi Prius.]—A judge of Nisi Prius may by consent make a rule to refer, & oblige the parties to stand by it.—HOLFORD v. LAWRENCE (1695), 12 Mod. Rep. 87; 88 E. R. 1182.

2477. Judge of Lord Mayor's Court.]—A judge of the Lord Mayor's Ct., & at Nisi Prius, has no cause of a reference to ascertain the amount of "reasonable rebate of rent," no costs should be allowed either party.—HESSEY v. QUINN (1911), 20 O. W. R. 779; 3 O. W. N. 442.—CAN.

2474 i. Costs of reference.]—A cause was referred to a master to ascertain what amount was due on a judgment upon which pltf. had issued execution, directing the sheriff to levy for $454. The master reported only $62 due, & exceptions being taken to the report, it was confirmed:—Held: deft. was entitled to the costs of the reference.—LYNCH v. O'BRIEN (1873), R. E. D. 396.—CAN.

t. Costs of appeal.]—An application, on behalf of pltf., to confirm the master's report, was dismissed with costs, on the ground that the application should have been to the ct., the fact that the cause had been adjourned for further hearing being overlooked or forgotten. Pltf.'s appeal was allowed, & costs reserved:—Held: pltf. should have the costs of that appeal.—FRASER v. KAYK (1892), 25 N. S. L. R. 102.—CAN.

2475 i. Remuneration of referee—How entitled to payment.]—A referee having entered upon a reference is not entitled to payment of his fees from day to day as a condition of proceeding with the reference.—GALLAGHER v. MONCTON (1901), 21 C. L. T. 485; 2 N. B. Eq. Rep. 269.—CAN.

2475 ii. — Security for.]—Semble: where there is a probability that the fees of a referee will not be paid, the ct. will require that his fees be secured to him before ordering the reference to be proceeded with.—GALLAGHER v. MONCTON (1901), 21 C. L. T. 485; 2 N. B. Eq. Rep. 269.—CAN.

2475 iii. — Remedy for.]—Upon a reference under Jud. Act, s. 102, the referee apportioned the amount of his fees between pltf. & defts. according to the time occupied by each upon the reference. Pltf. paid their share, but defts. did not:—Held: the referee should issue his report to pltf. without further payment by them, & look to defts. for their share of his fees.—BROOKS v. GEORGIAN BAY SAW-LOG SALVAGE CO., RUMLEY v. GEORGIAN BAY SAW-LOG SALVAGE CO. (1895), 17 P. R. 34.—CAN.

power under C. L. P. Act, 1854, to order a cause to be compulsorily referred against the will of one of the parties.—MORGAN v. AINSLIE (1873), 28 L. T. 120.

2478. Power to refer to special referee—Before Act of 1889—Reservation as to costs.]—The ct. or a judge has no power to refer any cause or matter to a special referee without the consent of the parties thereto.

One of the parties to a cause objected to a reference to a special referee, & the judge, in ordering the cause to be tried by an official referee, ordered that "the extra costs occasioned by a trial before an official referee instead of a special referee be reserved":—Held: the judge had jurisdiction to insert these terms in the order.—LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. v. BRITISH AMERICAN ASSOCN. (1885), 54 L. J. Q. B. 302; 52 L. T. 385.

2479. Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 56—Act of 1889, s. 14.]—Pltfs. brought an action for an injunction to restrain deft. from interfering with pltfs.' ancient lights. Special issues were raised in the action, & a question arose whether, according to the plans & evidence, a proposed erection would materially obscure the ancient lights:—Held: (1) under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 56, the ct. had a discretion to send the whole case to be tried by a referee, & having regard to the evidence of deft., that seemed to be a very convenient course to take; (2) as a question of law might arise, & it would be most unfortunate if the referee should adopt a view in regard to the latter which the ct. might think incorrect, the proper course was to refer the whole case to an official referee under the Act of 1889, s. 14 (b), & to direct him to send a special case (s. 19) of any question of law which might arise in the course of the inquiry.—PARKS v. EAMES, [1890] W. N. 143.

2480. Married Women's Property Act, 1882 (c. 75), s. 17.]—The ct. has no jurisdiction under the above sect. to refer the whole subject-matter of an originating summons taken out under the sect. to an official referee for trial. Qu.: whether, having regard to the special & peculiar jurisdiction conferred by the above sect., the ct. has jurisdiction to refer a matter arising under that sect. to an official referee for trial under s. 14 of the Act of 1889.—Re HUMPHERY & HUMPHERY, [1917] 2 K. B. 72; 86 L. J. K. B. 775; 117 L. T. 7; 61 Sol. Jo. 382, C. A.

2481. One defendant out of jurisdiction—Form of order.]—By consent of pltf. & deft. within the jurisdiction, partnership accounts, etc., & all matters in difference, were referred to arbn., notwithstanding the absence beyond the jurisdiction of other deft., who had been a partner with pltf. & deft. before the ct. Form of order of reference.—DUXBURY v. ISHERWOOD (1864), 10 L. T. 712; 12 W. R. 821.

2482. Only parties on record can consent to reference of cause.]—A submission to an award between A. & B., the parties on the record, having been made a rule of ct., which award not having been made in time, the dispute had been referred to a second arbitrator by B. & C., the real parties in the suit, no attachment can issue against B. for not obeying the award made by the second arbitrator, because the reference should be made by the parties on the record.—OWEN v. HURD (1788), 2 Term Rep. 643; 100 E. R. 346.

B. Prolonged Examination of Documents or Scientific Inquiry.

2483. General rule.]—The ct. or a judge has no power under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 57, to order an action to be referred to an official referee, for s. 57 only allows any question or issue of fact, or any question of account, to be tried before an official referee, if the parties consent in any cause, & if they do not consent, in any cause requiring a prolonged examination of documents or accounts or any scientific or local investigation.—LONGMAN v. EAST, PONTIFEX v. SEVERN, MELLIN v. MONICO (1877), 3 C. P. D. 142; 47 L. J. Q. B. 211; 38 L. T. 11; 26 W. R. 183, C. A.

2484. Prolonged examination of documents—What is—Reading letters.]—Reading a lot of letters is not what Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57, means by a "prolonged examination of documents" (LUSH, J.).—GREEN'S TRUSTEE v. BARRETT, BARRETT v. ROSENTHAL (1875), Bitt. Prac. Cas. 22.

2485. ——— Appeal from order of reference.]—The Ct. of Appeal has power to review the order made by a judge under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57, who, having jurisdiction to make such order, has in the exercise of his discretion ordered the issues of fact in an action to be tried by an official referee, on the ground that they required prolonged examination of documents & also scientific & local investigation; but the Ct. of Appeal, whose discretion in such case is to be substituted for that of the judge, will not exercise such discretion except in a strong case where it clearly thinks the judge has wrongly exercised his discretion, & that an injustice has been done by the order he has so made. Semble: the "prolonged examination of documents" intended by the above sect. is an examination required to enable the judge to leave questions of fact to the jury, & not an examination to enable him to determine a question of legal right (BRETT, L.J.).—ORMEROD v. TODMORDEN JOINT STOCK MILL CO., LTD. (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 664; 51 L. J. Q. B. 348; 46 L. T. 669; 30 W. R. 805, C. A.

2486. Solicitor's negligence—Delay.] Where an action was one of negligence alleged against solrs., who had reported favourably on a mtge. investment which resulted in loss:—Held: (1) no order to refer could be made; (2) there was a difficulty about directing trial before a special referee when a cause was on the point of being tried.—ANON. (1875), 1 Char. Cham. Cas. 26; Bitt. Prac. Cas. 6.

2487. ——— Reference of whole cause.]—Where a cause requires any prolonged investigation of documents or accounts within Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57, all the issues in such cause may be compulsorily referred to an official referee for trial, & the power to refer is not limited to such issues as involve questions of account.

A summons to refer all the issues for trial to an official referee need not be taken out within four days after notice of trial under R. S. C., Ord. 36, r. 5.—WARD v. PILLEY (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 427; 49 L. J. Q. B. 705; 43 L. T. 301; 28 W. R. 937, C. A.

2488. ——— Constructive total loss—Evidence on commission.]—In an action for constructive total loss, the main question to be decided was whether a particular twist in a vessel was congenital, or caused by perils of the sea. Evidence taken on commission amounted to three hundred pages of print, & six scientific witnesses were to be called:—

Held: this was not a case involving such "prolonged examination of documents or accounts, or any scientific or local investigation," as to fall within Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57, & an application at chambers to direct the trial of the action to be taken before a special referee or referees, instead of before a jury, was properly refused.—HAMILTON v. MERCHANTS' MARINE INSURANCE CO. (1889), 58 L. J. Q. B. 544.

Annotation:—Consd. Swyny v. N. E. Ry. Co. (1896), 74 L. T. 88, C. A.

2489. Scientific or local examination—What is—Patent action—Appeal.]—At the trial of an action for the alleged infringement of a patent, the judge, during the opening of the case but before its conclusion, intimated that in his opinion the issues of fact ought to be tried before an official referee. Accordingly he adjourned the case, & after the lapse of a few days an order was drawn up as an order of the High Ct. referring the issues to an official referee:—Held: it was impossible to say that such an action did not require a scientific investigation, & the judge having decided that it did, the ct. would not interfere with his discretion. Qu.: whether the appeal was to the Ct. of Appeal or not.—SAXBY v. GLOUCESTER WAGON CO., [1880] W. N. 28.

2490. — Furniture to be examined.]—Where furniture in a house has to be examined, a local investigation is required & a reference may be ordered without the consent of all the parties interested.—ANON. (1875), Bitt. Prac. Cas. 46; 1 Char. Cham. Cas. 29.

2491. — Obstruction of light.]—The power to direct a compulsory reference does not enable the ct., in an action for obstruction of light & air, to appoint a surveyor at deft.'s instance to view the premises, etc., & report to the ct. as to any injury sustained, there not being involved a "prolonged examination of documents or any scientific or local investigation."—BALTIC CO. v. SIMPSON (1876), 24 W. R. 390; 2 Char. Pr. Cas. 119.

2492. — Allegation of fraud.]—Deft., in an action for money due for work done under a contract, pleaded that the work had not been done to the satisfaction of his architect, the terms of the contract being that pltf. should be paid only on the completion of the work to the satisfaction of deft. & of his architect, whose decision in case of dispute was to be final & binding. Deft. then counter-claimed, in respect of delay & defective machinery supplied, for a sum greater than pltf.'s claim. In reply pltf. alleged that the architect had refused to say he was satisfied unfairly & improperly in collusion with deft. & by his procurement. Subsequently pltf. obtained an order for the trial of the action by a referee under s. 14 of the Act of 1889:—Held: the order ought not to have been made because pltf.'s allegation was one of fraud, which, being capable of being tried separately, he had a right to have tried by a jury.—RUSSELL & CO. v. HARRIS (1891), 65 L. T. 752.

C. Matters of Account.

(a) Under Common Law Procedure Act, 1854 (c. 125), s. 3.

2493. Claim for deduction for timber improperly cut.]—In an action for freight where the items of the account were admitted, but deft. claimed a deduction in respect of timber alleged to have been improperly cut by the master at Quebec, which claim was answered by the allegation of a custom at Quebec authorising the master so to cut the timber, deft. applied to the ct. to order a reference under the above sect.:—Held: the sect. did not apply.—SIM v. OLIVER (1854), 24 L. T. O. S. 71.

2494. Cross claim for security.]—An action, in which either the terms of an agreement declared on or the nature of the pleadings necessarily involve "matter of account," will not be tried, but will be referred by the judge under the above sect., & a cross claim for security will also be referred.—JONES v. BEAUMONT (1858), 1 F. & F. 336.

2495. Dilapidations—Amount only in dispute.]—An action for dilapidations, when money is paid into ct., & the question in dispute is only as to the amount of the damages, may be a matter of account & the subject of a compulsory reference within the above sect.—CUMMINS v. ADDISON (1860), 2 F. & F. 291.

Annotation:—Refd. Angell v. Felgate (1861), 10 W. R. 83.

2497. — Sufficiency of amount paid into court.]—In an action by a landlord against his tenant for breach of contract in not repairing the demised premises, & delivering same up in proper repair, deft. pleaded payment of £10 into ct. Pltf. replied that was not sufficient. A judge of chambers then made an order under the above sect. against deft.'s consent that the whole matter be referred:—Held: the order for a compulsory reference was correct.—ANGELL v. FELGATE (1861), 7 H. & N. 396; 31 L. J. Ex. 41; 5 L. T. 322; 10 W. R. 83; 158 E. R. 527.

2498. Bills of exchange.]—The ct. refused to refer an action upon bills of exchange to the master, under the compulsory clauses of the above sect., pltf. suing deft. as drawer, which was not a matter of mere account.—PELLATT v. MARKWICK (1858), 3 C. B. N. S. 760; 30 L. T. O. S. 275; 6 W. R. 254; 140 E. R. 941.

Annotation:—Refd. Angell v. Felgate (1861), 10 W. R. 83.

2499. Matter of account between one of parties to cause & third party.]—There may be a reference of a cause or of matter of account therein by the judge at the trial, on the application of either party, under the above sect., & this, although the "matter of account" is not between pltf. & deft., but between one of the parties to the cause & a third party, provided it is by plea or otherwise mixed up with the cause of action or defence.—ADAMS v. YEOMAN (1860), 2 F. & F. 92.

2500. Solicitor's bill—Set-off—Retainer.]—Where there was a set-off on an attorney's bill, & the question of retainer might arise on many of the items:—Held: the cause involved "matter of account," which could not be conveniently tried, & must be referred.—GOODRED v. SEALE (1861), 2 F. & F. 382.

2501. — Negligence.]—In an action on an attorney's bill, there being a dispute as to items, & also a defence on the ground of negligence, & a judge having made an order at chambers to refer the matter to the arbn. of the master under the above sect., the ct. refused to disturb the order, it not having been made to appear on the part of deft. at chambers that the defence of negligence was so distinct as that it ought to be tried by a jury.—REECE v. CHAFFERS (1863), 7 L. T. 781; 11 W. R. 307.

fit subject for a reference to arbn.—KAHNWEILER v. DOBSON (1863), 3 F. & F. 709.

2503. Commission—Part only.]—In an action for goods sold, money had & received, & money lent, pltfs.' claim consisted partly of matters of mere account, which could not be conveniently tried by a jury, & partly of commission, which pltfs. had paid defts. in respect of orders for goods, & which pltfs. sought to recover back, on the ground that such orders were fictitious:—Held: a judge had jurisdiction under the above sect. to refer the case compulsorily to a master, & the ct. refused to interfere with the judge's exercise of such jurisdiction.—IMHOF v. SUTTON (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 406; 36 L. J. C. P. 130; 15 L. T. 578.

2504. Action for work & labour.]—Pltf. sued deft. for work & labour as an auctioneer, & before plea deft. applied to a judge for an order to refer the matter to one of the masters, upon an affidavit which stated "that the matter in dispute in this action consists of mere matter of account, which cannot be conveniently tried in the ordinary way," which order, though opposed by pltf., was accordingly made. Upon a subsequent application by pltf. to set aside such order, upon the ground that an action for "work & labour" was not within the operation of C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3, & that it would be competent to deft. to set up a defence of non-liability:—Held: such action was within the operation of the Act, & if when before the master deft. set up any other matter of defence, then it would be the proper time for pltf. to apply to rescind the order.—CLARK v. WARE (1867), 17 L. T. 144.

2505. Question of law.]—A ct. of common law may, at least with the consent of the parties, refer a cause to arbn. under the above sect., although it has been sent from the Ct. of Ch. as one involving matters fit to be disposed of by a ct. of law.

Where it was suggested that a cause to be referred to the master under that sect. turned almost entirely on a question of law, the ct., with consent of the parties, referred it to the master, with a direction that, if that question arose before him, he should make an interlocutory report referring it to the ct., which, in the event of the decision of that question being insufficient to end the dispute, would send it back to him to go into the rest of the account.—MASTER v. HAMILTON, HAMILTON v. MASTER (1857), 3 Jur. N. S. 722.

2506. — Accounts agreed.]—In an action to recover the amount due to pltfs. for the insertion by them, on the order of deft., of certain advertisements from time to time in various newspapers, the ct. made absolute a rule to set aside a compulsory order of reference by a judge at chambers under the above sect., it appearing to the ct., on the affidavit of deft. made subsequent to the order, that the amount sued for was admitted, & that the only question was as to the liability of deft., as the agent of a third party, in giving the orders for insertion to pltfs.—BROWN v. GIRARD (1868), 19 L. T. 324.

2507. Allegations of fraud.]—Pltfs. sued deft. for over seven million cubic feet of gas sold & delivered, during a period of nearly five years, at a price of 2s. 5d. per cubic foot. Dft., as to part of the claim, paid money into ct., & pleaded, as to the residue, "never indebted" & payment. He then obtained an order under the above sect. compulsorily referring the action, on the ground that the matter in dispute was wholly or in part one of "mere account," which could not conveniently be tried by a jury. Pltfs. applied to rescind this order, alleging that they proposed at the trial to attempt to prove that deft. had been guilty of fraudulent conduct by the secret abstraction of their gas, & that upon this question, which would regulate the damages awarded, they were entitled to the verdict of a jury:—Held: the nature of the dispute was not altered because pltfs. imputed fraud to deft. in relation to it, & substantially, the matter was one wholly or in part of mere account, which could not be conveniently tried by a jury, & the order was rightly made.—BIRMINGHAM & STAFFORDSHIRE GAS CO. v. RATCLIFF (1871), L. R. 6 Exch. 224; 40 L. J. Ex. 136.

2508. Preliminary question as to liability.]—In an action for breach of covenant to repair, deft. denied his liability. A judge having ordered the action to be referred compulsorily under the above sect., the Exchequer Division affirmed the order:—Held: the order must be reversed, for the judge had wrongly exercised his discretion in referring it. Semble: as there was a preliminary question as to the liability of deft. to be decided before any question of account could arise, there was no power to refer the action compulsorily under the above enactment.—CLOW v. HARPER (1878), 3 Ex. D. 198; 47 L. J. Q. B. 393; 38 L. T. 269; 26 W. R. 364, C. A.

2509. Part only matters of account—Reference of whole cause.]—Where the matter in dispute in a cause consists wholly, or in part, of matters of mere account, the ct. or a judge may in either case, if they or he think fit, order the whole matter in dispute to be referred, or a part only, under the above sect.—BROWNE (BROWN) v. EMERSON (1856), 17 C. B. 361; 25 L. J. C. P. 104; 26 L. T. O. S. 260; 2 Jur. N. S. 190; 4 W. R. 295; 139 E. R. 1112.

2511. — Reference of part.]—In an action by an engineer for professional services, the claim depending partly upon his right to commission, & partly on the propriety of charges for work done, the items of which were numerous, the judge ordered the latter to be referred to arbn. under the above sect. as a matter of account, consenting to try the question with regard to the right to commission as a question of fact.—MURRAY v. SUNDERLAND DOCK CO. (1858), 1 F. & F. 179.

(b) Under Judicature Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 57.

2512. Allegations of fraud.]—The ct. will not, without consent of the parties, order a case to be tried before an official referee under the above sect., where there are charges of fraud, & the issues to be tried involve the character & reputation of one of the parties. Such a case is not within the purview of the sect. Semble: the ct. would have no jurisdiction to make such an order.—LEIGH v. BROOKS (1877), 5 Ch. D. 592; 46 L. J. Ch. 344; 25 W. R. 401, C. A.

2513. — — —.]—A charge of fraud was brought against a party to an arbn., & the ct. held that though it is not an absolute rule of law that a man is entitled to a trial in open ct., yet, unless in most peculiar circumstances, he ought to have a charge of fraud tried in open ct., & not in a private room, so that his enemies may not be able to say that they did not know how the charge was met & how far the man was absolved.—DIMMOCK v. RANDALL (1889), 5 T. L. R. 358, C. A.

2514. — Appeal.]—A judge has jurisdiction, under the above sect., to refer compulsory issues which involve questions of fraud, affecting the character & reputation of the parties, though, as a general rule, such issues ought not to be referred.

An appeal from a compulsory order of reference, made under the above sect. by a judge sitting at Nisi Prius or assizes, must be brought direct to the Ct. of Appeal.—HOCH v. BOOR (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 665; 43 L. T. 425, C. A.

*Annotations:—Folld. Sacker v. Ragozine (1881), 44 L. T. 308. Consd. Dimmock v. Randall (1889), 5 T. L. R. 358, C. A. Distd. Russell v. Harris (1891), 65 L. T. 752. Refd. Ormerod v. Todmorden Joint Stock Mill Co. (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 664, C. A.

2515. Order obtained as to trial — Application for reference too late.]—In a suit to ascertain boundaries pltf. gave notice of trial before a judge & obtained an order that the evidence should be taken viva voce at the trial. Five weeks afterwards he applied that the suit might be referred to an official referee, on the ground of saving expense & that a local investigation was necessary:—Held: (1) the application was out of time; (2) pltf., having already selected the mode in which his action should be tried, could not afterwards resort to another mode of trial.—LASCELLES v. BUTT (1876), 2 Ch. D. 588; 35 L. T. 122; 24 W. R. 659; 3 Char. Pr. Cas. 290, C. A.

*Annotation:—Dbtd. Ward v. Pilley (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 427, C. A.

2516. "Accounts"—Not construed narrowly.]—The ct. will order a matter to be referred to a special referee if the parties consent, or to an ordinary official referee where there is not such consent, if it is satisfied that there are difficult questions of account to be settled, or that scientific investigation is necessary, & the ct. will not give a narrow meaning to the word "accounts" used in the above sect.—Re LEIGH, ROWCLIFFE v. LEIGH (1876), 3 Ch. D. 292; 24 W. R. 782; 2 Char. Pr. Cas. 128.

2517. Where part referable—All issues may be referred.]—Any question of account which may be referred compulsorily to a master under C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3, may also be referred compulsorily to an official referee under Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57. In any case in which the ct. has jurisdiction to refer compulsorily a question of account to an official referee, it has also jurisdiction so to refer all the other issues in the action.—WARD v. PILLEY (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 427; 49 L. J. Q. B. 705; 43 L. T. 301; 28 W. R. 937, C. A.

*Annotations:—Folld. Martin v. Fyfe (1883), 49 L. T. 107; Knight v. Coales (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 296, C. A.

2518. — Partnership disputes.]—To an action for money had & received, deft. pleaded that "ptf. & deft. still are partners or co-adventurers in holding certain horse races & race meetings, which partnership still subsists, & the alleged causes of action arose out of such partnership & not otherwise." An order having been made by a judge at chambers referring all the issues in the action to an official referee:—Held: the order was right.—GOODWIN v. BUDDEN (1880), 42 L. T. 536.

2519. —.]—If any part of the matter in dispute can be brought within C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3, as being matter of mere account which cannot conveniently be tried in the ordinary way, then Jud. Act, 1873, s. 57, applies, & the ct. or a judge has jurisdiction to refer compulsorily under that sect. all the issues in the cause (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—KNIGHT v. COALES (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 296; 56 L. J. Q. B. 486; 35 W. R. 679; 3 T. L. R. 659, C. A. *Annotations:—Apld. Hurlbatt v. Barnett, [1893] 1 Q. B. 77, C. A. Refd. Case v. Willis (1892), 8 T. L. R. 610.

2520. Account & wrongful dismissal—Justification.]—Pltf. brought an action against defts. for damages for 'wrongful dismissal, for balance of amount of money paid to defts.' use, & for an account of profits on sales on which pltf. claimed commission. Defts. justified the dismissal on the ground that pltf. had misconducted himself by wilfully disobeying the reasonable orders of defts., & by habitually neglecting his duties, & by converting to his own use money which he had received to the use of defts. By order of a judge at chambers the issues in the action were referred to an official referee pursuant to the above sect., the statement of defence being amended by omitting the allegation that pltf. converted money to his own use:—Held: the order of the judge at chambers was right.—SACKER v. RAGOZINE & Co. (1881), 44 L. T. 308.

*Annotation:—Refd. Russell v. Harris (1891), 65 L. T. 752.

(c) Under Arbitration Act, 1889 (c. 49), s. 14.

2521. Preliminary questions of law & fact.]—In an action for damages for an alleged breach of a mining lease, by not working a coal mine in a proper & workmanlike manner & in breach of the provisions of the lease, defts. denied that they had improperly worked the mine, stating that the flooding of a certain seam was rendered necessary by the fiery character of the coal, & contended that, on the true construction of the covenant, their action was right:—Held: an order of a judge at chambers ordering the case to be tried before an official referee was wrong, & must be set aside.

It is very undesirable that parties should be deprived of their right to have questions of law determined by a judge, & questions of fact determined by a jury. Defts. object to have their case tried by a private tribunal, & they are justified in their objection (DAY, J.).—CASE v. WILLIS (WALLIS) (1892), 8 T. L. R. 610; 36 Sol. Jo. 463.

2522. Part of case involving matters of account.]—If the ct. think that any part of a case does or may involve a matter of account, the whole case may be compulsorily referred under the above sect., although in certain events it may become unnecessary to determine the matter of account.—HURLBATT v. BARNETT & Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 77; 62 L. J. Q. B. 1; 67 L. T. 818; 41 W. R. 33; 9 T. L. R. 23; 37 Sol. Jo. 8; 4 R. 103, C. A.

2523. Accounts of unusual difficulty.]—A very difficult account was directed to be taken by an official referee instead of in chambers, on account of the great saving of time which would thus be effected.—ROCHEFOUCAULD v. BOUSTEAD, [1897] 1 Ch. 196, C. A.

f. — Only to official referee or judge of county court.]—Except by consent, the ct. has no power to order a reference under s. 101 of Ontario Jud. Act, R. S. O., 1887 (c. 44), to any person other than an official referee or the judge of a county ct.—FEWSTER v. RALEIGH TOWNSHIP (1892), 14 P. R. 429.—CAN.

g. — Discretion of court to interfere.]—Pltf.'s claim was upon an oral agreement entitling him to one-half of certain commission received by deft.; deft. filed a counterclaim, as to which there was no question that it would be proper to direct a reference either to arbn. or to an official referee. Pltf. subsequently made a motion to refer to an official referee under Ontario Jud. Act, s. 48, & deft. moved to refer to a named arbitrator, or to some other arbitrator to be named by the ct. The ct. refused to interfere with the discretion exercised in referring the action to the referee.—SHIELDS v. MACDONALD (1886), 14 A. R. 118.—CAN.

h. — Accountant.]—In an action to recover moneys alleged to have been paid to resp. as his share of profits, which applt. alleged afterwards proved to be losses, the ct. may without the consent of the parties refer the matters in dispute to an accountant, when the ct. is of opinion that the evidence is unsatisfactory.—CANADA PAPER CO. v. HANNATYNE (1881), 26 L. C. J. 124.—CAN.

i. In what cases — Action on policy.]—In an action upon a policy of insurance on goods, the pleas denied the policy, setting up that the goods were not destroyed, that pltf. gave no notice of the loss as required, misrepresentations as to the value of the goods & mode of heating the premises, & increase of risk by alteration. After the examination of one witness the judge ordered a compulsory reference:—Semble: the compulsory reference was authorised.—NEWMAN v. NIAGARA DISTRICT MUTUAL INSURANCE CO. (1866), 25 U. C. R. 435.—CAN.

j. — Questions of account.]—A judge has jurisdiction under Ontario Jud. Act, s. 48, to make a compulsory order referring questions of account to an official referee.—SHIELDS v. MACDONALD (1886), 14 A. R. 118.—CAN.

k. — Investigation of long accounts.]—Actions involving the investigation of long accounts will not be referred as a matter of course. There is nothing to prevent parties agreeing to a consent reference of all matters in dispute in an action, even though involving investigation of long accounts.—WEBSTER v. HAGGART (1885), 9 O. R. 27.—CAN.

l. — Mutual set-off.]—If the matters in dispute are matters of account, as when the parties claim the benefit of mutual sets-off, the ct. will, on application, direct a reference under 19 & 20 Vict. c. 102, s. 6.—CREDIN v. CREDIN (1858), 3 Ir. Jur. 252.—IR.

m. — Long accounts — Discretion of judge to determine what constitutes.]—It is for the judge to determine whether a case will involve the investigation of "long accounts" within C. L. P. Act, 1856, subject to review by the ct. only when it can be said that he plainly did not exercise any discretion on this point, but applied the Act where it was altogether inapplicable.—WELLS v. GZOWSKI (1857), 14 U. C. R. 553.—CAN.

n. — Sale of goods—No likelihood of question of quality or price.]—Where in an action on the common counts for goods sold, interlocutory judgment having been signed, pltf. desires a reference to the master under C. L. P. Act, 1856, s. 143, it must be shown that no dispute is likely to arise either as to quality or price.—HUTCHISON v. SIDEWAYS (1857), 14 U. C. R. 472.—CAN.

o. — Mesne profits or damages.]—Where in ejectment judgment is given in favour of pltf. for the possession of the land in question, the trial judge has power to direct a reference as to mesne profits or damages.—HESSLEIN v. WALLACE (1897), 29 N. S. L. R. 424.—CAN.

q. — Not consisting of matters of account in whole or part.]—When the matters in dispute do not appear to the ct. to consist, either wholly or in part, of matters of account, the ct. will not, without the consent of parties, refer the matter to an arbitrator.—M'DONNELL v. JAMESON (1856), 2 Ir. Jur. 100.—IR.

r. — Matter of account depending on issue for jury.]—Under C. L. P. Act, 1856, s. 6, if the account in dispute depends on an issue for the jury, the ct. will not refer it, in the first instance, to an arbitrator.—PRIOR v. PERRY (1857), 2 Ir. Jur. 422.—IR.

s. — Material question of fact.]—Where a material question of fact is in dispute, the case is not a proper one in which to make an order for compulsory reference.—GANNON v. GIBB (1879), 8 P. R. 115.—CAN.

t. — Mixed question of law & fact.]—In an action in which the question in issue was as to the true boundary between a creek & a hill claim, a reference to ascertain the boundary was ordered:—Held: the reference was a nullity, as it involved the determination of a mixed question of law & fact, & was not a matter of "practice & procedure," but of jurisdiction, & it was beyond the power of the ct. to order the reference even by consent.—STEVENSON v. PARKS (1903), 10 B. C. R. 387.—CAN.

u. — —.]—On a reference of the matters in question in an action, unless the line between the questions of law & fact is clear & distinct, it is inadvisable to divide up the reference by first directing the evidence to the legal liability, leaving the quantum of damages & all other matters to be afterwards disposed of.—RYAN v. CARLETON PLACE VILLAGE (1900), 31 O. R. 639.—CAN.

v. — Substantial part not within submission.]—The power of compulsory reference, conferred by s. 14 of C. L. P. Act, 1856, is discretionary, to be exercised consistently with justice & convenience, having regard to the special circumstances of each case; & semble: where a substantial part of the claim does not fall within the submission, the ct. will be reluctant to interfere.—MOYERS v. SOADY (1886), 18 L. R. Ir. 499.—IR.

w. — Action entered for trial.]—After a cause has been entered for trial it cannot be referred under C. L. P. Act, 1856, s. 84.—SHAE v. O'NEIL (1856), 2 U. C. L. J. 229.—CAN.

x. — Opinion of jury desirable.]—No reference will be made under C. L. P. Act, 1856, s. 84, if it appear that defences are intended, upon which the opinion of a jury is desirable.—EVANS v. JACKSON (1857), 3 U. C. L. J. 88.—CAN.

y. Form of order.]—An order of reference recited that "the matters in dispute consist in part of matters of mere account . . . to ascertain & certify what amount, if anything, defts. should pay to pltf. under the policy in the pleadings mentioned":—Held: not an order for compulsory reference under C. L. P. Act.—ANHALT v. PHOENIX ASSURANCE CO., ANHALT v. LONDON ASSURANCE CO. (1878), 7 P. R. 341.—CAN.

z. — —.]—*Held: an order must be set aside, for the judge could not direct a reference making the award subject to the opinion of the ct.—WELLS v. GZOWSKI (1857), 14 U. C. R. 553.—CAN.

bb. — Provision for arbitrators differing necessary.]—Where an order of reference to arbn. does not provide for difference of opinion among the arbitrators, & for authorising a majority to decide the case, the award will be set aside.—FUTTEH SINGH v. GANGO (1865), 4 W. R. 4.—IND.

cc. — Whether time for delivery of award must be fixed.]—The provision contained in s. 508 of Civil Procedure Code, requiring the ct. to fix a reasonable time for the delivery of the award, is not imperative, but directory, & non-compliance with it does not make the order of reference abortive & any subsequent arbn. proceedings ineffectual & bad.—HAR NARAIN SINGH v. BHAGWANT KUAR (1887), 1 I. L. R. 10 All. 137.—IND.

dd. Power to make second order.]—Parties to a suit pending referred the matters in dispute. An award was made, but it was afterwards discovered that one pltf. had died before termination of the arbn., & the award was set aside:—

account.—ROGERS v. KEARNS (1860), 29 L. J. Ex. 328.

2525. Discretion not interfered with.]—Where in the exercise of his discretion a judge, without full knowledge of the facts, had refused to make an order under C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3, referring both the issues & matters of account in an action, the ct., though in possession of facts which would justify the making of such an order, would not interfere with such discretion, where it was not shown that such order would be best in the interest of either party.—SHEARD v. LEAROYD (1886), 2 T. L. R. 632.

2526. Not where order made by consent.]—The ct. refused to rescind an order of reference made by consent.—EVANS v. SAUNDERS (1887), 3 T. L. R. 610, O. A.

k. What must be shown.]—The right of the trial judge to refer the question of damages, as a question arising in the action, under s. 101 of Jud. Act, is indisputable, at all events as a matter of discretion & subject to review ; & it is for the party objecting to the reference to show that the discretion has been wrongly exercised.—RATTE v. 2530. Order of Nisi Prius—Amendment refused.]—Order of Nisi Prius refused to be amended, according to the terms contained in a paper containing terms on which the cause was referred, signed by the counsel at the trial, the intention of the parties appearing from their subsequent acts to have been in favour of the terms of the order.—PEARMAN v. 2531. — After award.]—A cause was referred by an order of Nisi Prius, & it was agreed that the balance due to pltf. in Feb., 1842, was £700, & in 1843 £400, & that these sums (inter alia) should be inserted in a statement of account & annexed to the order of reference. By consent the order was drawn up by pltf.'s attorney, whose clerk by mistake inserted in the account annexed to the order £400 as the balance due to pltf. for 1842. The arbitrator acted on the figures laid before him, & the mistake was discovered when the award was published. Pltf. applied to the ct. to amend the order & send back the award to the arbitrator :—Held : the mistake was the mistake of the party, & the ct. would not interfere.—WINN (WYNN) v. NICHOLSON (1849), 7 C. B. 819 ; 18 L. J. C. P. 231 ; 137 E. R. 325.

2534. — Two orders in different terms.]—On a reference of a cause two orders of Nisi Prius were drawn up for the respective solrs. of pltf. & defts., which were not duplicates, but varied in their terms. Defts. made their order a rule of ct. & moved to set aside the award, the arbitrator having acted on pltf.'s order only. There was a counter-motion by pltf. to set aside the rule of ct. con-

m. Not merely because of plea of negligence.]—Where deft. appealed from an order referring a cause to arbn., on the ground that there was a plea of negligence in the conduct of the services for which the action was brought, but it was not shown that the defence would really be raised, the appeal was dismissed.—EATON v. ROUE (1882), 3 R. & G. 274.—CAN.

n. Not that matter should have been decided by judge referring.]—The objection that the judge at the trial should himself have decided the issue as to failure of consideration, instead of directing an inquiry before the master, is not one that an appeal ct. will entertain.—FEATHERSTONE v. VAN ALLEN (1884), 12 A. R. 133.—CAN.

o. Not question of fraud being involved in accounts.]—In actions upon insurance policies the questions in issue were not confined to matters of mere account, but defts. disputed their liability, & issues of fraud, misrepresentation, & concealment of facts were raised upon the pleadings :—Held : an order referring all issues in the action to a referee for inquiry & report was improperly made, & pltf. was entitled to have a trial in the ordinary way.—CLARRY v. BRITISH AMERICA ASSURANCE CO. (1887), 12 P. R. 357.—CAN.

2526 i. Not where order expressed to be by consent.]—A reference cannot be treated as compulsory, when expressed to be by consent in the order of reference, which has been made a rule of ct. ; if not by consent, a party objecting should have the order amended.—WILSON v. RICHARDSON (1878), 43 U. C. R. 365.—CAN.

p. Right to object not waived.]—The judge intimated that he should refer the suit to arbn., & allowed a certain time to the parties to object to that course. No objection was made within such time, & thereupon the judge referred the cause. After the day fixed defts. objected :—Held : the reference was not warranted, there having been no express consent by the parties.—DEGUMBUR CHATTERJEE v. SAVILL* (1814), 5 Taunt. 454; 128 E. R. 766.

2535. Verdict subject to award — Mistake as to amount.]—Where a verdict was taken for pltf., subject to a reference, & the arbitrator awarded a larger sum than that mentioned in the order of reference, & there appeared to be a mistake in that order as to the sum:—Semble: the ct. would amend the order.—HANNAN v. JUBE (1846), 10 Jur. 926; subsequent proceedings sub nom. ANNAN v. JOB, 10 Jur. 1083.

2536. Consent order of reference—No power to amend unless mistake or fraud.]—It is not competent to the ct. to amend an order of reference, which has been drawn up "by consent," unless it be made manifest that there has been some omission on the part of its officer, or that by some accident or mistake the order is not in accordance with the intention of the parties, or that some fraud has been practised.

A consent order was drawn up in a printed form, which contained no power to the arbitrator to amend:—Held: the order could not be amended by inserting therein a power to amend.—VANDERBYL v. M'KENNA (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 252.

2537. — Order wrongly drawn up.]—If all matters in difference in the cause are agreed to be referred, & the associate by mistake draws up the order of reference generally as to all matters in difference between the parties, it cannot be amended, but the parties must go down to another trial.—*RAWTREE v. 2539. — Fresh term added.]—On an application to a judge at chambers under Interpleader Act, an order was made, by consent of all parties, to refer the cause, on certain terms, to a barrister, instead of an issue being directed. The ct. refused to grant a rule nisi for varying the order, by introducing a fresh term into the reference, in consequence of information which one of the parties (an administratrix) had obtained since the hearing at chambers.—*DRAKE v. 2541. — Insertion of declaration as to basis of valuation.]—Pltf. filed a bill to restrain deft. from injuring his farms by copper smoke, & also brought an action for damages. Before trial of the action an order was made by consent in the suit that deft. should purchase pltf.'s interest in the farms at a price to be ascertained & certified by a surveyor, & that pltf. should be at liberty to claim damages in the action down to the date of the surveyor's certificate. A dispute took place before the surveyor whether the valuation ought to be according to the existing state of the farms, or according to their state before they were injured by the copper smoke. The parties being unable to agree, the surveyor stated that he would hear arguments & decide the question of principle. The ct. then made an order, declaring that the valuation ought to be according to the existing state of the farms:—Held: such declaration ought not to have been made, & it should be discharged without prejudice to any question.—*HOUGHTON v. On default being made, judgment was obtained under r. 78, Ontario Jud. Act, referring it to a master to make & take the inquiries & accounts as prescribed by G. O. Ch. 441. The master gave certain execution creditors priority over pltf., on the ground that the instrument in question was invalid:—Held: under the decree the master had no power to adjudicate upon the validity of the instrument in question as a mtge.—MCDUGALL v. PASHLEY (1847), 1 Exch. 61; 5 Dow. & L. 97; 2 New Pract. Cas. 307; 16 L. J. Ex. 240; 9 L. T. O. S. 200; 151 E. R. 27.

2551. Binding on parties consenting.]—A cause stood for trial at Nisi Prius. The action was for rent in arrear. One issue was on a plea of an eviction by P. by title paramount to that of pltf. P. was not a party to the cause, but claimed the reversion in the premises held by deft. P. became, by parol, party to an arrangement, by which the matter was to be settled by a reference of the cause to an arbitrator, who was to determine on what terms pltf.'s interest in the premises should be purchased, & in what proportion P. should contribute to the payment, & to the amount of the damages. An order of Nisi Prius was drawn up, incorporating these terms, & containing a provision that P. should become a party to the reference; it was not expressed to be drawn up by his consent, but it was shown by other evidence that it was in fact by his consent. P. afterwards refused to be bound by the order:—Held: having submitted to the order in fact, he was bound by it, & could not retract, & the ct. had jurisdiction to enforce obedience in a summary manner.—WILLIAMS v. LEWIS (1857), 7 E. & B. 929; 29 L. T. O. S. 195; 3 Jur. N. S. 1324; 119 E. R. 1492.

2552. Causes set down struck out—Subpœna for judgment set aside with costs.]—Several actions & suits being pending between pltf. & deft., one of such actions came on for trial in the Queen's Bench, when all matters in difference, including the suits at law & in equity then pending between the parties, were, by consent, referred to arbn. Pltf. in equity afterwards served a subpœna to hear judgment & set down the causes. The ct., on motion, set aside the subpœna with costs, & struck ence for partition or sale of lands, made by the master in chambers, the master in ordinary had no jurisdiction to try the question of the validity of a lease under seal from the intestate.—Re ROGERS, ROGERS v. ROGERS (1885), 11 P. R. 90.—CAN.

w. Power to add parties.]—An action was referred to the district registrar, the referring order giving that officer all the powers of a judge as to certifying & amending. On this authority the district registrar, on application, added certain parties pltf's. The writ of summons & statement of claim were afterwards amended:—Held: the order conferring power to amend would also authorise the addition of parties.—HILL v. HAMBLY (1906), 12 B. C. Deft. neglected to comply with the terms of the order, & the cause was afterwards referred by an order of Nisi Prius. After the arbitrator had proceeded with the reference, a judge, during the assizes, made an order for the delivery of the particulars of deft.'s set-off:—Held: he had no authority so to do under 1 Geo. 4, c. 55, s. 5, as, after the order of reference, the cause was out of ct.—*ASHWORTH v. b. As to what is referred.]—A judgment directed that the master should take the usual accounts for redemption or foreclosure of mtged. premises, & should also take the accounts in respect to certain other matters set out in the pleadings. Under this deft. contended that the master should take into account a certain sale by pltf., as mtgee., to a person who, it appeared, had not paid his purchase money. There was no specific mention of this sale in the pleadings or judgment:—Held: the questions which the proposed inquiry would raise were questions which ought to have been raised by the pleadings & determined by the ct., & not delegated to the master.—ROWLAND v. BURWELL (1888), 12 P. R. 607.—CAN.

PART V. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 2.

2555 i. Discovery.]—A reference being before trial & for the purpose of trial, the referee can properly direct one to be examined for discovery who is a party or who is to be treated as a party to the litigation.—GARLAND v. CLARKSON (1905), 5 O. W. R. 62; 9 O. L. R. 281.—CAN.

c. Right of party to request interference by court.]—A party to any reference has a right to come to the ct. at any stage, with any well-founded complaint against the conduct of the referee, either personal misconduct or error in receiving or rejecting evidence, or otherwise.—MARKLE v. ROSS (1889), 13 P. R. 135.—CAN.

d. Warrant to proceed — Grounds for refusing.]—Where there has been undue delay in the prosecution of a reference, the party having the conduct of it should not be refused a warrant to proceed, if he applies therefor before any action has been taken by the master under r. 51, & there is nothing but delay to interfere with the granting of it.—Re CANNON, OATES v. CANNON (1892), 14 P. R. 502.—CAN.

1. Power to stay proceedings in reference.]—In an action for damages, pltf. was given judgment, & a reference to the official referee was directed. Defts. appealed to the Privy Council. The official referee directed that, notwithstanding the appeal, the reference should be proceeded with. An order staying proceedings on the reference, pending the determination of the appeal, was affirmed on the ground that the order was within the discretion of the

2556. —.]—The ct. does not, by directing a reference, deprive itself of the power of making any order which may facilitate the reference, & the judge, not the referee, is the proper person to make an order for discovery of documents which may be necessary for the purposes of the reference.—ROWCLIFFE v. LEIGH (1876), 25 W. R. 56; reversd. on another point (1877), 37 L. T. 557, C. A.

2557. — No power to order.]—An order was taken by consent in an action, referring the action & all matters in difference to the award of a named arbitrator. The order provided that the parties should produce before the arbitrator all documents in their or either of their custody or power relating to the matter in difference; also that the party in whose favour the award should be made should be at liberty, after the service of a copy of the award on the other party, to apply for final judgment in accordance with the award. Pltf. having during the pendency of the arbn. applied by summons in the action under R. S. C., 1875, Ord. 31, r. 12, for an affidavit of documents, the application was dismissed on the grounds (1) in consequence of the order of reference, the ct. had no jurisdiction to grant the application, not having before it "any matter in question in the action" within the above rule; (2) under the order the whole jurisdiction as to discovery was in the hands of the arbitrator.

The rule that an order of the ct. carries with it "liberty to apply," though not expressly reserved, only applies where the order is one not of a final character.—PENRICE v. WILLIAMS (1883), 23 Ch. D. 353; 52 L. J. Ch. 593; 48 L. T. 868; 31 W. R. 496.

2558. Inspection of property — Referee should order, not court.]—Pltf. brought an action against a co. for working from their mine into a seam of his, which he himself had not yet worked, so that he had no "pit" or other access into it except through their mine, & the question as to the amount of damages was by agreement referred to arbn., the trespass being admitted & money paid into ct. While the arbn. was pending an order was made by a judge at chambers that pltf. should be at liberty to enter into the co.'s mines & all the workings of the co. near to the boundary between the co.'s colliery & pltf.'s, & to enable the inspection to be made, to clear away rubbish, etc.:—Held:

Chief Justice, & the ct. could not say that the discretion was wrongly exercised.—SHARPE v. WHITE (1910), 15 O. W. R. 683; 20 O. L. R. 575.—CAN.

g. — On what grounds.]—In a motion to stay proceedings on a reference, deft. alleged that pltf. had not paid the costs of an appeal as ordered, that there was delay on pltf.'s part, that, since the original deft. was dead, the present proceedings were vexatious, that another action at the instance of pltf. had been commenced, & that this reference should not be proceeded with till it had terminated:—Held: insufficient.—HULL v. ALLEN (1911), 2 O. W. N. 897.—CAN.

h. Power to enlarge time.]—Arbn. Act, 1890, s. 17, enables the ct. to exercise, in the case of a reference under the order of the ct., the powers as to enlarging the time for making an award given by s. 11 of the Act in the case of references by consent out of ct.—BELL v. FINN (1896), 14 N. Z. L. R. 447.—N.Z.

k. Conduct of proceedings.]—In an administration action which had been referred, the solr. for certain debts, other than the exors. asked for the conduct of the reference in the event of its being taken from pltf.:—Held: the solr. could not obtain the conduct of the reference unless by a substantive application, & request refused, without prejudice to a substantive application.—THOMPSON v. FAIRBARN (1885), 10 P. R. 533. CAN.

the order was wrong, & it should be left to the arbitrator whether the inspection should take place, & in what way.—BARNETT v. ALDRIDGE COLLIERY Co., LTD. (1887), 4 T. L. R. 16.

2559. ——— But court may order.—The ct. has still jurisdiction to make an order to inspect property, the subject of a reference or arbn., notwithstanding the reference or arbn., but the more convenient course is to apply in the first instance to the referee or arbitrator, & not to the judge in chambers.—MACALPINE & Co. v. CALDER & Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 545; 62 L. J. Q. B. 607; 68 L. T. 426; 41 W. R. 436; 9 T. L. R. 311; 4 R. 314, C. A.

2560. Order of Nisi Prius—Amendment of reply.—A cause was referred at Nisi Prius, & a verdict taken for pltf., subject to a reference. The arbitrator certified to the ct., pending the reference, that it would be agreeable to the justice of the case to allow pltf. to amend his replication, by substituting de injuria, or some other replication which should put in issue all the allegations in the plea:—Held: such amendment could not be ordered without consent of both parties.—CROSS v. METCALFE (1836), 5 Ad. & El. 800; 2 Har. & W. 377; 1 Nev. & P. K. B. 232; 6 L. J. K. B. 58; 111 E. R. 1369.

2561. Verdict subject to award—Amendment of particulars.—An action was brought for work & labour in 1837, in which year particulars of pltf.'s demand were delivered. In 1841 the cause came on for trial, & a verdict was taken, subject to a reference. After several meetings had taken place under the reference, the ct. allowed pltf., on payment of costs, to amend his particulars by the insertion of other items, in respect of services during the period covered by the former particulars, it not being suggested that deft. wished to have the option to abandon the reference or to plead de novo.—BLUNT v. COOKE (1842), 4 Man. & G. 458; 5 Scott, N. R. 232; 11 L. J. C. P. 321; 134 E. R. 188.

2562. Amendment of particulars.—When, on the application of pltf., a compulsory order of reference of the action has been made under C. L. P. Act, 1854, the ct. has power, at any time before the award, to amend the particulars of demand.—GIBBS v. KNIGHTLY (KNIGHT) (1857), 2 H. & N. 34; 26 L. J. Ex. 294; 29 L. T. O. S. 129; 3 Jur. N. 2563. Security for costs ordered after reference.—A cause was referred to arbn. in Nov., 1846. Several meetings were held, & by a judge's order, on Jan. 3, 1848, the time was enlarged until Jan. 1, 1849. The last appointment was for May 24, 1848, but no meeting took place at that time. A vesting order under Insolvent Act was made as to pltf.'s property on Aug. 14, 1849. On Dec. 18, 1849, a judge's order, enlarging the time to Trinity Term, 1850, was obtained on behalf of pltf.:—Held: (1) the attorney for pltf. should give security for costs, it not being clear upon the affidavits that the proceedings were not for his benefit; (2) the application was in time.—GELL v. CURZON (LORD) (1850), 4 Exch. 813; 19 L. J. Ex. 225; 154 E. R. 1445.

2564. Power to appoint receiver.—An agreement, by which S. & Co. had undertaken to build a ship for pltf.s., contained an arbn. clause. Pltf.s. alleged that the ship was not properly constructed in accordance with the agreement & commenced an action against S. & Co. & W. & Co., their assignees, claiming a lien upon the ship for sums which pltf.s. had paid, repayment of such sums, the appointment of a receiver, & an injunction. S. & Co. & W. & Co. moved that all proceedings in the action might be stayed, & the matters in dispute referred to arbn., & there was a counter-motion of pltf.s. for a receiver, & they contended that, as it was necessary to appoint a receiver, no order could be made on the other motion:—Held: the ct. had power to appoint a receiver & to send all the rest of the action to be determined by arbn., & to stay all further proceedings, except for the purpose of carrying out the order for a receiver, with general liberty to apply, so as to enable the parties to make any necessary application pending the arbn.—COMPAGNIE DU SENEGAL ET DE LA CÔTE OCCIDENTALE D'AFRIQUE v. 2565. Power over official referee.—The trial of an action was, by an order expressed to be made under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), s. 57, transferred to an official referee, who directed inquiries & accounts to be taken before himself, & also the further consideration of the action. The order, as drawn up & entered, directed that the inquiries & accounts only should be taken before the official referee, & reserved further consideration. The official referee having refused to proceed under the order as drawn up & entered, on the ground that it was not in the form pronounced by him:—Held: (1) the further consideration should be taken before the official referee; (2) an official referee was to be deemed an "officer of the ct." when an action went to him for "trial," & notwithstanding the Act of 1889 the ct. had the right to order the official referee to suspend proceedings.—Re PALMER, PALMER v. HARDWICK (1890), 63 L. T. 302.

2566. Compulsory reference—Remitting.—A reference under C. L. P. Act, 1854, confers upon the master the same powers & imposes upon the parties the same liabilities as in the case of a reference under an ordinary submission or rule or order, & the ct. will not remit the matter to the master for reconsideration, except where there is ground for setting aside his certificate; nor will they, where the master has declined to state a case for the opinion of the ct. under s. 5, remit the matter to him, in order to give one of the parties an opportunity of applying to the ct. to direct a case to be stated under s. 4.—BAGGALAY v. executed, & upon the lessee's death her exors. having distributed her estate, assigned for a nominal consideration the residue of the term to her son, who thenceforth received the rent from D. & paid it to the lessors. At the expiration of the term the lessors sued the son for breach of the covenant to repair, & he claimed indemnity from, & brought in, D. as third party. The action was referred to an official referee, who, upon the application of deft., made an order adding the lessee's exors. as defts. in order to enable them to claim indemnity from D. Neither plffs. nor the exors. objected to this order being made, but D. opposed it:—Held: upon these facts, the official referee in adding the exors. as defts. rightly exercised his discretion under R. J. raised a counterclaim. The master found in favour of J. in the original action, & awarded him £230 on the counterclaim:—Held: under the terms of the reference, "all matters in difference in the action" included the counterclaim, so that that, as well as the original action, was properly before the master.—*WEALL v. The cause having been compulsorily referred to a master, at the instance of pltf., under C. L. P. Act, 1854, s. 3, & a question having arisen on the reference whether pltf. had been induced to sign such deed on a representation by deft. that the above stipulation in it would not be used against pltf., unless the railway co. enforced against deft. a similar clause in the contract between the co. & deft., the ct. refused an application by deft. under s. 4 of the Act to grant an issue for the trial of such question by a jury.—*TRICKETT v. 2585. To what court—Court referring.]—Where a ct. of law has referred an action to arbn., & the arbitrator makes a mistake in his award, any application to remedy the mistake must be made to the ct. of law in which the arbn. originated, & not to a ct. of equity.

Certain actions between A. & B., a discharged bkpt., were referred by the Ct. of Queen's Bench to one of the masters of that ct., who in his award made the mistake of crediting A. (1) with a debt which he claimed to be due from B., but which had been barred by Bkpcy. Act, 1861 (c. 134), s. 164, & (2) with the whole of a debt for which A. had proved in B.'s bkpcy., instead of the amount of the composition then agreed on. The master, however, did not admit his mistake, & declined to reconsider his award, whereupon A. obtained an order to sign judgment on the award. A motion by B. to the Ct. of Ch. for an injunction to restrain A. from signing judgment & issuing execution was dismissed with costs.—GRAHAM v. TURNBULL (1875), 44 L. J. Ch. 538; 23 W. R. 645.

2587. Application to set aside findings—How made—Motion not ex parte.]—Where a referee under Jud. Act, 1873 (c. 66), has made his report, an application to send the case back to him should be made on notice of motion, & not ex p. in the first instance.—GRAVES v. TAYLOR (1879), 27 W. R. 412.

2588. — Time for.]—Where on a reference under Jud. Act, 1873 s. 57, the unsuccessful party desires to question the findings of the referee, the proper course is to move the ct. on notice under Ord. 53 to the other party, & such a motion need not be made within the time limited by Ord. 39, r. 1A, for moving for a new trial in an action tried by a jury.—*DYKE v. 2597. No appeal against findings pending trial.]—Where a whole action has been referred by consent to an official referee, who, pending the trial, has tried certain questions of fact & arrived at certain conclusions thereon & done no more, an application pending trial to reverse & rescind such conclusions is misconceived & will be dismissed. The Act of 1889, s. 15 (2), does not apply in such case, because there has been no report of the referee & no award. —LEWIS v. WALKER (1891), 36 Sol. Jo. 110.

2598. Power to enter correct judgment.]—Where an official referee adopted a wrong principle in assessing the damages for breach of a repairing covenant, & awarded only nominal damages, the Divisional Ct. set aside his judgment, but would not enter judgment for £70, the correct sum, & sent the matter back for a new trial. On appeal by deft. pltf. asked that judgment might be entered for him for £70 :—Held : pltf. entitled to such judgment.—JOYNER v. WEEKS, [1891] 2 Q. B. 31 ; 60 L. J. Q. B. 510 ; 65 L. 2616. Industrial & Provident Societies Act, 1893 (c. 39).]—J., a member of an industrial society, nominated his daughter to receive his interest in the society, & died on May 19, 1898, without having revoked the nomination. Both his widow & the daughter claimed the amount standing to his credit in the books of the society. On Sept. 20 the daughter wrote a letter to the society nominating an arbitrator, & asking the society to name an arbitrator to act on their behalf in accordance with one of their rules. The society took no notice of this application, & on Oct. 19 the daughter gave notice that the arbitrator named in her former letter had been appointed by her as sole arbitrator under the Act of 1889, s. 6 (b). The society replied that they would refuse to be bound by the decision of an arbitrator so appointed. On Nov. 1 the sole arbitrator gave an ex p. award in favour of the daughter. On Nov. 17 a plaint was taken out by

PART V. SECT. 3.

2611 i. Reference to assess damage—Wrongful dismissal.]—Pltf. agreed with deft. to serve him as manager of a tannery for six years. Deft. discharged pltf. after about seven months:—Held: deft. had no right to dismiss pltf., & a reference was, therefore, directed as to the damages sustained by pltf.—BLAKE v. KIRKPATRICK (1881), 6 A. R. 212.—CAN.

2611 ii. — Breach of contract.]—In an action for contract price of work done for defts. & for extras, & counterclaim for damages, etc.:—Held: a reference should be directed to estimate the damages, since the evidence offered was not sufficiently specific.—BANNERMAN v. DETROIT YUKON MINING CO. (1908), 8 W. L. R. 714.—CAN.

2611 iii. — Sale of goods—Discretion as to allowing reference.]—Pltf. sued for breach of a contract to sell & deliver goods. Pltf. gave evidence of shortage

& defective quality, & asked for a reference as to damages; the judge who tried the case refused the reference, & gave judgment for deft.:—Held: the matters in question were proper for trial by a judge, & pltf. was not entitled to give prima facie evidence of a breach of contract & then have a reference as to damages.—COOK v. PATTERSON (1884), 10 A. R. 645.—CAN.

2611 iv. — Several defendants—Not bound to apportion.]—In an action against several mill-owners for obstructing the O. river, a reference was made to the master to ascertain the amount of damages:—Held: the master was not called upon to apportion the damages according to the injury inflicted by each deft., & was not obliged to apportion them according to the different grounds of injury claimed by pltf.—BOOTH v. RATTE (1892), 21 S. C. R. 637.—CAN.

PART VI.

a. 9 Vict. c. 37—10 & 11 Vict. c. 24.]—In dealing with awards made under the above Acts, the ct. will be governed by the ordinary rules of law as applicable to awards between party & party.—PUBLIC WORKS COMR. v. DALY (1849), 9 U. C. R. 33.—CAN.

b. Arbitration Act, 1892.]—The above Act, by s. 24, enacts that Arbn. Act shall apply to every arbn. under any Act, passed before or after the commencement of that Act, as if the arbn. were pursuant to a submission, "except in so far as this Act is inconsistent with the Act regulating the arbn., or with any rules or procedure authorised or recognised by that Act":—Held: the effect of that sect. was not to introduce, into arbn. conducted under that Act, provisions for arbn. contained in other Acts, but merely to apply the arbn. provisions of that Act to arbn. under other Acts, so far as such arbn. were not conducted under statutory provisions inconsistent with the provisions of Arbn. Act.—ZELMA GOLD MINING CO. v. HOSKINS (1894), 11 R. 350, P. C.—N.Z.

the daughter in the county ct. under Industrial & Provident Societies Act, 1893 (c. 39), s. 49, & the judge enforced the award in favour of the daughter. The society appealed on the ground that the Act of 1889 could not apply, as s. 6 (b) of that Act was inconsistent with s. 49 (5) of the Act of 1893:—Held: it was not necessary to decide whether the Act of 1889 was or was not applicable, since the plaint in the county ct., as the forty days mentioned in s. 49 (5) of the Act of 1893 had elapsed, might be regarded as an application under that sub-sect.—JESSOP v. HUDDERSFIELD INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY (1899), 80 L. T. 598.

2617. Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (c. 18).—The provisions of C. L. P. Act, 1854, with regard to remitting matters to the reconsideration of the arbitrator, & enlarging the time for making the award, apply to references under the above Act.—*Re DARE VALLEY RY. 2618. Light Railways Act, 1896 (c. 48).—A railway co., acting under the powers of the above Act of 1896, gave claimant notice to treat for certain land. The amount of the compensation was referred, in pursuance of s. 13, & Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (c. 18), to a single arbitrator, who in his award said nothing as to the costs. By s. 13 of the Act of 1896 the provisions of the Act of 1889 were to apply to an arbn. under that sect. in lieu of the Lands Clauses Acts. Under the Act of 1889 the costs of a reference & award were in the discretion of the arbitrator. Claimant applied to have the award remitted to the arbitrator, upon the ground that by mistake he had omitted to deal with the question of costs, & the arbitrator made an affidavit in support of the application, stating that he thought that the arbn. was under Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, which would have given the costs of the reference to claimant:—Held: there was an omission by the arbitrator to deal with the question of costs, over which he had jurisdiction, & the ct. would, upon the affidavit of the arbitrator, refer the award

back to him to deal with the costs.—Re BAXTERS & MIDLAND RY. CO. (1906), 95 L. T. 20; 70 J. P. 445; 22 T. L. R. 616, C. A.

2619. Local Government Act, 1888 (c. 41).—Where under the above Act of 1888 differences are to be determined by the arbn. of the Local Govt. Board, the Board must proceed under s. 63, & they or the arbitrator appointed by them may be compelled under the Act of 1889 to state a case for the opinion of the ct.—Re KENT COUNTY COUNCIL & SANDGATE LOCAL BOARD, [1895] 2 Q.
